Prior to the commencement of the Howard government, the Hawke-Keating government began to move away from Keynesian macro-economic management strategies, towards managing unemployment through the individual (Harris 2001, p. 18). The Howard government further extended trends begun in Keating government policy, with an increasing focus on moral elements and less on broader social values (Harris 2001, p. 18). Under the Keating Labor government the long-term unemployed were under 'reciprocal obligation' to accept any reasonable offer of employment or placement in a paid job program by the government (Harris 2001, p. 18). Rather than continuing 'reciprocal obligation', the Howard government introduced the concept of 'mutual obligation' and made significant changes in policy direction with reforms based on neo-liberal values (Burgess, Mitchell, O'Brien & Watts 2012, p. 178).

Howard government policy saw the introduction of 'Work for the Dole' which meant that a compulsory six month work placement could be conditional for the entitlement of benefits (Harris 2001, p. 18). Other requirements included attending training programs, attending all interviews and maintaining entries in a job-seeker's diary and could also include voluntary work, work for the dole, job search training or relocation (Harris 2001, p. 18). Carney (2006, p. 34) compares optimistic activation (social investment) with paternalistic optimism (placing pressure on individuals to change).

Gender Innovation in Political Science Marian Sawer, Kerryn Baker, 2018-06-16 In this book leading gender scholars survey the contribution of feminist scholarship to new norms and knowledge in diverse areas of political science and related political practice They provide new evidence of the breadth of this contribution and its policy impact Rather than offering another account of the problem of gender inequality in the discipline the book focuses on the positive contribution of gender innovation It highlights in a systematic and in depth way how gender innovation has contributed to sharpening the conceptual tools available in different subfields including international relations and public policy At the same time the authors show the limits of impact in core areas of an increasingly pluralised discipline This volume will appeal to scholars and students of political science and international relations

Different Histories, Shared Futures Mobo Gao, Justin O'Connor, Baohui Xie, Jack Butcher, 2023-02-13 This book delves into the Australia China relationship which is currently at its worst since 1972 when the two countries first established a diplomatic relationship Australia is seen by the US as its front line ally in its fight in containing China Derived from an international symposium organized by the editorial team and held in Adelaide South Australia in September 2021 these essays are an attempt to offer some understanding and explanations for the deterioration of Sino Australian ties It is also an attempt to explore the ways by which the two countries can reach some common ground for the future Despite our very different pasts can we seek out a shared future together a future that avoids a war hot or cold between a rising power of China and the incumbent US hegemon

Transitioning Students into Higher Education Angela Jones, Anita Olds, Joanne G. Lisciandro, 2019-12-05 Transitioning Students in Higher Education focuses on the relationship between philosophy pedagogy and practice when designing programs units or courses for transitioning students to new educational spaces in the university environment The term transition is used to describe the academic as well as social movement and acculturation of students into new higher educational spaces This book offers both theoretical perspectives and real world practical examples that reveal the successes and challenges of implementing philosophically driven pedagogies with diverse transitioning cohorts Drawing on examples from Australia New Zealand US and Canada it writes through the relationship between philosophy pedagogy and how it can effectively shape the practice of transition and develop the flourishing student This book is split into three main sub themes Flourishing in Transition Engaging Diverse Cohorts and Challenges for Educators and sits at the intersections between philosophy and pedagogy in the practice of effectively engaging and transitioning different enabling groups This book will be of great interest to postgraduate students researchers and educators working in the areas of enabling or bridging education higher tertiary education distance learning and indigenous as well as culturally diverse cohorts

The Politics of Gender Equality Carol Johnson, 2024-08-22 This open access book provides the first in depth study of the development of federal gender equality politics and policy in Australia from the 1970s to the present day Australia has a history of gender equality innovation including granting women s suffrage long before equivalent countries From the 1970s on it became the first country to introduce a women's adviser, femocrats, feminist bureaucrats and gender responsive budgeting but then fell behind partly due to the influence of Anglosphere neoliberalism. However, the Albanese government has pledged to make Australia a world leader in gender equality again. The book situates Australia in an international context, assessing the useful though sometimes salutary lessons which the Australian experience provides. It engages with key literature including feminist political theory, discursive framing analysis, gendered public policy analysis, LGBTIQ issues, path dependency and gender and leadership. It will interest academics, undergraduate and postgraduate researchers, public policy experts and practitioners and a broader readership interested in issues of gender equality. The book makes innovative contributions to the study of the politics of gender equality policy, addressing what a gender equality policy agenda could look like if the needs of women in all their intersectional social diversity were the driving force. In doing so, it addresses a range of issues that are impacting the future of women, including an ongoing pandemic, technology, education and training agendas, issues of sovereign capability, securitisation, climate change and the growth of campaigns that oppose so-called gender ideology. It explores how current government agendas such as the focus on wellbeing could be made even more gender inclusive. Finally, the book suggests that Australia, as a multicultural but predominantly Western settler colonial society situated in the Asia Pacific, has some potentially unique insights to offer in a world facing major geoeconomic and geopolitical change.

