Travel and Colonialism in 21st Century Romantic Historical Fiction Paloma Fresno-Calleja, Hsu-Ming Teo, 2024-12-16

Romantic fiction has often involved stories of travel. In narratives of the journey towards love, romance often involves encounters with exotic places and peoples. When history is invoked in such stories, the past itself is exoticised and treated as other to the present to serve the purposes of romanticisation, a narrative strategy by which all manner of things, settings, characters, costumes, customs, consumables are made to perform a luxuriant otherness that amplifies the experience of love. This volume questions the reparative function of Anglophone romantic historical fiction to ask: can plots of travel and discourses of tourism empower women while narrating stories of healing for the wounds of the past? This is the first volume to consider how romanticised and exoticised women's historical fiction not only serves the purposes of armchair travel but may also replicate colonial discourse unintentionally positioning readers as neocolonial, neo-Orientalist cultural voyeurs as well as voyagers.

The Socioecology of Adult Female Patas Monkeys and Vervets in Kenya Jill Pruetz, 2015-07-22 For upper level and/or graduate level Primatology or Biological Anthropology courses. Socioecology of Adult Female Patas Monkeys and Vervet in Kenya, East Africa, provides students with a glimpse into a research project from start to finish. It discusses basic issues of studying primates and explores one of the major theories that has defined primatology for several decades. This text not only contributes detail on primate behavior but also on the ecological variables that influence primate behavior. These are often difficult to measure, but the unique environment at the study site enabled the author to address questions that are much more difficult to answer elsewhere.

Foraging for Survival Stuart A. Altmann, 1998-08-15 The result of decades of research, Foraging for Survival will be an essential reference for primatologists, behavioral ecologists, mammalogists, and nutritionists.

Entrepreneurs John Thompson, Bill Bolton, 2024-05-31 What does it take to be or to become a successful entrepreneur? Are there specific personality types that are best suited to entrepreneurship? And can these types, or rather the attributes that combine to forge them, be learned or acquired? In this book, John Thompson answers these questions and many more to let the reader see through the eyes of the entrepreneur. Entrepreneurs: Talent, Temperament, Opportunity, and Mindset introduces the world of entrepreneurship from a person-centred perspective. Part 1 builds an understanding of the entrepreneur as a person based on the key factors of talent and temperament, a unique framework for understanding and exploiting entrepreneurial opportunities. Part 1 also explores the entrepreneurial mindset and how it can be honed and strengthened. The process of starting and growing a business is then described in detail in Part 2 which also examines entrepreneurship in the context of opportunity and strategy Part 3 introduces the infrastructure and environment in which the entrepreneur has to operate and tells the stories of famous entrepreneurs through dozens of case vignettes including classic figures such as Henry Ford through to social entrepreneurs and even anti social entrepreneurs such as Al Capone This insightful empirically based take on the entrepreneur provides students with an accessible and original way into entrepreneurship Whatever their background students at all levels will value the author's accessible writing style and invaluable insights

The Principal Species of Wood Charles Henry Snow, 1908 Excerpt from The Principal Species of Wood Their Characteristic Properties The following is a brief untechnical presentation of general features characterizing economically important species of wood It is the result of notes originally brought together from many already existing sources and later augmented and verified so far as possible for the present use by personal observation The work of preparation has not been as simple as the result would indicate and although great care has been taken to check each fact errors do no doubt exist although it is not believed that there are important ones Engineers while writing upon woods have save exceptionally emphasized strength beyond most other properties Other works for expert foresters or botanists are of necessity too special voluminous fragmental or technical for the casual student Some popular books on trees as distinct from woods are available The present form is distinct from these and is intended for those who are not foresters or botanists but who use woods or desire knowledge of their distinguishing properties Allusions to trees historical and other references aside from those directly regarding woods are made for completeness and in order to mark distinguish or separate the species

The Beauty of the Flower Stephen A. Harris, 2023-08-25 Blooming with rare archival images the story of scientific botanical illustrations over nearly seven hundred years In a world flooded with images designed to create memories validate perceptions and influence others botanical illustration is about something much more focused creating technically accurate depictions of plants Reproductions of centuries old botanical illustrations frequently adorn greeting cards pottery and advertising to promote heritage or generate income yet their art is scientific intended to record display and transmit scientific data The Beauty of the Flower tells the backstory of these images showing us how scientific botanical illustrations are collaborations among artists scientists and publishers It explores the evolution and interchanges of these illustrations since the mid fifteenth century how they have been used to communicate scientific ideas about plants and how views of botanical imagery change Featuring unique images rarely seen outside of specialist literature this book reveals the fascinating stories behind these remarkable illustrations
