In the Heart of the Desert John Chryssavgis, 2008-06-06 Father John's inspiring introduction to the spirituality of the Desert Fathers and Mothers brings their words to life for the modern reader. These key figures of the early church chose lives of hardship and solitude where they could point their hearts away from the outward world and toward an introspective path of God's calling in a deliberate and individual way. Vandana Shiva, founder of Navdanya Research Foundation for Science Technology Ecology, says: "The earth is in great peril due to the corporatization of agriculture, the rising climate crisis, and the ever-increasing levels of global poverty, starvation, and desertification on a massive scale. This present condition of global trauma is not natural but a result of humanity's destructive actions And according to Masanobu Fukuoka it is reversible We need to change not only our methods of earth stewardship but also the very way we think about the relationship between human beings and nature Fukuoka grew up on a farm on the island of Shikoku in Japan As a young man he worked as a customs inspector for plants going into and out of the country This was in the 1930s when science seemed poised to create a new world of abundance and leisure when people fully believed they could improve upon nature by applying scientific methods and thereby reap untold rewards While working there Fukuoka had an insight that changed his life forever He returned to his home village and applied this insight to developing a revolutionary new way of farming that he believed would be of great benefit to society This method which he called natural farming involved working with not in opposition to nature Fukuoka s inspiring and internationally best selling book The One Straw Revolution was first published in English in 1978 In this book Fukuoka described his philosophy of natural farming and why he came to farm the way he did One Straw was a huge success in the West and spoke directly to the growing movement of organic farmers and activists seeking a new way of life For years after its publication Fukuoka traveled around the world spreading his teachings and developing a devoted following of farmers seeking to get closer to the truth of nature Sowing Seeds in the Desert a summation of those years of travel and research is Fukuoka s last major work and perhaps his most important Fukuoka spent years working with people and organizations in Africa India Southeast Asia Europe and the United States to prove that you could indeed grow food and regenerate forests with very little irrigation in the most desolate of places Only by greening the desert he said would the world ever achieve true food security This revolutionary book presents Fukuoka s plan to rehabilitate the deserts of the world using natural farming including practical solutions for feeding a growing human population rehabilitating damaged landscapes reversing the spread of desertification and providing a deep understanding of the relationship between human beings and nature Fukuoka s message comes right at the time when people around the world seem to have lost their frame of reference and offers us a way forward Sowing Seeds in the Desert will persuade any reader that the imperiled living world is our greatest teacher and inspire them to care for it as vigorously as Fukuoka has Toby Hemenway author of Gaia s Garden Danger in the Desert Guided Reading 6-Pack ,2016-12-15
