Floods Droughts Proc 2nd Symp Hydrolog:

Drought and Drought Mitigation in Europe Jürgen V. Vogt, Francesca Somma, 2013-04-17 Drought is one of the major natural hazards resulting in significant economic social and environmental costs In Europe water shortage is an important problem in many regions However despite the increasing awareness of this hazard there is no European drought policy and institutional frameworks to cope with drought situations are only weakly developed This book is dedicated to furthering our understanding of the drought problem in Europe and to discussing policy and management options to mitigate its impacts It covers aspects from the detection of water stress to the planning of mitigation strategies The contributions are written by recognised experts in their field and represent a unique collection of papers on the topic Audience The book will be of benefit to scientists managers and politicians involved in problems related to water management risk assessment and spatial planning Students in Earth Sciences especially in geography climatology hydrology and agriculture will find useful material in this collection of papers

Advances in Urban Flood Management Richard Ashley, Stephen Garvin, Erik Pasche, Andreas Vassilopoulos, Chris Zevenbergen, 2007-02-01 One of the effects of global climate change is the increasing variability of extreme flood events and cyclones Current measures to mitigate flood impacts particularly in the urban environment are based on previously planned flood risk intervals and no longer provide sufficient protection Being prepared for unexpected changes and extreme flood events asks for a paradigm shift in current strategies to avoid and manage flood disasters In order to stem the increasing impact of urban floods a major rethink of current planning and flood management policies and practice is required taking into account different spatial and temporal scales This book addresses a broad spectrum of relevant issues in the emerging field of urban flood management It may act as a stimulus for further research and development in urban flood management while informing and engaging stakeholders in the promotion of integrated and cooperative approaches in water management An interdisciplinary approach which will be of interest to all those who are active in water risk and urban management

Proceedings: Symposium on Statistical Hydrology Held at Tucson, Arizona, August 31 - September 2, 1971, 1974 The Symposium on Statistical Hydrology has been developed to facilitate discussions between hydrologists and statisticians on problems in hydrology and the application of probabilistic and statistical methodologies to their investigation and solution

Hydrologic Frequency Modeling V.P. Singh, 2012-12-06 Floods constitute a persistent and serious problem throughout the United States and many other parts of the world They are responsible for losses amounting to billions of dollars and scores of deaths annually Virtually all parts of the nation coastal mountainous and rural are affected by them Two aspects of the problem of flooding that have long been topics of scientific inquiry are flood frequency and risk analyses Many new even improved techniques have recently been developed for performing these analyses Nevertheless actual experience points out that the frequency of say a 100 year flood in lieu of being encountered on the average once in one hundred years may be as little as once in 25 years It is therefore appropriate to pause and ask where we are where we are going and where we ought to be going with regard to the technology of flood frequency and risk analyses One way to address these questions is to provide a forum where people from all quarters of the world can assemble discuss and share their experience and expertise pertaining to flood frequency and risk analyses This is what constituted the motivation for organizing the International Symposium on Flood Frequency and Risk Analyses held May 14 17 1986 at Louisiana State University Baton Rouge Louisiana Selected Water Resources Abstracts ,1991

Hoffman,1980 Pioneering Works on Extreme Value Theory Nobuaki Hoshino,Shuhei Mano,Takaaki Shimura,2021-06-04 This book presents the state of the art in extreme value theory with a collection of articles related to a seminal paper on the bivariate extreme value distribution written by Professor Masaaki Sibuya in 1960 demonstrating various developments of the original idea over the last half century Written by active researchers the unique combination of articles allows readers to gain a sense of the excellence of the field ranging from theory to practice and the tradition of theoretical developments motivated by practically important issues such as tsunamis and financial crises The contributions discuss a range of topics including the parameter estimation of the generalized beta distribution resampling with the empirical beta copula and regression analysis on imbalanced binary data as well as the semiparametric estimation of the upper bound of extrema the long term analysis of extreme precipitation over Japanese river basins and various rules of thumb in hydrology Stochastic Water Resources Technology N. T Kottegoda,1980-06-18 Hydrology and Water Law - Bridging the Gap J. Wallace,Patricia Wouters,2006-04-30 With integrated water resources management IWRM the current buzzword in international circles the real question is how to operationalise a truly multidisciplinary approach to the effective management of shared watercourses Based largely on the actual experience of HELP Hydrology for the Environment Life and Policy the overall aim of the book is to produce a series of case studies from around the world from the Aral Sea to Zimbabwe that demonstrate how the gaps between hydrology water law and management are actually bridged in practice Is hydrological data relevant and used in the formulation of national and international water law and policy Cases cited include examples of where this has happened and been successful or unsuccessful and where this has not happened and led to problems This will act as a guide to how future water laws and policies can be made more effective via the use of accurate and up to date hydrological information Runoff Prediction in Ungauged Basins Günter Blöschl,2013-04-18 A synthesis of international catchment hydrology research for researchers and professionals in hydrology soil science and
