Little Girl In A Womans Shadow:

The Myth of Persephone in Girls' Fantasy Literature Holly Blackford, 2012-04-23 In this book Blackford historicizes the appeal of the Persephone myth in the nineteenth century and traces figurations of Persephone Demeter and Hades throughout girls literature of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries She illuminates developmental patterns and anxieties in E T A Hoffmann's Nutcracker and Mouse King Louisa May Alcott's Little Women Emily Brontë's Wuthering Heights J M Barrie's Peter and Wendy Frances Hodgson Burnett's The Secret Garden E B White's Charlotte's Web J K Rowling's Harry Potter and the Chamber of Secrets Stephenie Meyer's Twilight and Neil Gaiman's Coraline The story of the young goddess's separation from her mother and abduction into the underworld is at root an expression of ambivalence about female development expressed in the various Neverlands through which female protagonists cycle and negotiate a partial return to earth The myth conveys the role of female development in the perpetuation and renewal of humankind coordinating natural and cultural orders through a hieros gamos fertility coupling rite Meanwhile popular novels such as Twilight and Coraline are paradoxically fresh because they recycle goddesses from myths as old as the seasons With this book Blackford offers a consideration of how literature for the young squares with broader canons how classics flexibly and uniquely speak through novels that enjoy broad appeal and how female traditions are embedded in novels by both men and women

Restless Shadows Ronald Kelly, 2024-02-20 He's back That was the first thought that crossed Cindy Biggs' mind when she heard of the brutal triple murder in her hometown of Coleman Yes the awful crime was nearly identical to the one performed during her hard scrabble childhood at the time of the Great Depression And strangely enough it had taken place in the same place the ruins of the old tobacco barn near the edge of Green Creek But this was 2014 not 1936 Cindy was no longer an innocent nine year old child but an elderly woman who used her gift of second sight to assist the police every now and then And the man who been mostly responsible for that mass killing in 36 Bully Hanson had been dead and in the grave for seventy seven long years Still she could not shake the overpowering feeling that he was involved in the massacre of three people and that the thirteen year old boy suspected of committing the murders was completely innocent The only way she could be certain that her suspicions were more due to intuition than senility was to return to Bedloe County And with the help of her

A Study in Shadows William Locke, 2017-11-22 Felicia Graves was puzzled The six weeks she had spent at the Pension Bocard had confused many of her conceptions and brought things before her judgment for which her standards were inadequate Not that a girl who had passed the few years of her young womanhood in the bubbling life of a garrison town could be as unsophisticated as village innocence in the play but her fresh virginal experience had been limited to what was seemly orthodox and comfortable She was shrewd enough in the appreciation of superficial vanities rightly esteeming their value as permanent elements but the baser follies of human nature had not been reached by her young eyes Her whole philosophy of life had been bound up in well ordered family systems in which the men were honest and well bred and the women either comfortable matrons or fresh minded companionable girls like herself

The Dead Fish Museum Charles D'Ambrosio, 2006-04-18 In the fall I went for walks and brought home bones The best bones weren't on trails deer and moose don't die conveniently and soon I was wandering so far into the woods that I needed a map and compass to find my way home When winter came and snow blew into the mountains burying the bones I continued to spend my days and often my nights in the woods I vaguely understood that I was doing this because I could no longer think I found relief in walking up hills When the night temperatures dropped below zero I felt visited by necessity a baseline purpose and I walked for miles my only objective to remain upright keep moving preserve warmth When I was lost I told myself stories So Charles D'Ambrosio recounted his life in Philipsburg Montana the genesis of the brilliant stories collected here six of which originally appeared in The New Yorker Each of these eight burnished terrifying masterfully crafted stories is set against a landscape that is both deeply American and unmistakably universal A son confronts his father's madness and his own hunger for connection on a misguided hike in the Pacific Northwest A screenwriter fights for his sanity in the bleak corridors of a Manhattan psych ward while lusting after a ballerina who sets herself ablaze A Thanksgiving hunting trip in Northern Michigan becomes the scene of a haunting reckoning with marital infidelity and desperation And in the magnificent title story carpenters building sets for a porn movie drift dreamily beneath a surface of sexual tension toward a racial violence they will never fully comprehend Taking place in remote cabins asylums Indian reservations the backroads of Iowa and the streets of Seattle this collection of stories as muscular and challenging as the best novels is about people who have been orphaned who have lost connection and who have exhausted the ability to generate meaning in their lives Yet in the midst of lacerating difficulty the sensibility at work in these fictions boldly insists on the enduring power of love D'Ambrosio conjures a world that is fearfully inhospitable darkly humorous and touched by glory here are characters tested by every kind of failure who struggle to remain human whose lives have been sharpened rather than numbed by adversity whose apprehension of truth and beauty has been deepened rather than defeated by their troubles Many writers speak of the abyss Charles D Ambrosio writes as if he is inside of it gazing upward and the gaze itself is redemptive a great yearning ache poignant and wondrous equal parts grit and grace A must read for everyone who cares about literary writing The Dead Fish Museum belongs on the same shelf with the best American short fiction

The Making of Women Artists in Victorian England Jo Devereux,2016-08-10 When women were admitted to the Royal Academy Schools in 1860 female art students gained a foothold in the most conservative art institution in England The Royal Female College of Art the South Kensington Schools and the Slade School of Fine Art also produced increasing numbers of women artists Their entry into a male dominated art world altered the perspective of other artists and the public They came from disparate levels of society Princess Louise the fourth daughter of Queen Victoria studied sculpture at the National Art Training School yet they all shared ambition talent and courage Analyzing their education and careers this book argues that the women who attended the art schools during the 1860s and 1870s including Kate Greenaway Elizabeth Butler Helen Allingham Evelyn De Morgan and Henrietta Rae produced work that would accommodate yet subtly challenge the orthodoxies of the fine art establishment Without their contributions Victorian art would be not simply the poorer but hardly recognizable to us today

Fiddler's Green Van Reid,2016-08-01 Opening with the long awaited wedding of Mister Walton Fiddler s Green follows Mister Walton s aide de camp Sundry Moss as he embarks on a Good Samaritan mission What seems like a harmless journey soon turns into a nearly fatal scrape as he finds himself in a strange rustic netherworld caught between two feuding and fantastical families who are determined to cover up a dark secret no matter what the cost Full of romantic yearning knockabout comedy and touching drama fans and newcomers alike will be pleased to keep company with the honorable Gentlemen of the Club This is a worthy successor to its wonderfully reviewed predecessor Mrs Roberto
