Neurovision: Neural bases of binocular vision and coordination and their implications in visual training programs Olivier A. Coubard, 2015-10-12 Binocular vision is achieved by five neurovisual systems originating in the retina but varying in their destination within the brain Two systems have been widely studied the retino tectal or retino collicular route which subserves an expedient and raw estimate of the visual scene through the magnocellular pathway and the retino occipital or retino cortical route which allows slower but refined analysis of the visual scene through the parvocellular pathway But there also exist further neurovisual systems the retino hypothalamic retino pretectal and accessory optic systems which play a crucial role in vision though they are less understood The retino pretectal pathway projecting onto the pretectum is critical for the pupillary or photomotor reflex The retino hypothalamic pathway projecting onto the suprachiasmatic nucleus regulates numerous behavioral and biological functions as well as circadian rhythms The accessory optic system targeting terminal lateral medial and dorsal nuclei through the paraoptic fasciculus plays a role in head and gaze orientation as well as slow movements Taken together these neurovisual systems involve 60% of brain activity thus highlighting the importance of vision in the functioning and regulation of the central nervous system But vision is first and foremost action which makes perception impossible without movement Binocular coordination is a prerequisite for binocular fusion of the object of interest on the two foveas thus ensuring visual perception The retino collicular pathway is sufficient to elicit reflexive eye movements with short latencies Thanks to its motor neurons the superior colliculus activates premotor neurons which themselves activate motor neurons of the oculomotor trochlear and abducens nuclei At a higher level a cascade of neural mechanisms participates in the control of decisional eye movements The superior colliculus is controlled by the substantia nigra pars reticulata which is itself gated by subcortical structures such as the dorsal striatum The superior colliculus is also inhibited by the dorsolateral prefrontal cortex through a direct prefrontotectal tract Cortical areas are crucial for the triggering of eye movements the frontal eye field supplementary eye field and parietal eye field Finally the cerebellum maintains accuracy The focus of the present research topic entitled Neural bases of binocular vision and coordination and their implications in visual training programs is to review the most recent findings in brain imaging and neurophysiology of binocular vision and coordination in humans and animals with frontally placed eyes The emphasis is put on studies that enable transfer of knowledge toward visual training programs targeting visual field defects e g hemianopia and binocular functional disorders e.g. amblyopia Working with Spiritual Struggles in Psychotherapy Kenneth I. Pargament, Julie J. Exline, 2021-10-04 Does my life have any deeper meaning Does God really care about me How can I find and follow my moral compass What do I do when my faith is shaken to the core Spiritual trials doubts or conflicts are often intertwined with mental health concerns yet many psychotherapists feel ill equipped to discuss questions of faith From pioneers in the psychology of religion and spirituality this book combines state of the art research clinical insights and vivid case illustrations It guides clinicians to understand spiritual struggles as critical crossroads in life that can lead to brokenness and decline or to greater wholeness and growth Clinicians learn sensitive culturally responsive ways to assess different types of spiritual struggles and help clients use them as springboards to change A Life of Meaning Rabbi Dana Evan Kaplan, PhD, 2017-11-28 Reform Judaism is constantly evolving as we continue to seek a faith that is in harmony with our beliefs and experiences This volume offers readers a thought provoking collection of essays by rabbis cantors and other scholars who differ sometimes passionately over religious practice experience and belief Its goal is to situate Judaism in a contemporary context and it is uniquely suited for community discussion as well as study groups Overcrowded Roberto Verganti, 2017-01-27 A more powerful innovation which seeks to discover not how things work but why we need things The standard text on innovation advises would be innovators to conduct creative brainstorming sessions and seek input from outsiders users or communities This kind of innovating can be effective at improving products but not at capturing bigger opportunities in the marketplace In this book Roberto Verganti offers a new approach one that does not set out to solve existing problems but to find breakthrough meaningful experiences There is no brainstorming which produces too many ideas unfiltered but a vision subject to criticism It does not come from outsiders but from one person's unique interpretation The alternate path to innovation mapped by Verganti aims to discover not how things work but why we need things It gives customers something more meaningful something they can love Verganti describes the work of companies including Nest Labs Apple Yankee Candle and Philips Healthcare that have created successful businesses by doing just this Nest Labs for example didn't create a more advanced programmable thermostat because people don't love to program their home appliances Nest's thermostat learns the habits of the household and bases its temperature settings accordingly Verganti discusses principles and practices methods and implementation The process begins with a vision and proceeds through developmental criticism first from a sparring partner and then from a circle of radical thinkers then from external experts and interpreters and only then from users Innovation driven by meaning is the way to create value in our current world where ideas are abundant but novel visions are rare If something is meaningful for both the people who create it and the people who consume it business value follows Novel insights in rehabilitation of neglect, 2nd Edition Stefan Van Der Stigchel, Tanja Nijboer, 2015-01-09 Hemispatial neglect is the failure to report respond to or orient to novel or meaningful stimuli presented in the contralesional visual field It constitutes one of the most invalidating neurological disorders that can occur after stroke It is therefore important to treat neglect as adequate as possible and much of the research dedicated to neglect therefore focuses on rehabilitation In this special topic you will find 29 articles on the rehabilitation of neglect This Research Topic has opened new perspectives and has given us an indication of where the field is going Although some of the current rehabilitation techniques have proven to be beneficial there is limited agreement on the most valuable technique or the mechanisms underlying the ameliorating effects

The ventricular-subventricular zone: a source of oligodendrocytes in the adult brain Oscar Gonzalez-Perez, Jose Manuel Garcia-Verdugo, Adan Aguirre, 2014-09-30 Demyelinating diseases are characterized by an extensive loss of oligodendrocytes and myelin sheaths from axolemma which commonly result in disability in young adults To date there is no effective treatment against these neurological disorders In the adult brain there are neural stem cells NSCs that reside within a niche denominated ventricular subventricular zone V SVZ in the lateral wall of the cerebral ventricles NSCs give rise to neurons and oligodendrocytes that help preserve cellular homeostasis Growing evidence indicates that V SVZ progenitor cells may represent an endogenous source of oligodendrocytes that can be useful to treat demyelinating diseases This e Book The ventricular subventricular zone as a source of oligodendrocytes in the adult brain collected the most recent evidence regarding the mechanisms that modulate the proliferation migration quiescence cell fate choices and survival of oligodendrocyte precursors generated in the V SVZ Herein we compiled information about the role of Sonic hedgehog NMDA receptors ErbB proteins hemopressin erythropoietin osmolarity and microglia in the oligodendrocyte production Some chapters also describe the role of oligodendrocyte precursors in the preservation of cellular homeostasis aging and white matter repair All these information is presented as novel research findings short communications and review articles which were written by experts in the field of oligodendrocyte generation myelin production and white matter re myelination
