Encountering Faith in the Classroom Miriam R. Diamond, 2023-07-03 When faculty unexpectedly encounter students religious ideologies in the classroom they may respond with apprehension frustration dread or concern Instructors may view this exchange as a confrontation that threatens the very heart of empirical study and worry that this will lead to a dead end in the learning process The purpose of this book is to explore what happens and what can happen in the higher education and even secondary school classroom when course content meets or collides with students religious beliefs It also considers the impact on learning in an environment where students may feel threatened angry misunderstood or in which they feel their convictions are being discredited This is a resource that offers ways of conceptualizing engaging with and responding to student beliefs This book is divided into three sections student views on the role of religion in the classroom general guidelines for responding to or actively engaging religious beliefs in courses such as legal and diversity considerations and specific examples from a number of disciplines including the sciences social sciences humanities and professional education Professors from public private and religious institutions share their findings and insights The resounding lessons of this book are the importance of creating a learning space in which students can express their beliefs dissonance and emotions constructively without fear of retribution and of establishing ground rules of respectful discussion for this process to be valuable and productive This is an inspirational and practical guide for faculty navigating the controversial sensitive yet illuminating lessons that can be learned when religion takes a seat in the classroom

Being and Becoming in the Classroom Wolff-Mich Roth, 2002-05-30 Highlights the current chasm between teacher education theories praxeologies and the actual experience of teaching praxis Many traditional teacher education programs emphasize teaching based on reflection and deliberation yet when a new teacher is in a unique situation there is not always time to step back and look at it objectively Through Roth's extensive experience as a teacher he has learned that a teacher must live in the heat of the moment but also develop room to maneuver in the moment These skills come only by actually being in the classroom working at the elbow of experienced teachers and discussing the events of the day with other teachers Roth develops his theory by introducing the previously ignored element of temporality in teaching When there is no time out for reflection a teacher must develop on the spot decision making skills In part one he presents the ideas of being in the classroom with students and being with other teachers Other concepts that emerge are habitus perceptions and expectations that lead to action Spielraum room to maneuver in situations and relationality knowing how to act without reflection based on student teacher rapport In part two Roth asserts that when novice teachers coteach and engage in subsequent cogenerative dialoguing with seasoned professionals they are in the process of becoming in the classroom Teachers college students majoring in education and professors will all benefit immensely from this book
