Little Eden Eva Figes, 1978-01-01 Engendering Realism and Postmodernism, 2021-11-01 This volume assembles critical essays on and excerpts from works of contemporary women writers in Britain Its focus is the interaction of aesthetic play and ethical commitment in the fictional work of women writers whose interest in testing and transgressing textual boundaries is rooted in a specific awareness of a gendered multicultural reality This position calls for a distinctly critical impetus of their writing involving the interaction of the political and the literary as expressed in innovative combinations of realist and postmodern techniques in works by A S Byatt Maureen Duffy Zoe Fairbairns Eva Figes Penelope Lively Sara Maitland Suniti Namjoshi Ravinder Randhawa Joan Riley Michele Roberts Emma Tennant Fay Weldon Jeanette Winterson All contributions to this volume address aspects of these writers positions and techniques with a clear focus on their interest in transgressing boundaries of genre gender and post colonial identity The special quality of these interpretations first given in the presence of writers at a symposium in Potsdam derives from the creative and prosperous interactions between authors and critics The volume concludes with excerpts from the works of the participating writers which exemplify the range of concrete concerns and technical accomplishments discussed in the essays They are taken from fictional works by Debjani Chatterjee Maureen Duffy Zoe Fairbairns Eva Figes Sara Maitland and Ravinder Randhawa They also include the creative interactions of Suniti Namjoshi and Gillian Hanscombe in their joint writing and Paul Magrs critical engagement with Sara Maitland

Prep School Children Vyvyen Brendon, 2009-12-12 In a compelling and sometimes shocking account Vyvyen Brendon dwells not on the adult purposes behind a peculiarly British institution but on the lives of the children

The Forgotten Generation Lisa L. Ossian, 2011-05-23 Explores the effect of the challenges of World War II on American children and teenagers

Sacrificing Childhood Julie K. deGraffenried, 2014-11-18 During the Soviet Union's Great Patriotic War from 1941 to 1945 as many as 24 million of its citizens died 14 million were children ages fourteen or younger And for those who survived the suffering was far from over The prewar Stalinist vision of a happy childhood nurtured by a paternal loving state had given way out of necessity What replaced it the dictate that children be prepared to sacrifice everything including childhood itself created a generation all too familiar with deprivation violence and death The experience of these children and the role of the state in shaping their narrative are the subject of this book which fills in a critical but neglected chapter in the Soviet story and in the history of World War II In Sacrificing Childhood Julie deGraffenried chronicles the lives of the Soviet wartime children and the uses to which they were put not just as combatants or workers in factories and collective farms but also as fodder for propaganda their plight a proof of the enemy's depredations Not all Soviet children lived through the war in the same way but in the circumstances of a child in occupied Belarus or in the Leningrad blockade a young deportee in Siberia or evacuee in Uzbekistan deGraffenried finds common threads that distinguish the child's experience of war from the adult's The state's expectations however were the same for all children as we see here in children's mass media and literature and the communications of party organizations and institutions most notably the Young Pioneers whose relentless wartime activities made them ideal for the purposes of propaganda The first in depth study of where Soviet children fit into the history of the war Sacrificing Childhood also offers an unprecedented view of the state's changing expectations for its children and how this figured in the nature and direction of post war Soviet society Useless Activity Christopher Webb, 2022-07-01 Using a broad range of archival material from Washington University St Louis the University of Glasgow and the British Library Useless Activity Work Leisure and British Avant Garde Fiction 1960 1975 is the first study to ask why the experimental writing of the 1960s and 1970s appears so fraught with anxiety about its own uselessness before suggesting that this very anxiety was symptomatic of a unique period in British literary history when traditional notions about literary work and what worked in terms of literature were being radically scrutinised and reassessed The study is divided into five chapters with three of those dedicated to the close analysis of work produced by three writers representative of the 1960s British avant garde Eva Figes 1932 2012 B S Johnson 1933 1973 and Alexander Trocchi 1925 1984 The book argues that these writers' preoccupations with concepts related to work such as leisure debt and various forms of neglected labour like housework allow us to rethink the British avant garde's relation to realism while posing broader questions about the production and value of post war literary avant gardism more generally Useless Activity proposes that only with an understanding of the British avant garde's engagement with the idea of work and its various corollaries can we appreciate these writers' move away from certain forms of literary realism and their contribution to the development of the modern British novel during the mid twentieth century Contemporary Trauma Narratives Jean-Michel Ganteau, Susana Onega, 2014-06-27 This book provides a comprehensive compilation of essays on the relationship between formal experimentation and ethics in a number of generically hybrid or liminal narratives dealing with individual and collective traumas running the spectrum from the testimonial novel and the fictional autobiography to the fake memoir written by a variety of famous more neglected contemporary British Irish US Canadian and German writers Building on the psychological insights and theorizing of the fathers of trauma studies Janet Freud Ferenczi and of contemporary trauma critics and theorists the articles examine the narrative strategies structural experimentations and hybridizations of forms paying special attention to the way in which the texts fight the unrepresentability of trauma by performing rather than representing it The ethicality or unethicity involved in this endeavor is assessed from the combined perspectives of the non foundational non cognitive discursive ethics of alterity inspired by Emmanuel Levinas and the ethics of vulnerability This approach makes Contemporary Trauma Narratives an excellent resource for scholars of contemporary literature trauma studies and literary theory British Avant-Garde Fiction of the 1960s Kaye Mitchell, 2019-01-22 This collection brings together a selection of original research led essays on more than a dozen avant garde British writers of the 1960s revealing this to be a crucial and crucially overlooked period of British literary history Traumatic Memory and the Ethical, Political and Transhistorical Functions of Literature Susana Onega, Constanza del Río, Maite Escudero-Alías, 2017-12-01 This volume addresses the construction and artistic representation of traumatic memories in the contemporary Western world from a variety of inter and trans disciplinary critical approaches and perspectives ranging from the cultural political historical and ideological to the ethical and aesthetic and distinguishing between individual collective and cultural traumas The chapters introduce complementary concepts from diverse thinkers including Cathy Caruth Jacques Derrida Judith Butler Homi Bhabha Abraham and Torok and Joyce Carol Oates they also draw from fields of study such as Memory Studies Theory of Affects Narrative and Genre Theory and Cultural Studies Traumatic Memory and the Political Economic and Transhistorical Functions of Literature addresses trauma as a culturally embedded phenomenon and deconstructs the idea of trauma as universal transhistorical and abstract

