Commodification And Spectacle in Architecture William S. Saunders, More than ever architectural design is seen as a means to promote commercial goals rather than as an end in itself Frank Gehry s Guggenheim Museum in Bilbao for example simply cannot be considered apart from its intended role as a catalyst for the economic revitalization of Bilbao and its ability to attract tourist dollars regardless of its architectural merits A built environment intended to seduce consumers is more likely to offer instant gratification than to invite independent thought and reflection But how harmful if at all is this unprecedented commercialization of architecture Framed with a provocative introduction by Kenneth Frampton the contributions to Commodification and Spectacle in Architecture stake out a variety of positions in the debate over the extent to which it is possible or desirable to escape from resist or suggest plausible alternatives to the dominant culture of consumer capitalism Rejecting any dreamy nostalgia for an idealized present or past in which design is completely divorced from commerce and in some cases celebrating the pleasures of spectacle the individual essays range from indictments of particular architects and critiques of the profession to broader concerns about what the phenomenon of commodification means for the practice of democracy and the health of society Bringing together an impressive and varied group of critics and practitioners Commodification and Spectacle in Architecture will help to sharpen the discussion of how design can respond to our hypercommodified culture Contributors Michael Benedikt Luis Fernandez Galiano Thomas Frank Kevin Ervin Kelley Daniel Naeyegele Rick Poynor Michael Sorkin Wouter Vanstiphout William S Saunders is editor of Harvard Design Magazine and assistant dean for external relations at the Harvard Design School He is the author of Modern Architecture Photographs by Ezra Stoller Kenneth Frampton is Ware Professor of Architecture at Columbia University Graduate School of Architecture Planning and Preservation and author of many books including Labour Work and Architecture An Architecture of the Ozarks Marlon Blackwell, David Buege, Dan Hoffman, Juhani Pallasmaa, 2005-04-07 I live practice teach and build in northwest Arkansas in the foothills of the Ozark Mountains It is a place considered to be in the middle of nowhere yet ironically close to everywhere It is an environment of real natural beauty and simultaneously one of real constructed ugliness Abandonment exploitation erasure and nostalgia are all aspects of this place and are conditions as authentic as its natural beauty and local form This land of disparate conditions is not just a setting for my work it is part of the work By choosing to live and work here to call it home I've been able to get beyond the surface of things to turn over the rock and discover the complex and rich underbelly of my place its visceral presences and expressive character that so informs and sustains my efforts I am working from the conviction that architecture is larger than the subject of architecture Marlon Blackwell Marlon Blackwell is a passionate polemicist He is also a very gifted architect The projects in this first monograph on the radical ruralist as touted by the Royal Institute of British Architects offer a new architectural language that at once celebrates the vernacular and transgresses the boundaries of the conventional The results are we can't help it there is no better word beautiful Incisive essays by David Buege Dan Hoffman and Juhani Pallasmaa and lush photography by Tim Hursley Richard Johnson and Kevin Latady explore Blackwell's projects including his widely acclaimed Keenan Tower House the award winning Moore Honey House 2 Square House and Flynn Schmitt Barn House studios and institutional buildings
