Ethnic Stratification and Economic Inequality around the World Max Haller in collaboration, Anja Eder, 2016-03-03 The modern world is characterised by pervasive economic inequalities Strong economic growth in some developing countries has contributed to a degree to a reduction in the levels of inequality between nations yet inequality within nations remains high and in some cases continues to increase Ethnic Stratification and Economic Inequality around the World investigates the reasons for these striking differences exploring the coincidence and interaction between economic stratification and ethnic differentiation Drawing on extensive international survey and statistical data the author develops a new theory and concrete hypotheses concerning the conditions which lead toward extreme inequality and those which tend toward greater equality A systematic examination of the interaction between class structures social stratification and ethnic differentiation this book sheds light on the manner in which the resulting social structures produce different levels of economic inequality offering a fivefold typology of patterns of ethnic stratification which can be applied to present day world regions Drawing on the work of Max Weber to provide a rigorous investigation of inequality around the world it demonstrates what sociology as a science of social reality can significantly contribute to our understanding of global economic stratification The book is relevant for a wide social scientific audience particularly for sociologists economists and political scientists working in a comparative perspective

The Social Scientific Study of Jewry Uzi Rebhun,2014 This volume of Studies in Contemporary Jewry directs its searchlight on the social scientific study of Jewry Its symposium consists of 11 essays that discuss sources approaches and debates in different complementary fields of demography sociology economy and geography Taken as a group the essays cover the major areas of Jewish life today in Israel the United States Europe and Latin America

Challenging Ethnic Citizenship Daniel Levy,Yfaat Weiss,2002 Includes statistics Demographic Engineering: Population Strategies in Ethnic Conflict Paul Morland,2016-05-23 Demography has always mattered in conflict but with conflict increasingly of an inter ethnic nature with sharper demographic differences between ethnic groups and with the spread of democracy numbers count in conflict now more than ever This book argues for and develops a framework for demographic engineering which provides a fresh perspective for looking at political events in countries where ethnicity matters It asks how policies have been framed and implemented to change the demography of ethnic groups on the ground in their own interests It also examines how successful these policies have been focusing on the cases of Sri Lanka Israel Palestine Northern Ireland and the USA Often these policies are hidden but author Paul Morland teases them out with skill both from the statistics and documentary records and through conversations with participants Offering a new way of thinking about demographic engineering hard demography versus soft demography and how ethnic groups in conflict deploy demographic strategies this book will have a broad appeal to demographers geographers and political scientists

Mobilizing Religion in Middle East Politics Yusuf Sarfati,2013-08-15 Contrary to the expectations of the secularization theorists religious political movements rose to prominence in numerous countries across the globe in the past three decades By examining the conditions that underlie the electoral fortunes of religious actors in democratic regimes this book contributes to our understanding of this worldwide religious resurgence Employing a social movement theory framework Mobilizing Religion in Middle East Politics explores the macro and micro dynamics of successful political mobilization by Sephardic Torah Guardians Shas in Israel and the National Outlook Movement in Turkey in the recent decades In a comparative framework the book demonstrates how ripe political opportunities appropriate frames and dense social networks contribute to building popular support in Israel and Turkey

Yusuf Sarfati also assesses the effects of the increasing political power of religious actors on democratic governance and illustrates similarities and differences between two countries Drawing on empirical data from a range of interviews conducted in both Israel and Turkey this book provides a comparative study of religious politics in two countries that are often thought of as exceptional cases and are rarely compared As such this book is a welcome contribution for those studying Middle East politics comparative politics religious politics democratization and social movements Facing Barriers Vered Kraus, Yuval P. Yonay, 2018-03-22 Palestinian women have slowly become active in the formal labor market in Israel In this book Vered Kraus and Yuval Yonay describe and analyse the labor experience of these Palestinian women and explain why Palestinian and Jewish women have different rates and outcomes in the labor market Challenging popular views that ascribe these differences to Arab culture and Islam they instead find that it is state policies and widespread discrimination that hinder Palestinian women's participation and success By including the various Palestinian sub groups Muslims Bedouins Druze Christians non citizen residents of Jerusalem this book shows how the specific life circumstances of the women from these subgroups affect their employment and achievements The book thus enriches the acute discussion on the labour market experiences of Muslim and Arab women in the Middle East and North Africa and in advanced industrialized societies changed over time and discusses the future of the area

