Fast Cycle Time How To Align Purpose Strategy And Structure For Speed:

Fast Cycle Time Christopher Meyer, 1993 A leading expert on developing time based capabilities demonstrates that fast cycle time is achieved by aligning the organization to learn faster instead of merely working faster Meyer describes how to assemble multifunctional teams into integrated production systems by empowering workers with a tool kit to reduce nonvalue added activities

Fast Cycle Time Christopher Meyer, 2010-05-11 Today tens of thousands of companies are struggling to become time based competitors inspired by such corporations as Motorola General Electric Citicorp and a myriad of others who have cut production time in half or more But until now the literature has focused on the theory and philosophy of fast cycle time rather than the tools and techniques for implementing it Here for the first time Christopher Meyer an internationally recognized expert in cycle time reduction presents a step by step blueprint for transforming traditional companies into fast cycle competitors Meyer argues that fast cycle time is achieved not by working faster but by aligning the organization s purpose strategy and structure He demonstrates how the product development cycle must become a learning laboratory in which the four continuous elements Design Fabricate Assemble and Test are analyzed with the intent to improve strategy in the next business cycle Analyzing strategy and core processes enables management to detect and correct problems earlier and leverage knowledge for improved innovation and increased value for customers Employing an ongoing case study Core Products Inc throughout the text Meyer shows how to redesign the organization for manufacturability and assembly how to implement multifunctional teams that work how to analyze and map critical cycle time interdependencies such as co location and how to measure the impact of cycle time on business performance Meyer s practical approach provides a simple methodology for organizations to deliver products to customers rapidly accurately and reliably Chris Meyer interrelates many pieces that we have all read about in different places into a coherent guide to making it happen Ironically as Meyer shows implementing fast cycle time means almost the opposite of what most American managers are inclined to do Many years of practical experience have shown Meyer and his colleagues the wisdom of a paradox that to speed up you often have to slow down From the Foreword by Peter M Senge

Regional Innovation, Knowledge and Global Change Zoltan Acs, 2013-12-19 First Published in 1999 The process of globalization is shaped and reinforced by a rapidly changing knowledge environment As economies become less constrained national frontiers they become more geographically specialized Thus important elements of the innovation process tend to become regional rather than national In this new environment large corporations are weakening their links with their home country spreading their innovation activities to source different regional systems of innovation Regional networks of firms are creating new forms of learning and production The aim of this book is to broaden both conceptually and empirically the national systems of innovation approach developed by Lundvall Freeman Nelson and others While recognizing the creative nature of economic adjustment in a turbulent world and the highly uneven distribution of economic growth the national systems approach lacks a mechanism by which to understand innovation when realistic unit of analysis is no longer the nation state Written by leading scholars in the field this book provides a ground breaking examination of sub regional systems of innovation in an interconnected global economy Leading Product Development Steven C.
