With a Chapter in Bagatelle* ,1873 This Thing Called Reason Benjamin K. Akih,2025-05-06 This book offers a conceptual analysis of reason proposing a plausible theory to resolve persistent vagueness in the historical use of the concept The proposed theory leads to the view that reason is fundamentally subjective and dependent on non inferential matters of faith Despite the inherent subjectivity we can arrive at a consensus in reasoning exercises because we all participate in a universal minimum religion that grounds all reasoning True atheism is therefore impossible This analysis bears on debates about the relation between faith and reason as well as the relation between ethics based on reason and ethics based on sentiments The book further shows that this new and original view of religiously constrained reason ought to equally inform our thinking about applied ethics such as politics law and economics      Bioethics in Africa: Theories and Praxis Yaw A.

Frimpong-Mansoh, Caesar A. Atuire, 2019-07-30 Bioethics urges us to question and debate fundamental moral issues that arise in health related sciences However as a result of Western dominance and globalization bioethical thinking and practice has inevitably been shaped and defined by Western theories With recent discussions centering on the relationship between culture and bioethics it is important to consider how and to what extent can bioethics reflect and accommodate non Western values and beliefs Debatably many scholars working in the field of African bioethics seek to construct a bioethical practice that is grounded in indigenous African values Yet how relevant are ancient African cultural norms to the lives and realities of the 21st century Sub Saharan Africans This edited volume explores bioethics in Africa from pluralistic and inter cultural perspectives The selected papers offer diverse theoretical and practical perspectives on the bioethical challenges that are common and specific to the lives of Sub Sahara Africans The contributors define bioethics broadly beyond ethical issues relating to biomedical and biotechnological science to include applied ethics that concern all aspects of life Multidisciplinary in approach the contributions to this book consider bioethics in relation to philosophy social work psychiatry African studies religious studies psychology and medicine The broad scope of this volume means it will be of interest to those studying and working in bioethics as well as the fields mentioned above      Religion and Law in South Africa Charles Maimela, 2019-05-15

Africa Academics and researchers will appreciate its value as a thorough but concise treatment of the legal aspects of diversity and multiculturalism in which religion plays such an important part      To the Bridge Yasuko Thanh, 2023-05-30

From the bestselling author of Mistakes to Run With a heartrending tale of a mother hell bent on saving her family after her daughter's suicide attempt despite the destruction it might mean for herself When Rose's seventeen year old daughter Juliet attempts suicide she does everything she can to hold her family together despite the inevitable unraveling that follows Her husband Syd thinks their daughter is fine that she's going through a phase and tells Rose she's overreacting as do the doctors the school principal and even Juliet herself But Rose knows her daughter better than anyone Doesn't she Rose and Juliet begin to drift apart and then fade into each other until they aren't sure who's saving whom or if they're saving each other As Rose struggles to navigate this unknown territory the family unwittingly makes decisions that suddenly send them all into an escalated tailspin toward disaster Capturing the tightly coiled tension of seeing someone on the edge of a bridge about to jump Yasuko Thanh takes us on a journey into the psyche of a woman grappling to understand why her daughter would want to die and how to protect her child when she's chosen not to protect herself Haunting emotional and unforgettable To the Bridge shows how a bridge is not something to leap from but something to cross how a mother and her daughter can find a way to connect even when there is a river of difference raging between them      The Taste for Ethics Christian Coff, 2006-02-14 This book marks a new departure in ethics which has up to now been a question of the good life in relation to other people based on Greek concepts of friendship and the Judaeo-Christian caritas No early moral teaching discussed man's relation to the origin of foodstuffs and the system that produced them doubtless the question was of little interest since the production path was so short      Normative Justification of a Global Ethic Uchenna B. Okeja, 2013 The focus of this book is the normativity of global ethic Over the years different cultures and civilizations have been brought closer than never before by globalization This trend has both its negative and positive dimensions Overall the main problem of this present trend of societal organization and human interaction called globalization is a moral issue namely the question how should we treat one another Okeja's global ethic seeks to answer this question It underscores that we should treat one another in our current age of globalization in accordance with the Golden Rule principle The suggestion of this ethic is therefore that we should not treat others the way we would not want to be treated This sounds simple enough The problem however is that it is not exactly clear what this principle of moral conduct would suggest in both simple and complex moral situations Most importantly it is not clear why it is reasonable to treat people the way we would not want to be treated Why in other words should we act in accordance with the Golden Rule principle What is the justification of the demand the Golden Rule makes on us This book answers these and other questions about the normative plausibility of the Golden Rule and thus global ethic from the comparative perspective of ethics in African philosophy It analyzes three stages of the possible normative justification of the moral imperative of global ethic and proposes a deliberative form of justification      Catalogue
