The authors all discuss the often unique ways in which literary history and cultural transfer function in peripheral and central regions against the background of shifting national borders in the last two centuries. Special attention is paid to minority and migrant groups in Northwest Europe. The present volume aims to prompt a reconsideration of the concepts of minority and migrant cultures and literatures in the past and the present day. It also suggests a new topic for further study: the importance of cultural transfer for migrant groups, whether or not they form a diaspora and their ability to create new words and to develop new identities.
