Kanzi's Primal Language The Cultural Initiation Of Primates Into Language:

Kanzi's Primal Language P. Segerdahl, W. Fields, S. Savage-Rumbaugh, 2005-08-05 Sue Savage Rumbaugh's work on the language capabilities of the bonobo Kanzi has intrigued the world because of its far reaching implications for understanding the evolution of the human language This book takes the reader behind the scenes of the filmed language tests It argues that while the tests prove that Kanzi has language the even more remarkable manner in which he originally acquired it spontaneously in a culture shared with humans calls for a re thinking of language emphasizing its primal cultural dimensions Cognition and Communication in the Evolution of Language Anne Reboul, 2017-03-01 This book proposes a new two step approach to the evolution of language whereby syntax first evolved as an auto organizational process for the human conceptual apparatus as a Language of Thought and this Language of Thought was then externalized for communication owing to social selection pressures Anne Reboul first argues that despite the routine use of language in communication current use is not a failsafe guide to adaptive history She points out that human cognition is as unique in nature as is language as a communication system suggesting deep links between human thought and language If language is seen as a communication system then the specificities of language its hierarchical syntax its creativity and the ability to use it to talk about absent objects are a mystery This book shows that approaching language as a system for thought overcomes these problems and provides a detailed account of both steps in the evolution of language its evolution for thought and its externalization for communication The Origins of Meaning James R. Hurford, 2007-08-30 In this engagingly written and broadly interdisciplinary book Jim Hurford integrates findings from ethology and neuroscience with concepts from philosophy and linguistics to make an explicit and convincing case that animals have rich concepts and thus that meaning predated language This is a work of broad scope and significance W Tecumesh Fitch Lecturer in Psychology University of St Andrews from the bookjacket Language, Ethics and Animal Life Niklas Forsberg, Mikel Burley, Nora Hämmäläinen, 2012-10-11 New research into human and animal consciousness a heightened awareness of the methods and consequences of intensive farming and modern concerns about animal welfare and ecology are among the factors that have made our relationship to animals an area of burning interest in contemporary philosophy Utilizing methods inspired by Ludwig Wittgenstein the contributors to this volume explore this area in a variety of ways Topics discussed include scientific vs non scientific ways of describing human and animal behaviour the ethics of eating particular animal species human nature emotions and instinctive reactions responses of wonder towards the natural world the moral relevance of literature the concept of dignity and the question whether non human animals can use language This book will be of great value to anyone interested in philosophical and interdisciplinary issues concerning language ethics and humanity's relation to animals and the natural world

The Intellective Space Laurent Dubreuil, 2015-03-20 The Intellective Space explores the nature and limits of thought It celebrates the poetic virtues of language and the creative imperfections of our animal minds while pleading for a renewal of the humanities that is grounded in a study of the sciences According to Laurent Dubreuil we humans both say more than we think and think more than we say Dubreuil's particular interest is the intellective space a space where thought and knowledge are performed and shared For Dubreuil the term cognition refers to the minimal level of our mental operations But he suggests that for humans there is an excess of cognition due to our extensive processing necessary for verbal language brain dynamics and social contexts In articulating the intellective Dubreuil includes the productive undoing of cognition Dubreuil grants that cognitive operations take place and that protocols of experimental psychology new techniques of neuroimaging and mathematical or computerized models provide access to a certain understanding of thought But he argues that there is something in thinking that bypasses cognitive structures Seeking to theorize with the sciences the book's first section develops the intellective hypothesis and points toward the potential journey of ideas going beyond cognition after and before computation The second part Animal Meditations pursues some of the consequences of this hypothesis with regard to the disparaged but enduring project of metaphysics with its emphasis on categories such as reality humanness and the soul variety of fields who want to see how animal studies can vitalize work in their disciplines The chapters are intersected by short interludes that describe an experience a notion or a thought that secretly drives the author's work These interludes reveal animal studies to transgress not only disciplinary borders but also borders between the academic and the personal

The Origins of Self Martin P. J. Edwardes, 2019-07-22 The Origins of Self explores the role that selfhood plays in defining human society and each human individual in that society It considers the genetic and cultural origins of self the role that self plays in socialisation and language and the types of self we generate in our individual journeys to and through adulthood Edwardes argues that other awareness is a relatively early evolutionary development present throughout the primate clade and perhaps beyond but self awareness is a product of the sharing of social models something only humans appear to do The self of which we are aware is not something innate within us it is a model of our self produced as a response to the models of us offered to us by other people Edwardes proposes that human construction of selfhood involves seven different types of self All but one of them are internally generated models and the only non model the actual self is completely hidden from conscious awareness We rely on others to tell us about our self and even to let us know we are a self

Living Beings Penelope Dransart, 2020-06-03 Living Beings examines the vital characteristics of social interactions between living beings including humans other animals and trees Many discussions of such relationships highlight the exceptional qualities of the human members of the category insisting for instance on their religious beliefs or creativity In contrast the international case studies in this volume dissect views based on hierarchical oppositions between human and other living beings Although human practices may sometimes appear to exist in a realm beyond nature they are nevertheless subject to the pull of natural forces These forces may be brought into prominence through a consideration of the interactions between human beings and other inhabitants of the natural world The interplay in this book between social anthropologists philosophers and artists cuts across species divisions to examine the experiential dimensions of interspecies engagements In ethnographically and or historically contextualized chapters contributors examine the juxtaposition of human and other living beings in the light of themes such as wildlife safaris violence difference mimicry simulation spiritual renewal dress and language

Eski,2023-07-10 The book sketches out how the criminological lens could be used in the climate change debate around possible human extinction It explores the extent to which the human species can be considered deviant in relation to other species of the contemporary biosphere as humans seem to be the only species on Earth that does not live in natural balance with their environment anymore It discusses several unsettling topics in the public debate on climate change specifically the taboo of how humans may not survive the ongoing climate change It includes chapters on the Earth s history of mass extinctions the global state of denial including toward the possibility that the human species could go extinct and it considers humans future as a deviant fatal species outside of Earth in outer space possibly on other planets It puts forward and enriches the critical criminological tradition by conceptualizing and setting an unsettling tone within criminology and criminological research on the human species and our extinction by daring criminologists and victimologists to ponder and seek empirical answers to controversial imaginations and questions about our possible extinction Nurturing Our