Eva Figes' Writings Silvia Pellicer-Ortín, 2015-10-13 This book provides a general overview of the life and literary career of the prolific writer Eva Figes placing her extensive production within the various literary movements that have shaped the last century and drawing on the main features of her works and the different stages in her production Having recourse to the tools provided by narratology and using the theoretical background of the disciplines of ethics Holocaust and trauma studies together with other related fields such as theories of artistic representation identity questions concerning Jewishness contemporary history and philosophy it carries out a comprehensive analysis of Figes's main works The main starting hypothesis explored throughout the book is that an evolution may be traced in the aesthetics employed by Figes throughout her career from her initial Modernist phase to her more realist position to depict individual and collective traumas This development is a result of her need to find a mode of representing various traumatic events that have given shape to her personal and family history and to our recent collective history from the two World Wars and the Holocaust to the social exclusion suffered by minority groups like women or the Jewish immigrant communities This evolution will be also approached thematically as there is a development from her early interest in depicting isolated male traumatised characters to the traumas suffered by women under patriarchal structures and then to the encounter with her own suffering as a Holocaust survivor The author's evolution in the topics and narrative techniques employed mirrors the different stages in the individual and collective processes of recovery from traumatic experiences from the process of acting out to the eventual healing phase Thus the conclusions detailed here will be useful not only to make Figes work known to a wider audience but also to gain an insight into the evolution of the literary tendencies of the last few decades in trying to represent some of the most horrible events of the modern age

Contemporary Jewish Writing in Britain and Ireland Bryan Cheyette, 1998-01-01 Contemporary Jewish Writing in Britain and Ireland presents a wide range of writers some at the heart of British culture others outside the mainstream who address the issue of Jewish cultural difference in Great Britain and Ireland Editor Bryan Cheyette has assembled a striking roster of writers whose extraordinary imagination and understanding of Jewish experience in Britain and Ireland have transformed English literature in recent decades They include established figures like Anita Brookner Harold Pinter and George Steiner as well as such vibrant new voices as Elena Lappin Jonathan Treitel and Jonathan Wilson As Cheyette argues the contemporary British Jewish writers in this volume defy the authority of England and the Anglo Jewish community All are risk takers who will eventually help replace narrow national narratives and gendered identities with a broader more plural diasporic culture Bryan Cheyette is a professor of English and drama at Queen Mary and Westfield College University of London He is the author of Construction of the Jew in English Literature and Society Racial Representations 1875 1945 Metafiction and Metahistory in Contemporary Women's Writing A. Heilmann, M. Llewellyn, 2007-04-11 This collection examines the dynamic experimentation of contemporary women writers from North America Australia and the UK Blurring the dichotomies of the popular and the literary the fictional and the factual the essays assembled here offer new approaches to reading contemporary women fiction writers reconfigurations of history

British Experimental Women's Fiction, 1945—1975 Andrew Radford, Hannah Van Hove, 2021-08-23 This book scrutinizes a range of relatively overlooked post WWII British women writers who sought to demonstrate that narrative prose fiction offered rich possibilities for aesthetic innovation What unites all the primary authors in this volume is a commitment to challenging the tenets of British mimetic realism as a literary and historical phenomenon This collection reassesses how British female novelists operated in relation to transnational vanguard networking clusters debates and tendencies both political and artistic The chapters collected in this volume enquire for example whether there is something fundamentally different or politically dissident about female experimental procedures and perspectives This book also investigates the processes of canon formation asking why in one way or another these authors have been sidelined or misconstrued by recent scholarship Ultimately it seeks to refine a new research archive on mid century British fiction by female novelists at least as diverse as recent and longer established work in the domain of modernist studies

Extravagant Strangers Caryl Phillips, 2010-05-05 Shakespeare called Othello an extravagant and wheeling stranger Of here and every where In this exciting anthology Caryl Phillips has collected writings by thirty nine extravagant strangers British writers who were born outside of Britain and see it with clear and critical eyes These eloquent and incisive voices prove that English literature far from being pure or homogenous has in fact been shaped and influenced by outsiders for over two hundred years Here are slave writers such as Ignatius Sancho an eighteenth century African who became a friend to Samuel Jonson and Laurence Sterne writers born in the colonies such as Thackeray Kipling and Orwell subject writers such as C L R James and V S Naipaul foreign migr s such as Joseph Conrad and Kazuo Ishiguro and postcolonial observers of the British scene such as Salman Rushdie Ben Okri and Anita Desai With this eloquent and often inspiring collection Phillips proves if proof be needed that the greatest literature is often born out of irreconcilable tensions between a writer and his or her society
