the practice and operation of Islamic financial institutions are explained via three distinct case studies. Importantly the final chapter looks at what steps are being taken to provide professional accreditation to Islamic banking professional personnel and prescribes requirements for training in this growing industry.

Islamic Perspectives on the New Millennium Virginia Matheson Hooker, Amin Saikal, 2004. The chapters are presented in pairs which offer Middle Eastern and in one case South Asian points of view which are matched by Southeast Asian perspectives on each of the six topics. While the media is quick to report on the more violent expressions of Islam including terrorism the vigorous debates which now characterize the intellectual discourse in Muslim communities are rarely if ever reported. This book not only describes and analyses those debates but also reflects the views of many Muslims across the world emphasizing the connections and contrasts between the Middle East and Southeast Asia.

Islamic Banking and Interest A. Saeed, 2024-03-25. This important book critically examines the traditional interpretation of riba translated as usury of interest and the attempts of modern Islamic banks to put that interpretation into practice. The first part of the book examines the prohibition and interpretation of riba in Islam as well as the controversies surrounding it. The second part examines the alternatives to interest based financing utilised in Islamic banking and the problems associated with such alternatives with particular focus on mudaraba, musharaka and marabaha. The book questions the legalistic approach to the interpretation of riba and argues for a moral understanding of the issue in the light of the authoritative texts of Islam and the lessons learnt from the Islamic banking experiment.

The Routledge Companion to Financial Services Marketing Tina Harrison, Hooman Estelami, 2014-12-05. Interest in Financial Services Marketing has grown hugely over the last few decades particularly since the financial crisis which scarred the industry and its relationship with customers. It reflects the importance of the financial services industry to the economies of every nation and the realisation that the consumption and marketing of financial services differs from that of tangible goods and indeed many other intangible services. This book is therefore a timely and much needed comprehensive compendium that reflects the development and maturation of the research domain and pulls together in a single volume the current state of thinking and debate. The events associated with the financial crisis have highlighted that there is a need for banks and other financial institutions to understand how to rebuild trust and confidence, improve relationships and derive value from the marketing process. Edited by an international team of experts, this book will provide the latest thinking on how to manage such challenges and will be vital reading for students and lecturers in financial
