J. R. Linge, G. A. van der Knaap, 1989-01-01 Economy Ron Martin, 2017-11-30 Economic geographers have always argued that space is key to understanding the economy that the processes of economic growth and development do not occur uniformly across geographic space but rather differ in degree and form as between different nations regions cities and localities with major implications for the geographies of wealth and welfare This was true in the industrial phase of global capitalism and is no less true in the contemporary era of post industrial knowledge driven global capitalism Indeed the marked changes occurring in the structure and operation of the economy in the sources of wealth creation in the organisation of the firm in the nature of work in the boundaries between market and state and in the regulation of the socio economy have stimulated an unprecedented wave of theoretical conceptual and empirical enquiry by economic geographers Even economists who traditionally have viewed the economy in non spatial terms as existing on the head of the proverbial pin are increasingly recognising the importance of space place and location to understanding economic growth technological innovation competitiveness and globalisation This collection of previously published work though containing but a fraction of the huge explosion in research and publication that has occurred over the past two decades seeks to convey a sense of this exciting phase in the intellectual development of the discipline and its importance in grasping the spatialities of contemporary economic life Labour Law and Climate Change Tiziano Treu, Adalberto Perulli, 2023-09-14 Although the existential threat of climate change has at last been generally acknowledged its influence on the labour market and the regulation of labour relations remains ambivalent at best This supremely important volume with contributions by thirteen prominent labour law practitioners and academics shows how labour law not only can but absolutely must assume a greater role in the debate on the climate crisis and move towards a new eco friendly labour paradigm Committed to the proposition that employment must come to terms with the natural environment and open a new chapter in the relationship between human work and the Earth the authors examine critical issues and perspectives on the role of labour law in a just ecological transition focusing on such aspects as the following negative externalities associated with the value chains production model in effectiveness of corporate social responsibility and sustainability initiatives protection of human rights from violations attributable to private sector activities protection of whistleblowers need for professional training in new occupations environmental migrants reskilling and active inclusion of workers and jobseekers role of remote work and flexible working time and evaluation and reward of employees The impact of the green transition on industrial activities is already creating strong tensions among the social parties leading inevitably to massive restructuring of enterprises and relocation of thousands of workers This detailed analysis of the implications of climate change for the labour contract and the industrial relations system provides appropriate tools to understand trends and possible solutions for the future It will be welcomed by managers consultants corporate lawyers judges human rights experts trade unionists researchers and professors placed at the nexus of labour industrial relations and social rights in Europe and worldwide

Social Reconstructions of the World Automobile Industry Frederic C. Deyo, 2016-07-27 This book assesses the varying ways in which automobile assemblers in several countries of East and Southeast Asia Europe and the Americas have sought to enhance their efficiency and flexibility in response to heightened global competition during the 1980s and early 1990s It then explores the implications of such managerial strategies for workers and trade unions and the responses of unions in seeking to preserve or enhance worker welfare and voice under industrial restructuring

Work-place Jamie Peck, 1996-04-06 Challenging the prevailing idea that labor markets are governed by universal economic processes this significant work argues instead that labor markets develop in tandem with social and political institutions and thus function in locally specific ways Focusing on the complex social processes that lie at the heart of the labor market the author offers a provocative new perspective and proposes new ways of conducting research in the area

Commodity Chains and Global Capitalism Gary Gereffi, Miguel Korzeniewicz, 1993-11-30 The current restructuring of the world economy under global capitalism has further integrated international trade and production It thus has brought to the fore the key role of commodity chains in the relationships of capital labor and states Commodity chains are most simply defined as the link between successive processes of manufacturing that result in a final product available for individual consumption Each production site in the chain involves organizing the acquisition of necessary raw materials plus semifinished inputs the recruitment of labor power and its provisioning arranging transportation to the next site and the construction of modes of distribution via markets and transfers and consumption The contributors to this volume explore and elaborate the global commodity chains GCCs approach which reformulates the basic conceptual categories for analyzing varied patterns of global organization and change The GCC framework allows the authors to pose questions about development issues past and present that are not easily handled by previous paradigms and to more adequately forge the macro micro links between processes that are generally assumed to be discretely contained within global national and local units of analysis The paradigm that GCCs embody is a network centered historical approach that probes above and below the level of the nation state to better analyze structure and change in the contemporary world

Handbook of Research on Climate Change and the Sustainable Financial Sector Olarewaju, Odunayo Magret, Ganiyu, Idris Olayiwola, 2021-06-25 Climate change is a major problem generating both risks and opportunities that will have a direct impact on the economy and the financial sector. In recent years climate change has threatened both the survival of the financial system and economic development. The growing occurrence of extreme climate events combined with the imprudent nature of economic growth can cause unsustainable levels of harm to the financial sectors. On the other hand it presents a range of new business challenges. In contrast to the most evident physical risks companies are vulnerable to transformational risks that arise from the reaction of society to climate change such as technological change regulation and markets that can boost the cost of doing business threats to the profitability of existing goods or effects on the value of the asset. Climate change also offers new business opportunities and it has made research in the context of a sustainable financial sector indispensable. The Handbook of Research on Climate Change and the Sustainable Financial Sector focuses on the impacts of climate change on various sectors of the world economy. This book covers how businesses can improve their sustainability the impact of climate change on the financial sector and specifically the impacts on financial services supply chains and the socio economic status of the world. Beyond focusing on the impacts to the financial industry itself this book assesses how climate change in the financial sector affects the well being of society in areas such as unemployment economic recessions decreases in consumer purchases and more. This book is essential for stockbrokers business managers directors fund managers financial analysts consultants and actuaries institutional investors policymakers practitioners researchers academicians and students interested in a comprehensive view of the impact of climate change on the financial sector.

