Pukur DK Powell,2022-09-27 When 12 year old Sophie Shepherd is orphaned after a motor accident she is left scarred both physically and emotionally Recovery is slow first at hospital and then living with her only blood relative her aunt Her nightmares torment her and Sophie is withdrawn and fragile But rather than support her a jealous and cruel uncle in law destroys her life all over again Dumped in rural Bangladesh without warning with an uncle she didn't even know existed who she hates and who doesn't want her there Sophie has to come to terms with grief loss and a totally alien culture Her Uncle Joshua can't abide the girl and won't entertain the idea of dealing with this headstrong teenage girl Nothing is allowed to interrupt his beloved bachelorhood and peaceful tranquility with which he has bound up and silenced his own hurts for a long time The only one he allows into his trust is the beautiful Didi who serves him faithfully Together they start to find out how to accept one other and find a way through the troubles forced upon them Sophie begins to find friends and allies in the strangest of circumstances and learns that first impressions can be wrong very wrong In the middle of all this literally is the pukur sitting there ominously calling to Sophie inexplicably bringing peace to her uncle while increasingly confronting Sophie with her demons As her nightmares threaten to consume her from within Sophie finds her fate is entirely entwined in the dark depths of the pukur

My School Lesley Scanlon,2014-12-17 Education issues feature almost daily in print media online on the radio and on television much of which focuses on the perceived deficits of students and teachers Singled out for special attention are low socio economic status SES schools which are frequently characterised by teachers and students with little investment in learning and teaching Yet within this plethora of educational discussion there is no contemporary longitudinal study of what it means to learn and teach in a disadvantaged school within the policy context of the education revolution in Australia Drawing on 500 interviews conducted over a four period with the Principal parents teachers and students at a regional low SES school this book challenges the profile of one school as represented on the My School website which publishes the results of National Assessment Program in Literacy and Numeracy NAPLAN Chapters situate the original research within an international and national educational context before exploring topics including leadership and management student behaviour constructs of the good teacher the involvement of parents in school and the digital revolution The book closes with an appraisal of the major themes that emerged from the multiple perspectives of the study This is the first book to provide a longitudinal ethnographic study of a school in Australia which examines the impact of the education revolution on the Principal parents teachers and students It comprehensively challenges the official My School representation of a low SES school and will appeal to researchers in education as well as those involved in postgraduate teacher education and sociology courses both from Australia and internationally
