

The Anniversary

ALL kings, and all their favourites,
 All glory of honours, beauties, wits,
 The sun it self, which makes time, as they pass,
 Is elder by a year now than it was
 When thou and I first one another saw.
 All other things to their destruction draw,
 Only our love hath no decay ;
 This no to-morrow hath, nor yesterday ;
 Running it never runs from us away,
 But truly keeps his first, last, everlasting day.

Two graves must hide thine and my corse ;
 If one might, death were no divorce.
 Alas ! as well as other princes, we â??Who prince enough in one another beâ??
 Must leave at last in death these eyes and ears,
 Oft fed with true oaths, and with sweet salt tears ;
 But souls where nothing dwells but love
 â??All other thoughts being inmatesâ??then shall prove
 This or a love increasâ??d there above,
 When bodies to their graves, souls from their graves remove.

And then we shall be thoroughly blest ;
 But now no more than all the rest.
 Here upon earth we're kings, and none but we
 Can be such kings, nor of such subjects be.
 Who is so safe as we? where none can do
 Treason to us, except one of us two.
 True and false fears let us refrain,
 Let us love nobly, and live, and add again
 Years and years unto years, till we attain
 To write threescore ; this is the second of our reign.