Technological Change in a Spatial Context Enrico Ciciotti, Neil Alderman, Alfred Thwaites, 2012-12-06 This book represents a selection of contributions to the Regional Science Association European Summer Institute held at Arco Lake of Garda Italy from 17th to 23rd July 1988 on the theme of Theories and policies of technological development at the local level. As such it forms a complementary volume to the collection of invited papers entitled The Spatial Context of Technological Development edited by Professors Riccardo Cappellin and Peter Nijkamp and published by Avebury Gower. The Summer Institute covered a broad range of themes and contributions from over 100 researchers. It has therefore not been our intention to represent or replicate these themes directly but to provide as wide an international coverage of current research in regional science in the field of technological change as possible. The papers to be found in this book are drawn from the European Community Eastern Europe Scandinavia North America and elsewhere. Inevitably as the book was to be published in English most of the editorial work has been undertaken at the Centre for Urban and Regional Development Studies at Newcastle University. In so doing we have attempted to standardize the English as far as possible whilst trying not to lose the characteristics of the styles of the individual authors.

Industrial Change and Regional Economic Transformation Lloyd Rodwin, Hidehiko

The Transformation of Human Resource Management and Industrial Relations in Vietnam Anne Vo,2009-05-15 This essential reference reviews recruitment and selection training and development performance management and union relations in a sample of multi national companies MNCs and local firms in Vietnam It addresses the transfer of human resources management HRM systems across borders and the transformation of HRM practices in Vietnam in the context of a developing and transitional economy The book extensively examines the attraction of younger generations to HRM systems in developing countries the brain drain phenomenon and the local firms potentially losing commercial competitiveness in their own country The book also reviews the catalyst role of MCNs in the management of human resources Covers HRM in Vietnam an area barely covered in other books Covers two of the most important types of enterprises in Vietnam multinational companies and state owned enterprises Contributes to knowledge in a number of key areas including globalisation social transformation and diffusion of best practice by multinational corporations

North American Auto Unions in Crisis William C. Green,Ernest J. Yanarella,1996-02-01 In this edited volume U S and Canadian political scientists sociologists and labor educators contribute to the debate of the crisis of the Fordist regime of mass production and its implications for organized labor They present the first comparative cross national study of the labor relations in Japanese North American automobile transplants Japanese joint ventures with the Big Three automakers and Japanese style General Motors auto plants They specifically focus on the challenges the Japanese lean production model has posed to North American auto labor s organizing collective bargaining and shop floor representation experiences and how the United Auto Workers and the Canadian Auto Workers have responded to these challenges The authors point to the pressing need for the North American labor movement whose legal rights are rooted in a mass production regime to rethink its interests and goals if it is to successfully confront the formidable obstacles presented by a changing international and hemispheric political economy increasingly dominated by Japanese lean production practices

Energy, Environment and Economic Transformation in China Shiyi Chen,2018-10-24 China has achieved rapid economic growth since the market oriented reform in 1978 and became the second largest economy in the world in 2010 However the growth model in China is still extensive in nature and may be characterized with high energy consumption and heavy environmental pollutions etc In fact China has successively become the largest carbon emitter since 2007 and the largest energy consumer since 2009 in the world This book endeavors to analyze whether such energy driven and environment restricted economic growth can be sustainable in China in the long run The book describes the basic situations of energy consumption and environmental pollution in China from the dimensions of industries regions and energy types It also introduces the evolution of energy and environmental policies implemented in China In particular this book makes use of the environmental activity analysis model to assess the sustainable transformation of economic model in Chinese industries and regions This model captures the negative externalities of pollutants and estimates the environmental total factor productivity accurately The possibilities of win win development and double dividend are also forecasted This book proposes new methods to measure the environmental total factor productivity evaluate the process of low carbon transformation quantify the structural bonus estimate the abating cost and forecast the win win development and so on Researchers may find these methodologies useful for measuring other pollutants and for analysis in other countries

Post-colonial struggles for a democratic Southern Africa Carolyn Bassett, Marlea Clarke, 2017-06-26 National liberation one of the grand narratives of the twentieth century has left a weighty legacy of unfulfilled dreams This book explores the ongoing struggle for legitimate accountable political leaders in postcolonial Southern Africa focussing on dilemmas arising when ex liberation movements form the governments While the spread of multi party democracy to most countries in the region is to be celebrated democratic practice often has been superficial a limited elitist politics that relies on the symbols of the liberation struggle to legitimate de facto one party rule and authoritarian practices Using country cases from Tanzania Swaziland Zimbabwe South Africa and Zambia the collection explores three subthemes relevant to postcolonial governance in Southern Africa how the struggle for liberation shapes the character of political transformation the nature of rule in one party dominant states headed by former liberation movements and the processes of governance and resistance in post liberation contexts This book was published as a special issue of the Journal of Contemporary African Studies
