L'Assommoir Emile Zola, 2015-12-29 CHAPTER I Gervaise had waited up for Lantier until two in the morning Then shivering from having remained in a thin loose jacket exposed to the fresh air at the window she had thrown herself across the bed drowsy feverish and her cheeks bathed in tears For a week past on leaving the Two Headed Calf where they took their meals he had sent her home with the children and never reappeared himself till late at night alleging that he had been in search of work That evening while watching for his return she thought she had seen him enter the dancing hall of the Grand Balcony the ten blazing windows of which lighted up with the glare of a conflagration the dark expanse of the exterior Boulevards and five or six paces behind him she had caught sight of little Adele a burnisher who dined at the same restaurant swinging her hands as if she had just quitted his arm so as not to pass together under the dazzling light of the globes at the door When towards five o'clock Gervaise awoke stiff and sore she broke forth into sobs Lantier had not returned For the first time he had slept away from home She remained seated on the edge of the bed under the strip of faded chintz which hung from the rod fastened to the ceiling by a piece of string And slowly with her eyes veiled by tears she glanced round the wretched lodging furnished with a walnut chest of drawers minus one drawer three rush bottomed chairs and a little greasy table on which stood a broken water jug There had been added for the children an iron bedstead which prevented any one getting to the chest of drawers and filled two thirds of the room Gervaise's and Lantier's trunk wide open in one corner displayed its emptiness and a man's old hat right at the bottom almost buried beneath some dirty shirts and socks whilst against the walls above the articles of furniture hung a shawl full of holes and a pair of trousers begrimed with mud the last rags which the dealers in second hand clothes declined to buy In the centre of the mantel piece lying between two odd zinc candle sticks was a bundle of pink pawn tickets It was the best room of the hotel the first floor room looking on to the Boulevard
