I was almost as hard-headed as it gets while repeatedly insisting on missing and ignoring the entire point that Mom and a few others tried to get me to realize: GET YOUR EDUCATION. I still had some great times here and there every now and then, and I can only imagine how beautiful my life would have been if I would have followed the Golden Rules. Some wonderful things have happened to me even though I still feel that I truly did not deserve or even know how to sincerely enjoy thoroughly, but on the other hand, some not-so-wonderful things have happened to me that I basically brought on myself as a direct result of not following the Golden Rules. EDUCATION IS A MUST. I know my family was not the only family that has gone through a divorce, and I know there are millions of kids who went through divorce without a scratch. I am not blaming any of my failures as a man on the pitfalls of divorce, but I can clearly see now that my character flaws were a direct hit stemming from the casualties of my parents' divorce. I did not ask to be me, and I certainly did not ask or expect to be stuck on stupid for almost three tenths of a century. It was what it was. If I would have known their divorce would eventually effect me, which I believe set the wheels in motion that turned towards me, turning out the way I have, I would have started praying that night. But I had no idea it would, and neither did they. I can only imagine how beautiful my life would have been if their marriage was meant to be, but it was not about me.
