It reprints Dior's 1956 autobiography Christian Dior et moi in which the designer contrasted his reputation as both an individual and as a company with his own sense of himself alongside eight articles by Dior first published in Elle magazine in 1951 which were then collected as Je suis couturier. Throughout the volume takes as its thematic anchor the designer's beautiful childhood home in Granville elaborating his lifelong attachment to the house now the Christian Dior Museum and its gardens and showing how his work was influenced by these resplendent environs a theme that especially preoccupied Dior himself who once affirmed his tender and wonderful memories of my childhood home declaring that my life and my style owe everything to its location and architecture. Many of the copious illustrations that accompany these writings are supplied by the Christian Dior Museum collection and reproduce family albums and archival photographs fashion sketches and formal presentations of classic Dior dresses hats shoes and jewelry. Dior scholar Jean Luc Dufresne conducts a tour of the Dior house and garden narrating its long and fascinating history.

Dior Glamour, 2013-10-29 A collection of the lavish and iconic gowns of Christian Dior from the 1950s and 60s captured by the legendary photographer Mark Shaw. Iconic photographer Mark Shaw documented the ultra exclusive Parisian fashion world focusing on Paris's long standing top couturier Christian Dior. Shaw's photographs some of the first fashion photographs ever shot in color capture the most stunning and extraordinary fashion of the era. This lavish volume embodies the glamour of that time from rare moments of Christian Dior during fittings to editorial style photographs of models socialites and actresses posing in Dior's ballgowns day suits and haute couture collections. Shaw's photojournalistic style changed fashion photography forever his approach was to photograph wide giving the subject a sense of context creating an environment as exquisitely transformative as the subject and garment. With an eye for intimacy and opulence this book features more than 200 color and black and white photographs many never published before having only recently been found in a secret vault by his estate. Dior Glamour 1952-1962 captures the drama and elegance of the period's style and will be treasured by lovers of photography fashion style history and cultured living.

Christian Dior Richard Harrison Martin, Harold Koda, 1996 Dior's career came at the fulcrum of the twentieth century. He successfully combined the historicism of the late nineteenth century Belle Epoque with the aesthetic and technical innovations of his own time. In Dior's works what outwardly seems sheer romance and poetry is strengthened by structural underpinnings that demonstrate deep knowledge of craft. And while each collection is individualized even by name the overall work created during the eleven years Dior built his art can be seen as a unit of interwoven development. From the inception of The New Look on February 12, 1947 until the designer's death in 1957 Dior was the definitive force in fashion. In addition his corpus was to become an overriding influence on subsequent fashion.