RIGHTS, CAPABILITIES AND THE MAKING OF CITIZENS

Adina BABEȘ-FRUCHTER, 2024-01-01 I began carrying out research for this book over a decade ago As a graduate student at the Hebrew University of Jerusalem I was intrigued by how a newly arrived Jewish immigrant in Israel with little to no knowledge of Hebrew or a limited experience of democratic processes would comprehend and take advantage of their citizenship rights This curiosity sparked my doctoral research which delved into the journeys of Romanian Jewish immigrants as they navigated a new country and its societal particularities and challenges This publication marks the completion of a doctoral dissertation in political science defended at the National School of Political Studies and Public Administration in Bucharest Romania in February 2013 It establishes a theoretical matrix built on the capability theoretical framework and the concept of citizenship as a new way to examine and evaluate how migrants mobilise their beings and doings to exercise the social and political rights of their newly conferred citizenship Employing this evaluative model in further studies could reveal and lead to recommendations to enhance individuals capabilities Additionally this book aims to engage with experts working in the field of migration policy It aspires to provide them with a more comprehensive understanding of the challenges immigrants face and as a result elucidate targeted and inspirational solutions Jews and Gender Jonathan

Frankel, 2001-02-08 Volume XVI in this well received annual series contains an up to date survey of gender issues in modern Judaism It includes original essays on Orthodox Judaism and feminism American Jewish women female rabbis the impact of feminism on rabbinic study masculinity Jewish women in the Third Reich and gender and military service Who Marries Whom? Hans-Peter Blossfeld, A. Timm, 2012-12-06 Marriage and social inequality are closely interrelated Marriage is dependent on the structure of marriage markets and marriage patterns have consequences for social inequality This book demonstrates that in most modern societies the educational system has become an increasingly important marriage market particularly for those who are highly qualified Educational expansion in general and the rising educational participation of women in particular unintentionally have increased the rate of assortative meeting and assortative mating across birth cohorts Rising educational homogamy means that social inequality is further enhanced through marriage because better and worse educated single men and women pool their economic and sociocultural advantages and disadvantages within couples In this book we study the changing role of the educational system as a marriage market in modern societies from a cross national comparative perspective Using life history data from a broad range of industrialized countries and longitudinal statistical models we analyze the process of spouse selection in the life courses of single men and women step by step The countries included in this book vary widely in important characteristics such as demographic behavior and institutional characteristics The life course approach explicitly recognizes the dynamic nature of partner decisions the importance of educational roles and institutional circumstances as young men and women move through their life paths and the cumulation of advantages and disadvantages experienced by individuals The Oxford Handbook of Jewish Studies Martin

Goodman,Jeremy Cohen,David Sorkin,2002 This volume on Jewish studies presents surveys of today s interests and directions in the humanities and social sciences It covers the main areas taught and researched as part of Jewish studies in universities throughout the world especially in Europe the US and Israel Socioeconomic Inequality in Israel Nabil Khattab,Sami Miaari,Haya Stier,2016-04-29 This volume addresses different aspects and areas of inequality in Israel a country characterized by high levels of economic inequality poverty and social diversity The book expands on the mechanisms that produce and maintain inequality and the role of state policies in influencing those mechanisms Women Principals in a Multicultural Society ,2006-01-01 The book analyzes the crossing issues of gender school leadership and multicultural experiences as expressed in accounts of female school principals from diverse ethnic and religious groups in the multicultural society of Israel It addresses the usually unheard voices of women principals in ethnic and religious minority groups that act and live in a modern country but their place is marginalized Jewish and Moslem Authors all citizens of Israel display the particular life and career accounts of female principals from the Arab Bedouin Kibbutzim liberal and Ultra Orthodox Jewish groups They are accompanied by authors from Canada Hong Kong and England who suggest a multicultural and post structuralist feminist views to look at female leadership in the multicultural society In this sense they book contributes to our understanding of the influence of cultural scripts and values on women principals leadership styles and career development as well as suggest an alternative way to interpret dominant feminist conceptualizations of female leadership The book may be of interest for researchers in the fields of education feminism women management multiculturalism Israel studies and minorities Educators of a higher level such as principals supervisors and policy makers as well as graduate students will find the book chapters very contributing to their work and studies
