Chambers's Journal of Popular Literature, Science and Arts ,1898 In God's Image Yair Lorberbaum,2015-03-02 The idea of creation in the divine image has a long and complex history While its roots apparently lie in the royal myths of Mesopotamia and Egypt this book argues that it was the biblical account of creation presented in the first chapters of Genesis and its interpretation in early rabbinic literature that created the basis for the perennial inquiry of the concept in the Judeo Christian tradition Yair Lorberbaum reconstructs the idea of the creation of man in the image of God tselem Elohim attributed in the Midrash and the Talmud He analyzes meanings attributed to tselem Elohim in early rabbinic thought as expressed in Aggadah and explores its application in the normative legal and ritual realms Putnam's monthly magazine of American literature, science, and art ,1857 The Eclectic Magazine of Foreign Literature, Science, and Art ,1884

Literature and the Image of Man Leo Lowenthal,1966 Narratives and Numbers: Empirical Studies of Pentecostal and Charismatic Christianity Mark J. Cartledge,2017-06-06 In Narratives and Numbers Empirical Studies of Pentecostal and Charismatic Christianity Mark J Cartledge provides a rich set of essays on key themes in Pentecostal and Charismatic Christianity Using empirical research methods drawn from the social sciences he interrogates his originally gathered data by means of theology and sociology These studies address such issues as glossolalia prophecy spirituality gender and the family the doctrine of the Trinity socialization altruism and the practice of healing Collectively they provide original insight into one of the most vibrant forms of Christianity today Additionally these studies model how empirical research in religion can be brought into conversation with theological discourse The findings of this research can be used by scholars and students from different perspectives and disciplinary contexts The Reader, a review of literature, science, and art ,1866-07 Manliness and the Male Novelist in Victorian Literature Andrew Dowling,2017-03-02 The purpose of this book is to address two principal questions Was the concept of masculinity a topic of debate for the Victorians and Why is Victorian literature full of images of male deviance when Victorian masculinity is defined by discipline In his introduction Dowling defines Victorian masculinity in terms of discipline He then addresses the central question of why an official ideal of manly discipline in the nineteenth century co existed with a literature that is full of images of male deviance In answering this question he develops a notion of hegemonic deviance whereby a dominant ideal of masculinity defines itself by what it is not Dowling goes on to examine the fear of effeminacy facing Victorian literary men and the strategies used to combat these fears by the nineteenth century male novelist In later chapters concentrating on Dickens and Thackeray he examines how the male novelist is defined against multiple images of unmanliness These chapters illustrate the investment made by men in constructing male others those sources of difference that are constantly produced and then crushed from within gender divide By analysing how Victorian literary texts both reveal and reconcile historical anxieties about the meaning of manliness Dowling argues that masculinity is a complex construction rather than a natural given A

Images Dario Gamboni, 2002 In Potential Images Dario Gamboni explores ambiguity in modern art considering images that rely to a great degree on a projected or imaginative response from viewers to achieve their effect. Ambiguity became increasingly important in late 19th and early 20th century aesthetics as is evidenced in works by such artists as Redon, Cezanne, Gauguin, Ensor, and the Nabis. Similarly, the Cubists subverted traditional representational conventions requiring their viewers to decipher images to extract their full meanings. The same device was taken up in the various experiments leading to abstraction. For example, it was Kandinsky's intention that his work could be interpreted in both figurative and non-figurative ways, and Duchamp's Readymades suggested the radical conclusion that it is the beholder who makes the picture. These invitations to viewers to participate in the process of artistic communication had social and political implications as they accorded artist and beholder symmetrical, almost interchangeable roles.

Defining New Idioms and Alternative Forms of Expression Eckhard Breiting, 1996 This first volume of ASNEL Papers gathers together a broad range of reflections on and presentations of the social and expressive underpinnings of post-colonial literary cultures, concentrating on aspects of orality, social structure, and hybridity, the role of women in cultural production, performative and media representations, theatre, film, advertising, and their institutional forms, and the linguistic basis of literature, including questions of multilingualism, pidgins, and creoles, and translation. Some of the present studies adopt a diachronic approach, as in essays devoted to European colonial influences on African literatures, the populist colonial roots of Australian drama, and the intersection of exogenous and autochthonous languages in the cultural development and identity formation of Cameroon, Tanzania, and the Swahili-speaking regions of Africa. Broadly synchronic perspectives, which nevertheless take cognizance of developmental determinants, range over dominant genres: poetry, short fiction, and the novel; children's literature; theatre; film; and cover indigenous literatures: Australian Aboriginal, Maori, First Nations, and regional creativity in West, East, and South Africa; the Caribbean; India; and the South East Asian diaspora and the settler colonies of Canada, Australia, and New Zealand. Authors treated within broader frameworks include Chinua Achebe, Biyi Bandele, Thomas Bole, Butake Shashi, Deshpande, Louis Esson, Lorna Goodison, Patricia Grace, Bland Holt, Keri Hulme, Witi Ihimaera, Kazuo Ishiguro, Rita Klein, Hanif Kureishi, Werewere Liking, Timothy Mo, V. S. Naipaul, Salman Rushdie, and Ruby Slipperjack. There are self-testimonies from the writers Geoff Goodfellow, Darrelyn Gunzburg, and Don Mattera, poems by David Dabydeen, Geoff Goodfellow, and Olive Senior. Of particular value to this collection are the perspectives offered by African, Caribbean, and Eastern European contributors.

Images of Fear Martin Tropp, 1999-11-15 On the Western Front in World War I, a generation faced a horrifying reality that ushered in the modern age. But in the previous century, many of the fears we still face were first given form in the pages of popular fiction. Books such as

Frankenstein Dr Jekyll and Mr Hyde and Dracula became modern myths because they gave people a safe way to confront modern fears also taking shape at that time By looking at such varied subjects as Victorian architecture urban crime women s rights and the impact of new technology we can come to understand the peculiar relationship between horror in literature and the horror of daily life World War I made it clear that the images of horror in popular fiction had not been an escape from the world around us but a way of seeing deeper into it as well as revealing the shape of things to come
