The Labour Church Jacqueline Turner, 2018-02-28 The Labour Church was an organisation fundamental to the British socialist movement during the formative years of the Independent Labour Party ILP and Labour Party between 1891 and 1914 It was founded by the Unitarian Minister John Trevor in Manchester in 1891 and grew rapidly thereafter Its political credentials were on display at the inaugural conference of the ILP in 1893 and the Labour Church proved a formative influence on many pioneers of British socialism This book provides an analysis of the Labour Church its religious doctrine its socio political function and its role in the cultural development of the early socialist arm of the labour movement It includes a detailed examination of the Victorian morality and spirituality upon which the life of the Labour Church was built Jacqui Turner challenges previously held assumptions that the Labour Church was irreligious and merely a political tool She provides a new cultural picture of a diverse and inclusive organisation committed to individualism and an individual relationship with God As such this book brings together two major controversies of late Victorian Britain the emergence of independent working class politics and the decline of traditional religion in a work which will be essential reading for all those interested in the history of the labour movement Defining the Victorian Nation Catherine Hall, Keith McClelland, Jane Rendall, 2000-05-25 Defining the Victorian Nation offers a fresh perspective on one of the most significant pieces of legislation in nineteenth century Britain Hall McClelland and Rendall demonstrate that the Second Reform Act was marked by controversy about the extension of the vote new concepts of masculinity and the masculine voter the beginnings of the women's suffrage movement and a parallel debate about the meanings and forms of national belonging. Fascinating illustrations illuminate the argument and a detailed chronology, biographical notes and a selected bibliography offer further support to the student reader.

Britain, 1846-1964 Martin Roberts, 2001. The aim of this book is to explain how Britain's circumstances changed between 1846-1964. Britain in 1846 was by far the richest nation in the world. In 1964 Britain was comparatively much less rich than the USA and though amongst the world's richest nations was losing ground to Japan and to Western Europe. Because of her wealth and her navy Britain in 1846 was the most powerful nation in the world. Britain in 1964 was dwarfed by the superpowers of the USA and the USSR. The British Empire of the 1840s reflected Britain's power. By 1964 the Empire was collapsing. Only one in five men and no women could vote in the Britain of 1840s. By 1964 Britain was fully democratic with all adults entitled to vote. In a period of a little over a century these were some of the changes to which Britain had to adapt. It was a period that marked a substantial fall in Britain's comparative power and prosperity in the world.

People's Champion Terence Bowman, 1997. When Alexander Bowman was elected in Belfast Corporation as Labour member in Duncairn in 1897, the very idea that he would still be remembered a century later for his relentless championing of the working class cause appeared unthinkable Yet Bowman a near penniless flaxdresser from a humble farming background richly deserves his place in Irish political and labour history Twelve years earlier in 1885 following his key role in the birth of organised trade unionism in Belfast he had been the first working class Irishman to seek a seat at Westminster His subsequent support for Gladstone's Home Rule bill and the Dublin parliament which he believed offered the best hope of bringing together Irish people of all persuasions attracted much criticism Forced to leave Belfast in 1888 he found himself immersed in the embryonic socialist movements first in Glasgow and then in London Returning with new ideas to the Belfast trade union fold in 1895 he won the Corporation seat two years later and in 1901 was elected President of the Irish Trade Union Congress This biography by his journalist great grandson Terence Bowman pays long overdue tribute to a labour pioneer who at great personal cost dedicated his life sufficiently to the welfare of the working classes to earn their and now our respect as a People's Champion

Prophet John Wroe Edward Green,2005-06-23 Prophet John Wroe 1782 1863 found fame through his many predictions his preaching and the establishment of the Christian Israelite Church in the early 1820s Edward Green places Wroe s life and career in the context of an industrialised society struggling to find values and needing to believe in themselves as the Chosen People Striking a Light Louise Raw,2011-03-10 In July 1888 fourteen hundred women and girls employed by the matchmakers Bryant and May walked out of their East End factory and into the history books Louise Raw gives us a challenging new interpretation of events proving that the women themselves not celebrity socialists like Annie Besant began it She provides unequivocal evidence to show that the matchwomen greatly influenced the Dock Strike of 1889 which until now was thought to be the key event of new unionism and repositions them as the mothers of the modern labour movement Returning to the stories of the women themselves and by interviewing their relatives today Raw is able to construct a new history which challenges existing accounts of the strike itself and radically alters the accepted history of the labour movement in Britain

Ashton,Robert Fyson,Stephen Roberts,1995 The bibliography includes an introductory essay by Dorothy Thompson and will be of immense value to researchers teachers and students of labour and social history and Victorian studies in universities and schools Lyric and Labour in the Romantic

Tradition Anne F. Janowitz,1998-08-06 Lyric and Labour in the Romantic Tradition first published in 1998 examines the legacy of Romantic poetics in the poetry produced in political movements during the nineteenth century It argues that a communitarian tradition of poetry extending from the 1790s to the 1890s learned from and incorporated elements of Romantic lyricism and produced an ongoing and self conscious tradition of radical poetics Showing how romantic lyricism arose as an engagement between the forces of reason and custom Anne Janowitz examines the ways in which this Romantic dialectic infected the writings of political poets from Thomas Spence to William Morris The book includes new readings of familiar Romantic poets including Wordsworth and Shelley and investigates the range of poetic genres in the 1790s In the case studies which follow it examines relatively unknown Chartist and Republican poets such as Ernest Jones and W J Linton showing their affiliation to the Romantic tradition and making the case for the persistence of Romantic problematics in radical political culture