Polyculturalism and Discourse Anja Schwarz, Russell West-Pavlov, 2007. This volume gathers together research by ten scholars engaging with multicultural discourse in Australia and Germany. The term polyculturalism rather than multiculturalism is employed deliberately to re-open a space in which the workings of discourse on culturally diverse societies, both as archive or practice and as intervention, can be considered in greater depth. The inter-cultural perspective and wide range of disciplinary affiliations exhibited by the essays in this volume contribute to this goal, whereas the majority of discourse analytical work addresses the diversity of speaking positions as well as the arbitrariness of ascribed meanings within a historical framework delimited by national boundaries and disciplinary boundaries. The texts collected here transgress this perspective in working comparatively between Australia and Germany.

The Ethical State? Marian Sawer, 2003-01-01. The ethical state, a state committed to the common good and equal opportunity, was a central tenet of the social liberal theory that emerged in Britain in the late nineteenth century. Here Marian Sawer explores how the new nation of Australia enthusiastically embraced the ideal. Translated as the fair go and accepted by major policy makers on both the left and right of politics, social liberalism gave rise to the distinctively Australian institution of wage arbitration and to other aspects of the welfare state such as public education, parks and pensions. For early Australian feminists, it offered the alluring prospect of equality with men. A century later, the idea of the fair go may still resonate in political rhetoric, but liberalism has become a somewhat tarnished ideal. The dream of the ethical state lies in tatters, eroded by economic rationalism and user-pays ideology and degraded by political machination. Has the social liberal vision of the state as a vehicle for social justice completely run its course? Sawer argues no.

Her timely book offers an astute critique of the challenges facing social liberal thought and issues a rallying cry for its revival

Powerscape Anika Gauja, 2020-08-05 An innovative and exciting approach to the study of Australian politics that is guaranteed to spark students interest Professor Carol Johnson University of Adelaide Powerscape is an engaging study of power relationships in the Australian political system and the community at large Alex Karolis Public Administration Today Powerscape is an introduction to Australian politics designed for today s students It outlines the core political institutions and processes and also analyses contemporary political issues and debates Powerscape tells the story of a dynamic political system and of high levels of public engagement Despite the prevailing view that political participation in the 21st century in many liberal democracies is subdued this book reveals complex interactions with political processes by a wide range of players Organised in three parts power and democracy political actors and policy processes Powerscape systematically investigates the role of power in political life Each chapter is introduced by a snapshot a detailed example based on a current issue or recent event With extended analysis of the change of government at the 2007 federal election this second edition has been fully updated It includes new examples and new chapters on political institutions and policy making Why the Left Loses Paul Kennedy, Rob Manwaring, 2018 Social Democracy is on the back foot and increasingly centre left political parties are struggling to win office Bringing together a range of leading academics and experts on social democratic politics and policy Why the left loses offers an international comparative view of the changing political landscape examining the degree to which the centre left project is exhausted and is able to renew its message in a neo liberal age Using case studies from the UK Germany Spain France Australia and New Zealand contributors argue that despite different local and specific contexts the mainstream centre left is beset by a range of common challenges Analysis focuses on institutional and structural factors the role of key individuals especially party leaders and the atrophy of progressive ideas in explaining why the centre left is currently in retreat Why the Left Loses is aimed at stimulating wider debate about the fortunes of the centre left

Through A Glass Darkly Margaret Thornton, 2015-11-08 This collection of essays arose from a workshop held in Canberra in 2013 under the auspices of the Academy of Social Sciences in Australia to consider the impact of the encroachment of the market on public universities While the UK tripled fees in 2013 and determined that the teaching of the social sciences and the humanities would no longer be publicly funded it was feared that Australia would go further and deregulate fees altogether In the best tradition of the social sciences the contributors have assumed the role of critic and conscience of society to present penetrating analyses of the ramifications of the corporatisation of the university as neoliberalism continues to occupy the ascendant position in the political firmament The dramatis personae in these analyses are students academics managers and political mandarins with the gendered character of corporatisation an important sub theme
