Chemical Soldiers Donald C. Richter, 1992 They were sometimes the butt of jokes the comical chemical corporals Officially they were the British Special Brigade sent to retaliate against German chemical warfare selected as one of their members said almost willy nilly They wanted chemists a young recruit later recalled so I looked up the formula for water and told them it was H₂O and I was in Tales From The Trenches Mary Cole,2014-08-01 The First World War Stories of Corporal Alexander Norman 2nd Battalion Essex Regiment As told to his daughter Mary Cole Growing up during the Second World War Mary Cole s father Alexander Norman would tell her tales of his own experiences in the trenches of the First World War After his death in 1974 Mary set about researching the background to the stories she had heard her entire life making pilgrimages to the battlefields he fought on as she did to create this volume recording his stories and experiences

Deathscapes James D. Sidaway,2016-05-13 Death is at once a universal and everyday but also an extraordinary experience in the lives of those affected Death and bereavement are thereby intensified at and frequently contained within certain sites and regulated spaces such as the hospital the cemetery and the mortuary However death also affects and unfolds in many other spaces the home public spaces and places of worship sites of accident tragedy and violence Such spaces or Deathscapes are intensely private and personal places while often simultaneously being shared collective sites of experience and remembrance each place mediated through the intersections of emotion body belief culture society and the state Bringing together geographers sociologists anthropologists cultural studies academics and historians among others this book focuses on the relationships between space place and death bereavement in western societies Addressing three broad themes the place of death the place of final disposition and spaces of remembrance and representation the chapters reflect a variety of scales ranging from the mapping of bereavement on the individual or in private domestic space through to sites of accident battle burial cremation and remembrance in public space The book also examines social and cultural changes in death and bereavement practices including personalisation and secularisation Other social trends are addressed by chapters on green and garden burial negotiating emotion in public private space remembrance of violence and disaster and virtual space A meshing of material and more than representational approaches consider the nature culture economy and politics of Deathscapes what are in effect some of the most significant places in human society

After the Ruins Hugh Clout,1996 After the Ruins uses both official and unofficial records to explore a relatively ignored aspect of recent rural history how the fields farms villages and market towns of Northern France were restored during the 1920s in the aftermath of the Great War The book contains illustrations and many detailed maps and makes use of both official reports and unofficial critical commentaries Awarded for Valour M. Smith,2008-06-23 Based on primary source research this is the most comprehensive history of the Victoria Cross available tracing the evolution of the award from its inception in 1856 to the most recent bestowals The study also examines the evolution of the concept of heroism and how the definition of heroism changed along with the nature of warfare

Geography and Political Power Peter M. Slowe, 2015-11-19 Focusing on the relationship between geography and power this book originally published in 1990 isolates five sources of political power might right nationhood legality and legitimacy and demonstrates the centrality of geography to the argument of each case The author stresses the value of geographical expertise to political decision making and illustrates this through the use of case studies His analysis of the sources of power goes deep into an understanding of politics and explores the implications for geography of political thought The Battles and Battle Fields of Yorkshire William Grainge,1854

