Renewable Energy Bent Sorensen, 2018-12-14

This four volume set edited by a leading expert in the field brings together in one collection a series of papers that have been fundamental to the development of renewable energy as a defined discipline. Some of the papers were first published many years ago but they remain classics in their fields and retain their relevance to the understanding of current issues. The papers have been selected with the assistance of an eminent international editorial board. The set includes a general introduction and each volume is introduced by a new overview essay placing the selected papers in context. The range of subject matter is considerable including coverage of all the main renewable technologies, the fundamental principles by which they function and the issues around their deployment such as planning, integration and socio-economic assessment. Overall, the set provides students, teachers and researchers confronted with thousands of journal articles, book chapters and grey literature stretching back decades with a ready-made selection of and commentary on the most important key writings in renewable energy. It will be an essential reference for libraries concerned with energy technology and the environment.

Architecture and Welfare Thordis Arrhenius, Ellen Braae, Guttorm Ruud, 2025-01-27 Architecture was fundamental to the realization of welfare state policy in the Nordic countries, translating democratic ideals into concrete spatial materializations. An inclusive notion of welfare for all was embraced by a generation of architects, landscape architects and planners who labored to give physical form to ideas of equality, collectivity and democracy, producing a vast architectural output in Scandinavia during the postwar years. Today, however, the architectural legacy of this era is contested. Welfare for all no longer enjoys the social or political consensus it once did. This publication critically engages with this contested architectural legacy and provides a nuanced portrait of postwar welfare architecture coming to terms with a contentious past and facing an uncertain future. With newly commissioned photographic work by contemporary Nordic artists. Based on an interdisciplinary research project by KTH Stockholm, Oslo School of Architecture, University of Copenhagen. Internationally renowned contributors shed light on aspects of the relationship between architecture and welfare.

Sustainable Communities and Urban Housing Montserrat Pareja-Eastaway, Nessa Winston, 2016-12-08 Since the start of the twenty-first century, urban communities have faced increasing challenges in housing affordability, with environmental issues causing additional concern. It is clear that changes to urban housing are needed to enhance the resilience of cities and improve the economic, social and physical well-being of residents. This book provides a comparative cross-national perspective on urban housing and sustainability in Europe, exploring the key barriers and drivers associated with sustainable urban development and community regeneration. Country-specific chapters allow for easy comparison with each summarizing how sustainable housing operates in the country in question, before going on to discuss the key barriers and drivers at play. This book brings a sustainability perspective to the comparative housing literature, which frequently fails to integrate the social, economic and environmental pillars of sustainability The book outlines many of the changes that professionals and residents will need to make to their practices and cultures in order to enhance housing resilience Students researchers and professionals with an interest in sustainable housing creation and regeneration will find this book an invaluable reference Housing Development Andrew
