House of Commons,1860 The New Men Jon Enfield, Tony Grams comes to America at the start of the twentieth century set on becoming a new man Driven to leave poverty behind he lands a job at the Ford Motor Company that puts him at the center of a daring social and economic experiment The new century and the new auto industry are bursting with promise and everyone wants Henry Ford s Model T But Ford needs men to make it Better men New men Men tough enough and focused enough to handle the ever bigger ever faster assembly line Ford offers to double the standard wage for men who will be thrifty sober and dedicated and who will let Ford investigators into their homes to confirm it Tony has just become one of those investigators America and Ford have helped him build a new life so at first he s eager to get to work But world war labor strife and racial tension pit his increasingly powerful employer against its increasingly desperate enemies As Tony and his family come under threat from all sides and he faces losing everything he s built he must struggle with his conscience and his weaknesses to protect the people he loves

Fairy Tales Aulnoy (Madame d', Marie-Catherine),1855 English Men of Letters: Tennyson Sir Alfred Comyn Lyall,1902 Hearings Before the House Select Committee on Lobbying Activities, House of Representatives, Eighty-first Congress, Second Session, Created Pursuant to H. Res. 298 United States. Congress. House. Select Committee on Lobbying Activities,1950 The Politics and Performance of Mestizaje in Latin America Paul K Eiss,Joanne Rapport,2018-12-07 The term mestizaje is generally translated as race mixture with races typically understood as groups differentiated by skin color or other physical characteristics Yet such understandings seem contradicted by contemporary understandings of race as a cultural construct or idea rather than as a biological entity How might one then approach mestizaje in a way that is not definitionally predicated on race or at least on a modernist formulation of race as phenotypically expressed biological difference The contributors to this volume provide explorations of this question in varied Latin American contexts Mexico Guatemala Bolivia Colombia Peru from the 16th century to the present They treat mestizo acts neither as expressions of pre existing social identities nor as ideologies enforced from above but as cultural performances enacted in the in between spaces of social and political life Moreover they show how mestizo acts not only express or reinforce social hierarchies but institute or change them seeking to prove or to dismantle genealogies of race blood sex and language in public and political ways The chapters in this book originally published as a special issue of Latin American and Caribbean Ethnic Studies
