

A photograph of a deforested landscape. In the foreground, a large, weathered log lies horizontally across the frame. The ground is uneven and covered with dirt and some sparse vegetation. In the middle ground, a small, rectangular building with an orange roof stands amidst the cleared land. The background is a dense, green forest that appears to be the remaining part of the original landscape. The overall scene suggests a logging operation or a small settlement in a tropical or subtropical region.

In The Realm Of The Diamond Queen:

In the Realm of the Diamond Queen Anna Lowenhaupt Tsing, 2021-04-13 In this highly original and much anticipated ethnography Anna Tsing challenges not only anthropologists and feminists but all those who study culture to reconsider some of their dearest assumptions By choosing to locate her study among Meratus Dayaks a marginal and marginalized group in the deep rainforest of South Kalimantan Indonesia Tsing deliberately sets into motion the familiar and stubborn urban fantasies of self and other Unusual encounters with her remarkably creative and unconventional Meratus friends and teachers however provide the opportunity to rethink notions of tradition community culture power and gender and the doing of anthropology Tsing's masterful weaving of ethnography and theory as well as her humor and lucidity allow for an extraordinary reading experience for students scholars and anyone interested in the complexities of culture Engaging Meratus in wider conversations involving Indonesian bureaucrats family planners experts in international development Javanese soldiers American and French feminists Asian Americans right to life advocates and Western intellectuals Tsing looks not for consensus and coherence in Meratus culture but rather allows individual Meratus men and women to return our gaze Bearing the fruit from the lively contemporary conversations between anthropology and cultural studies In the Realm of the Diamond Queen will prove to be a model for thinking and writing about gender power and the politics of identity

Representation and the Text William G. Tierney, Yvonna S. Lincoln, 1997-01-01 Focuses on authorial representations of contested reality in qualitative research This book focuses on representations of contested realities in qualitative research The authors examine two separate but interrelated issues criticisms of how researchers use voice and suggestions about how to develop experimental voices that expand the range of narrative strategies Changing relationships between researchers and respondents dictate alterations in textual representations from the view from nowhere to the view from a particular location and from the omniscient voice to the polyvocality of communities of individuals Examples of new representations and textual experiments provide models for how some authors have struggled with voice in their texts and in so doing broaden who they and we mean by us

Cultural Politics of Ethnicity Vera Sokolova, 2012-02-27 This book maps out the history of Czechoslovak linguistic and social practices directed at Roma during the communist period It explains how contemporary Czech society has come to understand the Romani population in terms of inherited social medical and juridical ideas Rather than focusing on the Roma people as an object of analysis the book problematizes assumed notions of Gypsiness and Czechness in mainstream society by highlighting the role of different socialist discourses in constructing images of Roma as socially deviant and abnormal By uncovering the lines of continuity in the intersections of ethnic discrimination social deviance and citizenship from the 1950s to the collapse of communism this book comes to terms with a variety of questions that have not yet been adequately addressed in the literature What underlying assumptions informed the socialist regime's understanding of Gypsiness and how did these conceptions relate to notions of citizenship equality and normality How and why did the meaning of the terms Gypsies and Roma become imbued in popular discourse with ideas of unhealthiness and social deviance What implications does translating perceived cultural traits and lifestyles of Roma into non ethnic frames of reference have for understanding racism and ethnic sensibilities in the country today The work emphasizes historical continuities between contemporary xenophobia and the strategies which the communist regime used to deal with the Gypsy question Focusing on the discrepancies between written laws and policies as well as their implementation this study exposes the intricate relationships between official beliefs institutional policies and popular consciousness under the communist regime For it was these relationships which together created the mechanisms of social control that facilitated discrimination of Czechoslovak Roma under the guise of social welfare

An Ethnography of Hunger Kristin Phillips, 2018-08-29 In An Ethnography of Hunger Kristin D Phillips examines how rural farmers in central Tanzania negotiate the interconnected projects of subsistence politics and rural development Writing against stereotypical Western media images of spectacular famine in Africa she examines how people live with rather than die from hunger Through tracing the seasonal cycles of drought plenty and suffering and the political cycles of elections development and state extraction Phillips studies hunger as a pattern of relationships and practices that organizes access to food and profoundly shapes agrarian lives and livelihoods Amid extreme inequality and unpredictability rural people pursue subsistence by alternating between and sometimes combining rights and reciprocity a political form that she calls subsistence citizenship Phillips argues that studying subsistence is essential to understanding the persistence of global poverty how people vote and why development projects succeed or fail

The Architecture of Life and Death in Borneo Robert L. Winzeler, 2004-02-29 Among Borneo's spectacular indigenous buildings the longhouses mortuary monuments and other architectural forms of the interior are some of the most outstanding and much of the renewed interest in indigenous architecture has focused on the rapidly vanishing or now extinct traditional forms of a small number of surviving examples or recreations Drawing on the author's extensive research and travel in Borneo this impressive and original study offers a more comprehensive account of this architecture than any previous work Organized into two sections the book first documents and explains traditional built forms in terms of tools and materials the environmental context village organization and social arrangements This section includes a full discussion of architecture designs and symbolism especially those dealing with life and death The author next looks at the destruction or transformation of traditional architecture based on a number of interrelated developments including religious conversion Western influence internal migration and logging as well as governmental attitudes and efforts The book concludes with a discussion of recent efforts to document and preserve traditional structures and turn indigenous as well as colonial architecture into history and heritage Dramas of

