Samoa (West) Business Intelligence Report Volume 1 Strategic and Practical Information IBP USA, The Political Economy of Bilateral Aid Peter Blunt,2022-12-23 The social and economic consequences of the COVID 19 pandemic and of extreme climate events have brought into sharp relief the serious deficiencies of our political economies The dominant global ideology of neoliberalism and its architects and beneficiaries are responsible for this Bilateral development assistance is an integral part of the neoliberal grand design However while the deficiencies of neoliberalism have been starkly exposed by the pandemic its collapse is unlikely in the short term Much bilateral assistance will therefore continue to be self serving Within these confines and on the basis of a sharply critical analysis of the functioning of technical assistance at the point of the design and delivery of programmes and projects this book identifies crucial supply side nodes of power and influence where feasible and relatively straight forward functional reforms strategy structure selection training would make genuinely developmental results for recipients more likely and enhance donor interests at the same time It argues that more authentic empathetic and altruistic technical assistance will be essential to bringing this about The arguments are supported by primary published evidence gathered by the author during 18 years of full time employment as a team leader or programme manager of technical assistance programmes The book will be of interest to students of development management development economics political economy and international relations as well as policy makers development practitioners and supply and demand side government officials Improving Government Michael Heppell, 2008-12-01 Capacity development is central to improving standards of living and reducing poverty in developing member countries It is much more than just training or skills transfer it is about effective institutions a sound unpoliticized policy environment accountability systems effective relationships and appropriate incentives As noted in this study capacity development should be firmly rooted in a country s political economy It is a means to an end the end being improved government performance
