Ornithologies of Desire Travis V. Mason, 2013-09-03 Ornithologies of Desire develops ecocritical reading strategies that engage scientific texts field guides and observation Focusing on poetry about birds and birdwatching this book argues that attending to specific details about the physical world when reading environmentally conscious poetry invites a critical humility in the face of environmental crises and evolutionary history The poetry and poetics of Don McKay provide Ornithologies of Desire with its primary subject matter which is predicated on attention to ornithological knowledge and avian metaphors This focus on birds enables a consideration of more broadly ecological relations and concerns since an awareness of birds in their habitats insists on awareness of plants insects mammals rocks and all else that constitutes place The book's chapters are organized according to apparatus that is science as ecocritical tool flight and song Reading McKay's work alongside ecology and ornithology through flight and birdsong both challenges assumptions regarding humans place in the earth system and celebrates the sheer virtuosity of lyric poetry rich with associative as well as scientific details The resulting chapters interchapter and concordance of birds that appear in McKay's poetry encourage amateurs and specialists birdwatchers and poetry readers to reconsider birds in English literature on the page and in the field Thematics

The Nature of Desire Federico Lauria, Julien A. Deonna, 2017-06-01 Desires matter What are desires Many believe that desire is a motivational state desiring is being disposed to act This conception aligns with the functionalist approach to desire and the standard account of desire's role in explaining action According to a second influential approach however desire is first and foremost an evaluation desiring is representing something as good After all we seem to desire things under the guise of the good Which understanding of desire is more accurate Is the guise of the good even right to assume Should we adopt an alternative picture that emphasizes desire's deontic nature What do neuroscientific studies suggest Essays in the first section of the volume are devoted to these questions and to the puzzle of desire's essence In the second part of the volume essays investigate some implications that the various conceptions of desire have on a number of fundamental issues For example why are inconsistent desires problematic What is desire's role in practical deliberation How do we know what we want This volume will contribute to the emergence of a fruitful debate on a neglected albeit crucial dimension of the mind

Urban Roar Jordan Lacey, 2022-02-10 Urban Roar argues for the existence of autonomous affectivities that roar beneath the din of the urban seeking the attention of us humans so captured by the environments of our own making In hearing the urban roar it is the mythic intention of this book to discover ways in which we can work with the intensities of more than human forces to vitalize our cities The book explores methods by which artists particularly those sound artists involved in fieldwork practices might encounter and translate autonomous affectivities between different environments Of particular interest is Jung s concept of synchronicity and its relationship to artistic creation as experience flow and catalyst in manifesting autonomous affectivities into diverse and affective environments The book makes use of both theoretical and practical approaches from a study of scholarship through which it is argued that an autonomous affectivity is equivalent to an archetype via Jung and an essence via Deleuze s reading of Spinoza to theoretical considerations of the situated body in everyday contexts to practical study of an artistic research experiment designed to reveal and index autonomous affectivities encountered during fieldwork practices for the purpose of influencing urban design interventions In this fresh analysis Lacey reveals the possibilities in urban environments Flight, 1911

Memorializing Violence Alison Crosby, Heather Evans, 2025-02-11 Memorializing Violence brings together feminist and queer reflections on the transnational lives of memorialization practices asking what it means to grapple with loss mourning grief and desires to collectively remember and commemorate as well as urges to forget in the face of disparate yet entangled experiences of racialized and gendered colonial imperial militarized and state violence The volume uses a transnational feminist approach to ask How do such efforts in seemingly unconnected remembrance landscapes speak to with and through each other in a world order inflected by colonial imperial and neoliberal logics structures and strictures How do these memorializing initiatives not only formulate within but move through complex transnational flows and circuits and what transpires as they do What does it mean to inhabit loss mourning resistance and refusal through memorialization at this moment and what s at stake in doing so What might transnational feminist analyses of gender race sexuality class and nation have to offer in this regard

Sites of Dissent Alissa Starodub, 2021-10-27 This book discusses spatial practices of autonomous social movements creating the story of a daring attempt to create research for radical transformation which requires a radical transformation of research practices Starodub opens new possibilities of including diverse ways of knowing and speaking into a collective knowledge creation process

National Magazine ..., 1903

Outside Belongings Elspeth Probyn, 2015-12-22 Outside Belongings argues against a psychological depth model of identity one in which individuals possess an intrinsic quality that guarantees authentic belonging Instead Probyn proposes a model of identity that takes into account the desires of individuals and groups of individuals to belong The main ideas she considers the outside the surface and belonging allow her to articulate in concrete terms her precise concerns about sexuality and nationality

Locke's Education for Liberty Nathan Tarcov, 1999-01-01 Locke's Education for Liberty presents an analysis of the crucial but often underestimated place of education and the family within Lockean liberalism Nathan Tarcov shows that Locke's neglected work Some Thoughts Concerning Education compares with Plato's Republic and Rousseau's Emile as a treatise on education embodying a comprehensive vision of moral and social life Locke believed that the family can be the agency not the enemy of individual liberty and equality Tarcov's superb reevaluation reveals to the modern reader a breadth and unity heretofore unrecognized in Locke's thought

A House of Prayer for All People David K. Seitz, 2017-11-01 Perhaps an unlikely subject for an ethnographic case study the Metropolitan Community Church of Toronto in Canada is a large predominantly LGBT church with a robust and at times fraught history of advocacy While the church is often riddled with fault lines and contradictions its queer and faith based emphasis on shared vulnerability leads it to engage in radical solidarity with asylum seekers pointing to the work of affect in radical coalition politics A House of Prayer for All People maps the affective dimensions of the politics of citizenship at this church For nearly three years David K Seitz regularly attended services at MCCT He paid special attention to how community and citizenship are formed in a primarily queer Christian organization focusing on four contemporary struggles debates on race and gender in religious leadership activism around police minority relations outreach to LGBT Christians transnationally and advocacy for asylum seekers Engaging in debates in cultural geography queer of color critique psychoanalysis and affect theory A House of Prayer for All People stages innovative reparative encounters with citizenship and religion Building on queer theory's rich history of subjectless critique Seitz calls for an improper queer citizenship one that refuses liberal identity politics or national territory as the ethical horizon for sympathy solidarity rights redistribution or intimacy Improper queer citizenship he suggests depends not only on good politics but also on people's capacity for empathy integration and repair
