Holy Fire Bruce Sterling,1996 The 21st century is coming to a close and the medical industrial complex dominates the world economy It is a world of synthetic memory drugs benevolent government surveillance underground anarchists and talking canine companions Power is in the hands of conservative senior citizens who have watched their health and capital investments with equal care gaining access to the latest advancements in life extension technology Meanwhile the young live on the fringes of society eking out a meagre survival on free government issued rations and a black market in stolen technological gadgetry from an earlier less sophisticated age Mia Ziemann is a 94 year old medical economist who enjoys all the benefits of her position But a deathbed visit with a long ago ex lover and a chance meeting with a young bohemian dress designer brings Mia to an awful revelation She has lived her life with such caution that it has been totally bereft of pleasure and adventure She has one chance to do it all over But first she must submit herself to a radical and painful experimental procedure which promises to make her young again The procedure is not without risk and her second chance at life will not come without a price But first she will have to escape her team of medical keepers Hitching a ride on a plane to Europe Mia sets out on a wild intercontinental quest in search of spiritual gratification erotic revelation and the thing she missed most of all the holy fire of the creative experience She joins a group of outlaw anarchists whose leader may be the man of her dreams or her undoing Worst of all Mia will have to undergo one last radical procedure that could cost her a second life In Holy Fire Bruce Sterling once again creates a unique and provocative future that deals with such timeless topics of the human condition as love memory science politics and the meaning of death Puginant lyrical humorous and often shocking Holy Fire offers a hard unsparing look into a world that could become our own From the Paperback edition Creators of Science

Mutopia Istvan Csicsery-Ronay Jr, 2022-06-15 The Enlightenment's project of establishing scientific proof for the unity of the universe led instead to the fragmentation of knowledge The culture of certainty mutated into a culture of conjecture and speculative supplements as the image of a unified cosmos mutated into a patchwork totality In the process the pursuit of knowledge developed a symbiotic association with science fiction While sf has often provided concrete ideas adopted by the knowledge faculties equally important is the way science fictional counterfactual world building science fiction's fantastic knowledge has intersected with rational speculation in all fields of knowledge As a result the dream of a completed rationally engineered utopia has evolved into the image of mutopia in which the objects of knowledge the process of knowing and the science fictional imagination itself are expected to undergo constant transformation The essays in Mutopia address the science fictional imagination's relevance for scientific modeling critical theory the deconstruction of the future the future of religion the future of nations the imagination of empire the construction of aliens the future of science fiction itself and the transformation of utopia into mutopia Written over many years by a leading scholar of science fiction the essays are revised and expanded for republication in this collection alongside new commentary that places them in an updated context