The Beauty and the Sorrow Peter Englund,Peter Graves,2012-09-04 An intimate narrative history of World War I told through the stories of twenty men and women from around the globe a powerful illuminating heart rending picture of what the war was really like In this masterful book renowned historian Peter Englund describes this epoch defining event by weaving together accounts of the average man or woman who experienced it Drawing on the diaries journals and letters of twenty individuals from Belgium Denmark France Great Britain Germany Austria Hungary Italy Australia New Zealand Russia Venezuela and the United States Englund s collection of these varied perspectives describes not a course of events but a world of feeling Composed in short chapters that move between the home front and the front lines The Beauty and Sorrow brings to life these twenty particular people and lets them speak for all who were shaped in some way by the War but whose voices have remained unheard Shared Space: Divided Space Michael Chisholm,David M. Smith,2016-01-29 This specially commissioned volume of original essays first published in 1990 provides a unique view of conflict territorial behaviour and reconciliation between groups social racial religious and nationalist within states in both the developed and the developing worlds The volume as a whole shows the wide range of geographical solutions which have been adopted in attempts to limit conflict and foster stability This title underlines the importance of a geographical perspective on intergroup conflict and reconciliation and provides a broad range of real world experience in carefully chosen case studies Shared Space Divided Space will be of interest students of the social sciences as well as to general readers who will find this title to be accessible and authoritative The Cumulative Book Index ,1991 A world list of books in the English language The Great War as I Saw It (WWI Centenary Series) Frederick George Scott,2016-03-10 May the ears of Canada never grow deaf to the plea of widows and orphans and our crippled men for care and support May the eyes of Canada never be blind to that glorious light which shines upon our young national life from the deeds of those Who counted not their lives dear unto themselves and may the lips of Canada never be dumb to tell to future generations the tales of heroism which will kindle the imagination and fire the patriotism of children that are yet unborn This book is part of the World War One Centenary series creating collating and reprinting new and old works of poetry fiction autobiography and analysis The series forms a commemorative tribute to mark the passing of one of the world s bloodiest wars offering new perspectives on this tragic yet fascinating period of human history Each publication also includes brand new introductory essays and a timeline to help the reader place the work in its historical context Monuments and the Millennium Jeanne Marie Teutonico,John Fidler,2001 Twenty four papers taken from an international conference on conservation issues concerning public sculpture and monuments held at the Victoria and Albert Museum in 1998 The papers are divided by subject into those that deal with approaches to art historical conservation and inventory issues others which discuss technical approaches case studies and discussions of the future and commissioning of new public sculpture The authors derive from a range of different backgrounds including English Heritage Imperial War Museum art galleries conservation architects Historic Scotland university departments

Re-Imagining the First World War Anna Branach-Kallas, Nelly Strehlau, 2015-09-18

In the Preface to his ground breaking The Great War and Modern Memory 1975 Paul Fussell claimed that the dynamics and iconography of the Great War have proved crucial political rhetorical and artistic determinants on subsequent life Forty years after the publication of Fussell's study the contributors to this volume reconsider whether the myth generated by World War I is still part of the fiber of people's lives in English speaking countries What is the place of the First World War in cultural memory today How have the literary means for remembering the war changed since the war Can anything new be learned from the effort to re imagine the First World War after other bloody conflicts of the 20th century A variety of answers to these questions are provided in Re-Imagining the First World War New Perspectives in Anglophone Literature and Culture which explores the Great War in British Irish Canadian Australian and post colonial contexts The contributors to this collection write about the war from a literary perspective reinterpreting poetry fiction letters and essays created during or shortly after the war exploring contemporary discourses of commemoration and presenting in depth studies of complex conceptual issues such as gender and citizenship Re-Imagining the First World War also includes historical philosophical and sociological investigations of the first industrialised conflict of the 20th century which focus on responses to the Great War in political discourse life writing music and film from the experience of missionaries isolated during the war in the Arctic and Asia through colonial encounters exploring the role of Irish Chinese and Canadian First Nations soldiers during the war to the representation of war in the world famous series Downton Abbey and the 2013 album released by contemporary Scottish rock singer Fish The variety of themes covered by the essays here not only confirms the significance of the First World War in memory today but also illustrates the necessity of developing new approaches to the first global conflict and of commemorating new victims and agents of war If modes of remembrance have changed with the postmodern ethical shift in historiography and cultural studies which encourages the exploration of other subjectivities in war so far concealed affinities and reverberations are still being discovered on the macro and micro historical levels the Western and other fronts the battlefield and the home front Although it has been a hundred years since the outbreak of hostilities there is a need for increased sensitivity to the tension between commemoration and contestation and to re member re conceptualise and re imagine the Great War
