Dostoevsky and the Ethics of Narrative Form Greta Matzner-Gore,2020-06-15 Three questions of novelistic form preoccupied Fyodor Dostoevsky throughout his career how to build suspense how to end a narrative effectively and how to distribute attention among major and minor characters For Dostoevsky these were much more than practical questions about novelistic craft they were ethical questions as well Dostoevsky and the Ethics of Narrative Form traces Dostoevsky's indefatigable investigations into the ethical implications of his own formal choices Drawing on his drafts notebooks and writings on aesthetics Greta Matzner Gore argues that Dostoevsky wove the moral and formal questions that obsessed him into the fabric of his last three novels Demons The Adolescent and The Brothers Karamazov In so doing he anticipated some of the most pressing debates taking place in the study of narrative ethics today The American Scholar William Allison Shimer,1998 She Died for Her Sins David Champion,2002 An eccentric heiress is shot in her California mansion while watching Fourth of July fireworks A young employee is immediately captured and charged with the crime Bomber Hanson thinks the man is so offensive he can't be guilty so he takes the case Ship Shapely Alistair Boyle,1999 PI Gil Yates of Hawaii investigates the drowning of the captain of a boat crewed by five beautiful women It appears the ladies had to serve the captain in his bunk as well as on deck Scandinavian Crime Fiction Paula Arvas,Andrew Nestingen,2011-01-15 This collection of articles studies the development of crime fiction in Denmark Finland Iceland Norway and Sweden since the 1960s offering the first English language study of this widely read and influential form Since the first Martin Beck novel of Maj Sjöwall and Per Wahloo appeared in 1965 the socially critical crime novel has figured prominently in Scandinavian culture and found hundreds of millions of readers outside Scandinavia But is there truly a Scandinavian crime novel tradition Scandinavian Crime Fiction identifies distinct features and changes in the Scandinavian crime tradition through analysis of some of its most well known writers Henning Mankell Stieg Larsson Anne Holt Liza Marklund Leena Lehtolainen and Arnaldur Indriðason among others Focusing on Scandinavian crime fiction's snowballing prominence since the 1990s articles zoom in on the transformation of the genre's social criticism study the significance of cultural and geographical place in the tradition and analyze the cultural politics of crime fiction including struggles over gender equity sexuality ethnicity history and the fate of the welfare state Scandinavian Crime Fiction maps out the contribution of Scandinavian crime writers to contemporary European culture and society making the volume valuable to scholars and the interested public Stranger Fictions Rebecca C. Johnson,2021-01-15 Zaynab first published in 1913 is widely cited as the first Arabic novel yet the previous eight decades saw hundreds of novels translated into Arabic from English and French This vast literary corpus influenced generations of Arab writers but has until now been considered a curious footnote in the genre's history Incorporating these works into the history of the Arabic novel Stranger Fictions offers a transformative new account of modern Arabic literature world literature and the novel Rebecca C Johnson rewrites the history of the global circulation of the novel by moving Arabic literature from the margins of comparative literature to its center Considering the wide range of nineteenth and early twentieth century translation practices including bad translation mistranslation and pseudotranslation Johnson argues that Arabic translators did far more than copy European works they authored new versions of them producing sophisticated theorizations of the genre These translations and the reading practices they precipitated form the conceptual and practical foundations of Arab literary modernity necessitating an overhaul of our notions of translation cultural exchange and the global Examining nearly a century of translations published in Beirut Cairo Malta Paris London and New York from Qat R binun Kur z The story of Robinson Crusoe in 1835 to pastiche crime stories in early twentieth century Egyptian magazines Johnson shows how translators theorized the Arab world not as Europe's periphery but as an alternative center in a globalized network Stranger Fictions affirms the central place of mis translation in both the history of the novel in Arabic and the novel as a transnational form itself

Henry James and the Suspense of Masculinity Leland S. Person, 2013-06-15 Using insights from feminist studies men's studies and gay and queer studies Leland Person examines Henry James's subversion of male identity and the challenges he poses to conventional constructs of heterosexual masculinity Sexual and gender categories proliferated in the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries and Person argues that James exploited the taxonomic confusion of the times to experiment with alternative sexual and gender identities In contrast to scholars who have tried to give a single label to James's sexuality Person argues that establishing James's gender and sexual identity is less important than examining the novelist's shaping of male characters and his richly metaphorical language as an experiment in gender and sexual theorizing Just as an author's creations can be animated by his or her own sexuality Person contends James's sexuality may be most usefully understood as something primarily aesthetic and textual As Person shows in chapters devoted to some of this author's best known novels Roderick Hudson The American The Portrait of a Lady The Bostonians The Ambassadors The Golden Bowl James conducts a series of experiments in gender sexual construction and deconstruction He delights in positioning his male characters so that their gender and sexual orientations are reversed ambiguous and even multiple Ultimately he keeps male identity in suspense by pluralizing male subjectivity

The Roman Noir in Post-war French Culture Claire Gorrara, 2003 The Roman Noir in Post War French Culture offers a lively introduction to the post war French roman noir from a cultural studies perspective A populist and widely disseminated genre the French roman noir has suffered from a reputation as a minor genre with its roots in American popular culture In this study Claire Gorrara challenges such preconceptions and examines how selected writers have appropriated the roman noir as a critical response to formative concerns and debates in post war French society Starting with the first truly French roman noir L o Malet's 120 rue de la gare 1943 and concluding with Maud Tabachnik's feminist thriller Un t pourri 1994 Gorrara analyses both texts and film in relation to their specific historical and cultural context From the heritage of the Second World War and France s wars of decolonisation to the rise of consumer culture and questions of gender and sexual equality the roman noir operates in dialogue with its times mediating social change and transformation with stories of crime transgression and marginality All the novelists studied were published initially in popular collections such as the S rie noire but they have been chosen for the innovation of their work and the exciting ways in which they resist tired conventions and offer new ways of representing social reality One of the first English language studies of this popular genre The Roman Noir in Post War French Culture offers much more than close readings of these fascinating texts it demonstrates the important contribution of the roman noir to the cultural histories of post war France Common Ground
