Site and Composition Enis Aldallal, Husam AlWaer, Soumyen Bandyopadhyay, 2016-06-10 Site and Composition examines design strategies and tactics in site making It is concerned with the need for a renewed understanding of the site in the twenty first century and the need for a critical position regarding the continued tendency to view the site as an isolated fragment severed from its wider context The book argues revisiting the traditional instruments or means of both siting and composition in Architecture to explore their true potential in achieving connections between site and context Through the various examples studied here it is suggested that such instrumental means have the potential for achieving greater poetic outcomes The book focuses on the works of twentieth century architects of wide ranging persuasion Peter Eisenman Le Corbusier Frank Lloyd Wright Alvaro Siza Herzog and de Meuron and Charles Correa for example who have strived in quite different ways to achieve deeper engagement with the physical qualities of place and context Departing from a reconsideration of the fragment Site and Composition emphasises the role of the positive fragment in achieving both historical continuity and renewed wholeness The potential of both planimetric and sectional compositional methods are explored emphasising the importance of reciprocity between inside and outside between fragment and the whole as well as materiality Written in a clear and accessible manner this book makes vital reading for both researchers and students of architecture and urbanism

Losing Site Dr Shelley Hornstein,2013-06-28 As Ruskin suggests in his Seven Lamps of Architecture We may live without architecture and worship without her but we cannot remember without her We remember best when we experience an event in a place But what happens when we leave that place or that place no longer exists This book addresses the relationship between memory and place and asks how architecture captures and triggers memory It explores how architecture exists as a material object and how it registers as a place that we come to remember beyond the physical site itself It questions what architecture is in the broadest sense assuming that it is not simply buildings Rather architecture is considered to be the mapping of physical mental or emotional space The idea that we are all architects in some measure as we actively organize and select pathways and markers within space is central to this book s premise Each chapter provides a different example of the manifold ways in which the physical place of architecture is curated by the architecture in our mental space our imaginary toolbox when we think of a place and look at a photograph or visit a site and describe it later or send a postcard By connecting architecture with other disciplines such as geography visual culture sociology and urban studies as well as the fine and performing arts this book puts forward the idea that a conversation about architecture is not exclusively about formal isolated buildings but instead must be deepened and broadened as spatialized visualizations and experiences of place
