Thwala,2018-07-04 This book explores residential satisfaction and housing policy trends in developing nations by using subsidised low income housing examples in South Africa Ghana and Nigeria as case studies While there has been much documentation on the formation of residential satisfaction and the evolution of housing policy in developed nations relatively little has been written about these topics in developing nations This book provides readers with two major practical insights The first is focused on the theoretical underpinning of residential satisfaction and the formation of residential satisfaction in subsidised low income housing through the development of a conceptual framework while the second is focused on housing policy evolution and its trends in South Africa In this section of the book comparative overviews of public housing in two West African countries are provided with an emphasis on the philosophical basis for its development in these countries The central aim of the book is to provide readers with ideas on residential satisfaction formation and housing policy trends in South Africa The 1996 Zambia National Housing Policy Paul Lombe Kasonde Makasa,2010

Devising a workable housing policy in a country with apparently insurmountable housing problems presents a great challenge With the help of an award from UN HABITAT Zambian authorities attempted to do just this in a process which is an ideal candidate for scrutiny This study analyzes the goals means and instruments that were used to formulate the policy as well as its planned implementation It examines whether the policy could have achieved its goals had it been implemented and represents a valuable addition to the body of knowledge which can help to evaluate the potential for success Housing Policy in the United States Alex

F. Schwartz,2021-04-28 The fourth edition of Housing Policy in the United States refreshes its classic foundational coverage of the field with new data analysis and comparative focus This landmark volume offers a broad overview that synthesizes a wide range of material to highlight the significant problems concepts programs and debates that all define the aims challenges and milestones within and involving housing policy Expanded discussion in this edition centers on state and local activity to produce and preserve affordable housing the impact and the implications of reduced financial incentives for homeowners Other features of this new edition include Analysis of the impact of the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act of 2017 on housing related tax expenditures Review of the state of fair housing programs in the wake of the Trump Administration s rollback of several key programs and policies Cross examination of U S housing policy and conditions in an international context Featuring the latest available data on housing patterns and conditions this is an excellent companion for graduate and advanced undergraduate courses in urban studies urban planning sociology and social policy and housing policy

Women and Housing Patricia Kennett,Kam Wah Chan,2010-12-07 In the context of contemporary economic political social and cultural transformations this book brings together contributions from developed and emerging societies in Europe the USA and East Asia in order to highlight the nature extent and impact of these changes on the housing opportunities of women The collection seeks to contribute to comparative housing debates by highlighting the gendered nature of housing processes locating these processes within wider structured and institutionalized relations of power and to show how these socially constructed relationships are culturally contingent and manifest and transform over time and space The international contributors draw on a wide range of empirical evidence relating to labour market participation wealth distribution family formation and education to demonstrate the complexity and gendered nature of the interlocking arenas of production reproduction and consumption and the implications for the housing opportunities of women in different social contexts Worldwide examples are drawn from Australia China Great Britain Hong Kong Japan Spain Sweden Taiwan and the USA

Housing and Community Development in New York City Michael H. Schill, 1999-01-28 Provides a comprehensive up to date description and analysis of the housing and neighborhood problems facing residents of the nation s largest city and the policies that have been developed to solve these problems

Housing Policy in the Developed Economy Bruce Headey, 2021-03-23 Originally published in 1978 this book analyses three main approaches to national housing policy in the 20th Century in Sweden the UK and USA It reviews policy developments and considers the impact of policy on the housing conditions and costs of different sections of the community A major theme is that British and American governments contrary to their stated objectives have actually increased housing inequality by allowing homeowners tax concessions which are more generous than the housing welfare programmes available to tenants The political pressures which produced this outcome in Britain and the USA but a quite different and more egalitarian outcome in Sweden are carefully discussed Throughout the book policy making is regarded as involving trade offs between what is politically feasible and what is operationally feasible This framework enables readers to view policy making from the perspective of politicians and civil servants as they react to diverse demands and pressures and seek to devise housing programmes which embody incentives to which housing financiers builders and consumers will respond

Routledge Revivals: Housing in Europe (1984) Martin Wynn, 2017-07-05 First published in 1984 this book presents a survey of housing problems in various European countries and how individual states have responded Each chapter begins by surveying the problem in each country since the Second World War before going on to outline the roles fulfilled by national housing agencies and local authorities as well as assessing the impact of housing policies on society and on the physical shape of cities It considers whether housing policies have succeeded or failed and how the housing problem has changed over time Each chapter draws out lessons that can be learned for the future from each country s past handling of the problem This book will be a useful reference for those interested in housing including planners geographers economists sociologists or policy makers

Housing Need and the Need for Housing Richard Fordham, Stephen Finlay, Justin Gardener, Angus Macmillan, Cecilia Muldoon, Geoff Taylor, Gary Welch, 2019-05-23 First published in 1998 this book addresses a central issue in housing that of need and how to meet it

Need refers either to individual household circumstances or to the aggregate requirement for new social and market housing. The book develops a new policy mechanism to address the present fragmented policy situation. The mechanism now used to allocate finance and new social housing numbers is complex and ineffective in terms of meeting needs. The book's proposals are rooted in clear definitions of the key terms especially that of housing need which suffers from lack of any clear definition. The analysis is developed using a large database of survey information covering England and Wales. The proposed policy mechanism should be of great interest at a time when radical change to local government are being considered. The proposed mechanism would greatly increase value for money of public time and expenditure on planning for social housing.

The Principles of Housing Peter King, 2015-11-19. The Principles of Housing is an engaging and discursive introduction to the key topics within housing studies. Whereas many books get bogged down in country specific policy or small innovations this book argues that the fundamental concepts of what we call housing are relatively stable and unchangeable. By focusing on universal principles the book provides an introduction to housing that can be used by students world wide. The book consists of a series of short chapters relating to the key issues of housing such as borrowing choice finance government need reform and welfare. Each chapter is designed to be a starting point for a wider conversation with discussion questions and a number of think pieces and international case studies to help students connect these general principles to their own surroundings. Written by renowned housing expert Peter King. The Principles of Housing succeeds in being accessible and engaging without shying away from the complexities of housing issues. The book will be invaluable to students on housing related courses across finance real estate planning development politics and sociology subjects. The book would also be useful to housing professionals and policy makers aiming to expand their understanding of housing issues.

Multi-Agent-Based Simulation XI Tibor Bosse, Armando Geller, Catholijn M. Jonker, 2011-01-24. This volume contains a selection of the papers presented at the 11th International Workshop on Multi Agent Based Simulation MABS 2010 a workshop co located with the 9th International Joint Conference on Autonomous Agents and Multiagent Systems AAMAS 2010 which was held on May 10 14 2010 in Toronto Canada. The 11 revised full papers presented were carefully reviewed and selected from 26 submissions. The workshop has been an important source of inspiration for the body of knowledge that has been produced in the field of Multi Agent Systems MAS. As illustrated by this volume the workshop continues to bring together researchers interested in MAS engineering with researchers focused on finding efficient ways to model complex social systems in social economic and organizational areas. In all these areas agent theories metaphors models analyses experimental designs empirical studies and methodological principles all converge into simulation as a way of achieving explanations and predictions exploring and testing hypotheses and producing better designs and systems.
