Fletcher, Isamu Noguchi, 2004 One of the most versatile artists of the modern era Isamu Noguchi explored many areas of art and design Both Isamu Noguchi Master Sculptor and the exhibition of the same name which this book accompanies focus on his sculpture as the nexus of his creativity From the late 1920s through the mid 1980s Noguchi changed direction frequently and delighted in exploring diametrically opposed ideas and styles In her essay Valerie J Fletcher examines Noguchi's use of many different materials and explores the reasons underlying his diverse practice Situating his sculptures within their historical and art historical contexts Dr Fletcher seeks to dispel the previous limited interpretation of Isamu Noguchi as a Japanese American artist instead redefining him as one of the first truly global artists of the modern era Noguchi worked in modes inspired by many cultural sources he became familiar with utopian ideals while working in Paris studied traditional calligraphic drawing in Beijing and learned to model clay sculptures in Kyoto During World War II the rise of anti Japanese sentiment precipitated a period of seclusion and introspection He adopted some of the principles of Surrealism and created the remarkable Lunars which have rarely been seen followed by his delicate interlocking compositions in slabs of slate and marble After the war Noguchi again traveled around the world finding inspiration in monuments of all kinds ranging from Stonehenge in England to Hindu architecture in India From the 1960s onward Noguchi maintained studios in the United States and in Japan while also working on garden environments and urban monuments in many cities In his late sculptural works he achieved subtle and sophisticated syntheses of nature with artifice the organic with the geometric intuition with intellect His sculptures express his passionate conviction that art can enrich ordinary lives and transcend national religious and ethnic barriers Isamu Noguchi S Modernism Amy Lyford, 2013-06-08 In a study that combines archival research a firm grounding in the historical context biographical analysis and sustained attention to specific works of art Amy Lyford provides an account of Isamu Noguchi's work between 1930 and 1950 and situates him among other artists who found it necessary to negotiate the issues of race and national identity In particular Lyford explores Noguchi's sense of his art as a form of social activism and a means of struggling against stereotypes of race ethnicity and national identity Ultimately the aesthetics and rhetoric of American modernism in this period both energized Noguchi's artistic production and constrained his public reputation Zen No Zen Bonnie Rychlak, 2002 History of Modern Design David Raizman, 2003 An exploration of the parallel development of product and graphic design from the 18th century to the 21st The effects of mass production and consumption man made industrial materials and extended lines of communication are also discussed Alloys Marin R. Sullivan, 2022-03-22 A new look at the interrelationship of architecture and sculpture during one of the richest periods of American modern design Alloys looks at a unique period of synergy and exchange in the postwar United States when sculpture profoundly shaped architecture and vice versa Leading architects such as Gordon Bunshaft and Eero Saarinen turned to sculptors including Harry Bertoia Alexander Calder Richard Lippold and Isamu Noguchi to produce site determined large scale sculptures tailored for their buildings highly visible and well traversed threshold spaces The parameters of these spaces atriums lobbies plazas and entryways led to various designs like sculptural walls ceilings and screens that not only embraced new industrial materials and processes but also demonstrated art's ability to merge with lived architectural spaces Marin Sullivan argues that these sculptural commissions represent an alternate history of midcentury American art Rather than singular masterworks by lone geniuses some of the era's most notable spaces Philip Johnson's Four Seasons Restaurant in Mies van der Rohe's Seagram Building Max Abramovitz's Philharmonic Hall at Lincoln Center and Pietro Belluschi and Walter Gropius's Pan Am Building would be diminished without the collaborative efforts of architects and artists At the same time the artistic creations within these spaces could not exist anywhere else Sullivan shows that the principle of synergy provides an ideal framework to assess this pronounced relationship between sculpture and architecture She also explores the afterlives of these postwar commissions in the decades since their construction A fresh consideration of sculpture's relationship to architectural design and functionality following World War II Alloys highlights the affinities between the two fields and the ways their connections remain with us today Isamu Noguchi Alison de Lima Greene, Valerie J.
