Holocaust Film Sourcebook Two Volumes:

Holocaust Cinema Complete Rich Brownstein, 2021-10-01 Holocaust movies have become an important segment of world cinema and the de facto Holocaust education for many. One quarter of all American produced Holocaust related feature films have won or been nominated for at least one Oscar. In fact from 1945 through 1991 half of all American Holocaust features were nominated. Yet most Holocaust movies have fallen through the cracks and few have been commercially successful. This book explores these trends and many others with a comprehensive guide to hundreds of films and made for television movies. From Anne Frank to Schindler's List to Jojo Rabbit more than 400 films are examined from a range of perspectives: historical, chronological, thematic, sociological, geographical, and individual. The filmmakers are contextualized including Charlie Chaplin, Sidney Lumet, Steven Spielberg, Quentin Tarantino, and Roman Polanski. Recommendations and reviews of the 50 best Holocaust films are included along with an educational guide, a detailed listing of all films covered, and a four part index/glossary.

Holocaust Cinema in the Twenty-First Century Gerd Bayer, Oleksandr Kobrynskyi, 2015-12-01 In the first fifteen years of the twenty first century a large number of films were produced in Europe, Israel, the United States, and elsewhere addressing the historical reality and the legacy of the Holocaust. Contemporary Holocaust cinema exists at the intersection of national cultural traditions, aesthetic conventions, and the inner logic of popular forms of entertainment. It also reacts to developments in both fiction and documentary films following the innovations of a postmodern aesthetic. With the number of witnesses to the atrocities of Nazi Germany dwindling, medialized representations of the Holocaust take on greater cultural significance. At the same time, visual responses to the task of keeping memories alive have to readjust their value systems and reconsider their artistic choices. Both established directors and a new generation of filmmakers have tackled the ethically difficult task of finding a visual language to represent the past that is also relatable to viewers. Both geographical and spatial principles of Holocaust memory are frequently addressed in original ways. Another development concentrates on perpetrator figures, adding questions related to guilt and memory. Covering such diverse topics, this volume brings together scholars from cultural studies, literary studies, and film studies. Their analyses of twenty first century Holocaust films venture across national and linguistic boundaries and make visible various formal and intertextual relationships within the substantial body of Holocaust cinema.

The Holocaust Film Sourcebook Caroline Joan Picart, 2004 Guides the reader through all films, fictional, documentary, and propaganda related to the Holocaust and its effects, including filmographies, bibliographies, production histories, and spotlight essays on key pictures.

2004 Sara Grosvald, 2012-02-14 This work includes international secondary literature on anti-Semitism published throughout the world from the earliest times to the present. It lists books, dissertations, and articles from periodicals and collections from a diverse range of disciplines. Written accounts are included among the recorded titles, as are manifestations of anti-Semitism in the visual arts, e.g. painting, caricatures, or film, action taken against Jews and Judaism by discriminating judiciaries, pogroms.

massacres and the systematic extermination during the Nazi period The bibliography also covers works dealing with philo-Semitism or Jewish reactions to anti-Semitism and Jewish self hate An informative abstract in English is provided for each entry and Hebrew titles are provided with English translations Frames of Evil Caroline Joan Picart, David A. Frank, 2006 In Frames of Evil The Holocaust as Horror in American Film Picart and Frank challenge this classic horror frame the narrative and visual borders used to demarcate monsters and the monstrous After examining the way in which directors and producers of the most influential American Holocaust movies default to this Gothic frame they propose that multiple frames are needed to account for evil and genocide Historical Dictionary of Holocaust Cinema Robert C. Reimer, Carol J. Reimer, 2024-12-19 Some 80 years after the end of World War two and Nazi Germany's attempt to annihilate European Jews and the Jewish culture the story of the Holocaust continues to be told in novels paintings music sculpture and film Over the past eight decades close to a thousand documentaries narrative shorts and features television miniseries and filmed statements from survivors have confronted the horrors of the past creating a recognizable iconography of persecution suffering and genocide While arguably movies and television have a tendency to overly simply if not trivialize historical events popular culture artists also keep the past from being forgotten Historical Dictionary of Holocaust Cinema Second Edition contains a chronology an introduction and an extensive bibliography The dictionary section has more than 175 cross referenced entries on films directors and historical figures Foreign language experimental and canonical films are included This book is an excellent resource for students researchers and anyone wanting to know more about holocaust cinema

Projecting the Holocaust into the Present Lawrence Baron, 2005-11-01 Most Holocaust scholars and survivors contend that the event was so catastrophic and unprecedented that it defies authentic representation in feature films Yet it is precisely the extremity of the Final Solution and the issues it raised that have fueled the cinematic imagination since the end of World War II Recognizing that movies reach a greater audience than eyewitness historical or literary accounts Lawrence Baron argues that they mirror changing public perceptions of the Holocaust over time and place After tracing the evolution of the most commonly employed genres and themes in earlier Holocaust motion pictures he focuses on how films from the 1990s made the Holocaust relevant for contemporary audiences While genres like biographical films and love stories about doomed Jewish Gentile couples remained popular they now cast Jews or non Jewish victims like homosexuals in lead roles more often than was the case in the past Baron attributes the recent proliferation of Holocaust comedies and children's movies to the search for more figurative and age appropriate genres for conveying the significance of the Holocaust to generations born after it happened He contends that thematic shifts to stories about neo Nazis rescuers survivors and their children constitute an expression of the continuing impact the Holocaust exerts on the present The book concludes with a survey of recent films like Nowhere in Africa and The Pianist Monsters in and Among Us Caroline Joan Picart, Cecil E. Greek, 2007 Rather than assuming that film and the media tell us little about the reality of criminological phenomena Gothic criminology as instantiated in this collection of essays recognizes the complementarity of critical academic and aesthetic accounts of deviant behavior as intersecting with the public policy in complex non reductive ways
