Behind The Teak Curtain Ardeth Maung Thawngmung, 2012-11-12 First published in 2006 Behind the Teak Curtain the first fieldwork based study of Burmese rural politics and development examines the specific circumstances under which one of the most repressive and authoritative governments in the world enjoys popularity in the countryside The book analyzes four different agricultural policies that have been implemented under the Burmese military regime since 1978 and examines their consequential and varying impacts on rice farmers attitudes toward central and local authorities Behind the Teak Curtain provides first hand information on Burmese rice farmers conceptualization of political legitimacy their political goals and priorities and their relationships with central government authorities and local officials This work seeks to challenge conventional studies on Burma which focus on the behavior and actions of the military elite in Rangoon and treat the military regime as a unitary actor It will be shown how and why the same autocratic and repressive military leaders who are perceived by a particular sector of the population as illegitimate may at the same time be favorably seen and accepted by another group of citizens Finally this study draws out the implications of these findings for other authoritarian governments in developing societies It will demonstrate a more comprehensive foundation of legitimacy in authoritarian countries by highlighting the varying perceptions and attitudes in society toward central government authorities toward local officials and the different bases of legitimacy enjoyed by these two different levels of authority Behind the Teak Curtain will interest anthropologists sociologists and historians interested in agrarian communities including peasant culture and political attitudes particularly those with interest in Burma and Southeast Asia This book is also targeted at agricultural economists and development theorists who are concerned with agricultural promotion and rural development It sheds light on the problems inherent in the administrative structure of the military government and how they hamper effective implementation of agricultural policies Finally this project will provide a comparative case study for those who study authoritarian regimes military governments and Third World countries