Nationhood Lila Abu-Lughod, 2008-05-30 How do people come to think of themselves as part of a nation Dramas of Nationhood identifies a fantastic cultural form that binds together the Egyptian nation television serials These melodramatic programs like soap operas but more closely tied to political and social issues than their Western counterparts have been shown on television in Egypt for more than thirty years In this book Lila Abu Lughod examines the shifting politics of these serials and the way their contents both reflect and seek to direct the changing course of Islam gender relations and everyday life in this Middle Eastern nation Representing a decade s worth of research Dramas of Nationhood makes a case for the importance of studying television to answer larger questions about culture power and modern self fashionings Abu Lughod explores the elements of developmentalist ideology and the visions of national progress that once dominated Egyptian television now experiencing a crisis She discusses the broadcasts in rich detail from the generic emotional qualities of TV serials and the depictions of authentic national culture to the debates inflamed by their deliberate strategies for combating religious extremism The Politics of Method in the Human Sciences George Steinmetz, 2005-05-16 Collection of new essays on the past present and future of positivism in the various social sciences

Working Alliances and the Politics of Difference Janet R. Jakobsen, 1998 Maintaining that the key to building alliances is to learn to work with diversity rather than contain it Jakobson women s studies and religious studies U of Arizona proposes that ethical theory has had limited success in leading to alliances because it has ignored the role of complexity in liberal political and economic discourses of pluralism and free markets and in counter public discourses and movements situated around identity politics or a politics of difference Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Contradictions of Democracy Nicholas Rush

Smith, 2019-01-17 Despite being one of the world s most vibrant democracies police estimate between five and ten percent of the murders in South Africa result from vigilante violence This is puzzling given the country s celebrated transition to democracy and massive reform of the state s legal institutions Where most studies explain vigilantism as a response to state or civic failure in Contradictions of Democracy Nicholas Rush Smith illustrates that vigilantism is actually a response to the processes of democratic state formation In the context of densely networked neighborhoods vigilante citizens often interpret the technical success of legal institutions for instance the arrest and subsequent release of suspects on bail as failure and work to correct such perceived failures on their own Smith also shows that vigilantism provides a new lens through which to understand democratic state formation Among young men of color in some parts of South Africa fear of extra judicial police violence is common Amid such fear instead of the state seeming protective it can appear as something akin to a massive vigilante organization An insightful look into the high rates of vigilantism in South Africa and the general challenges of democratic state building Contradictions of Democracy explores fundamental questions about political order the rule of law and democratic citizenship

Handbook of Political Anthropology Harald Wydra,Bjørn Thomassen,2018-11-30 This Handbook engages the reader in the major debates approaches methodologies and explanatory frames within political anthropology Examining the shifting borders of a moving field of enquiry it illustrates disciplinary paradigm shifts the role of humans in political structures ethnographies of the political and global processes Reflecting the variety of directions that surround political anthropology today this volume will be essential reading to understanding the interactions of humans within political frames in a globalising world The Cambridge Handbook for the Anthropology of Gender and Sexuality Cecilia McCallum, Silvia Posocco, Martin Fotta, 2023-10-19 The tense but enduring engagement between anthropology and gender and sexuality studies has had profound effects upon anthropological theory and practice Bringing together contributions from an international team of authors this Handbook shows that anthropological work has taken inspiration from feminist and LGBTQI movements to create a transformative body of research It provides an accessible state of the art overview of the anthropology of gender and sexuality whilst also documenting its historical emergence highlighting the varied impact gender and sexuality studies have had on anthropological theory It is split into five parts with each chapter introducing a contemporary anthropological theory through in depth ethnographical discussion It features intersectional black and indigenous authors providing a forum for established and emerging voices to gesture towards futures of anthropology of gender and sexuality Authoritative and cutting edge it is essential reading for researchers and students in anthropology and will set the agenda for future research in the field The Routledge Companion to the Study of Religion , Girl of New Zealand Michelle Erai, 2020-05-19 Girl of New Zealand presents a nuanced insight into the way violence and colonial attitudes shaped the representation of M ori women and girls Michelle Erai examines more than thirty images of M ori women alongside the records of early missionaries and settlers in Aotearoa as well as comments by archivists and librarians to shed light on how race gender and sexuality have been ascribed to particular bodies Viewed through M ori feminist queer and film theories Erai shows how images such as Girl of New Zealand 1793 and later images cartoons and travel advertising created and deployed a colonial optic Girl of New Zealand reveals how the phantasm of the M ori woman has shown up in historical images how such images shape our imagination and how impossible it has become to maintain the delusion of the innocent eye Erai argues that the process of ascribing race gender sexuality and class to imagined bodies can itself be a kind of violence In the wake of the Me Too movement and other feminist projects Erai s timely analysis speaks to the historical foundations of negative attitudes toward Indigenous M ori women in the eyes of colonial others outsiders from elsewhere who reflected their own desires and fears in their representations of the Indigenous inhabitants of Aotearoa New Zealand Erai resurrects M ori women from objectification and locates them firmly within M ori wh nau and communities The Twilight of Cutting Saida Hodzic, 2017 The last three decades have witnessed a proliferation of nongovernmental organizations engaging in new campaigns to end the practice of female genital cutting across Africa These campaigns have in turn spurred new institutions discourses and political projects bringing about unexpected social transformations both intended and unintended Consequently cutting is waning across the continent At the same time these endings are misrecognized and disavowed by public and scholarly discourses across the political spectrum

What does it mean to say that while cutting is ending the Western discourse surrounding it is on the rise And what kind of a feminist anthropology is needed in such a moment The Twilight of Cutting examines these and other questions from the vantage point of Ghanaian feminist and reproductive health NGOs that have organized campaigns against cutting for over thirty years The book looks at these NGOs not as solutions but as sites of problematization The purpose of understanding these Ghanaian campaigns their transnational and regional encounters and the forms of governmentality they produce is not to charge them with providing answers to the question how do we end cutting Instead it is to account for their work their historicity the life worlds and subjectivities they engender and the modes of reflection imminent critique and opposition they set in motion
