Eugenics And Modernization In Interwar Romania:

Eugenics and Modernization in Interwar Romania Maria Bucur, 2002-02-20 Eugenics movements gained momentum throughout Eastern Europe between World Wars I and II Maria Bucur demonstrates that the importance of the eugenics movement in Romania rests not so much in the contributions made to the study of science as in the realm of nationalist ideology and social policy making The notion that the quality and quantity of the human species could and should be controlled manifested itself through social engineering projects ranging from reshaping gender roles and isolating ethnic undesirables to introducing broad public health measures and educational reform Romanian eugenicists sought to control such modernization processes as urbanization and industrialization without curbing them yet they also embraced attitudes more typically identified with anti modernists in Romanian politics and culture Bucur is the first historian to explore the role of eugenics as a response to the challenges of nation and state building in Eastern Europe She presents a balanced assessment of the interwar eugenics movement s success and failures and identifies connections and discontinuities between the movement and the post war communist regime

Eugenics and Modernization in Interwar Romania Maria Bucur, 2010-05-01 Maria Bucur explores the interactions between the science of eugenics and modernization efforts in Romania between World Wars I and II

Disciplining the Future Maria Bucur, 1996 The Oxford Handbook of the History of Eugenics Alison Bashford, Philippa Levine, 2010-09-24 Philippa Levine is the Mary Helen Thompson Centennial Professor in the Humanities at the University of Texas at Austin Her books include Prostitution Race and Politics Policing Venereal Disease in the British Empire and The British Empire Sunrise to Sunset

Foreign Aid and State Building in Interwar Romania Doina Anca Cretu, 2024-12-10 The decades following World War I were a period of political social and economic transformation for Central and Eastern Europe This book considers the role of foreign aid in Romania between 1918 and 1940 offering a new history of the interrelation between state building and nongovernmental humanitarianism and philanthropy in the interwar period Doina Anca Cretu argues that Romania was a laboratory for transnational intervention as various state builders actively pursued accessed and often instrumentalized American assistance in order to accelerate reconstructive and modernizing projects after World War I At its core this is a study of how local views ambitions and practical agendas framed trajectories of humanitarian and philanthropic endeavors in postimperial Central and Eastern Europe Conversely it is a reflection on the ways that architects and practitioners of foreign aid sought to transfer notions of democracy civilization and modernity within shifting local and national contexts in the aftermath of the war and after the collapse of European empires At the intersection of the history of interwar Europe and international philanthropy and humanitarianism this book s innovative and explicitly transnational approach provides a new framework for understanding the contours of European nationalism in the twentieth century

The History of East-Central European Eugenics, 1900-1945 Marius Turda, 2015-08-27 The History of East Central European Eugenics 1900 1945 redefines the European history of eugenics by exploring the ideological transmission of eugenics internationally and its application locally in East Central Europe It includes 100 primary sources translated from the East Central European languages into English for the first time and key contributions from leading scholars in the field from around Europe This volume examines the main eugenic organisations as well as individuals and policies that shaped eugenics in Austria Poland the former Czechoslovakia the former Yugoslavia Hungary and Romania It also explores the ways in which ethnic minorities interacted with national and international eugenics discourses to advance their own aims and ambitions whilst providing a comparative analysis of the emergence and development of eugenics in East Central Europe more generally Complete with a glossary of terms a list of all eugenic societies and journals from these countries as well as a comprehensive bibliography The History of East Central European Eugenics 1900-1945 is a pivotal reference work for students researchers and academics interested in East Central Europe and the history of science and national identity in the 20th century Modernism and Eugenics M.

Turda,2010-09-30 Modernism and Eugenics comprehensively explores modern Europe's fixation with eugenic programmes of racial and national purification It convincingly demonstrates that between 1870 and 1940 eugenicists were not only preoccupied with rescuing the individual from the anomie of modernity but equally championed a glorious racial destiny for the nation Gendering Modernism Maria Bucur,2017-09-21 Gendering Modernism offers a critical reappraisal of the modernist movement asking how gender norms of the time shaped the rebellion of the self-avowed modernists and examining the impact of radical gender reformers on modernism Focusing primarily on the connections between North American and European modernists Maria Bucur explains why it is imperative that we consider the gender angles of modernism as a way to understand the legacies of the movement She provides an overview of the scholarship on modernism and an analysis of how definitions of modernism have evolved with that scholarship Interweaving vivid case studies from before the Great War to the interwar period looking at individual modernists from Ibsen to Picasso Hannah Hoch to Josephine Baker she covers various fields such as art literature theatre and film whilst also demonstrating how modernism manifested itself in the major social political and cultural shifts of the 20th century including feminism psychology sexology eugenics nudism anarchism communism and fascism This is a fresh and wide-ranging investigation of modernism which expands our definition of the movement integrating gender analysis and thereby opening up new lines of enquiry Written in a lively and accessible style Gendering Modernism is a crucial intervention into the literature which should be read by all students and scholars of the modernist movement as well 20th century history and gender studies more broadly Crafting Humans Marius Turda,2013

This volume is based partly on papers presented at the Berendel Foundation's second annual conference held at Queen's College Oxford between 8 and 10 September 2011 The Oxford Handbook of Disability History Michael Rembis,Catherine J. Kudlick,Kim Nielsen,2018-06-19 Disability history exists outside of the institutions healers and treatments it often brings to mind It is a history where disabled people live not just as patients or cure seekers but rather as people living differently in the world and it is also a history that helps define the fundamental concepts of identity community citizenship and normality The Oxford Handbook of Disability History is the first volume of its kind to represent this history and its global scale from ancient Greece to British West Africa The twenty seven articles written by thirty experts from across the field capture the diversity and liveliness of this emerging scholarship Whether discussing disability in modern Chinese cinema or on the American antebellum stage this collection provides new and valuable insights into the rich and varied lives of disabled people across time and place

Kidnapped Souls Tara Zahra, 2011-05-02 Throughout the nineteenth and into the early decades of the twentieth century it was common for rural and working class parents in the Czech German borderlands to ensure that their children were bilingual by sending them to live with families who spoke the other language As nationalism became a more potent force in Central Europe however such practices troubled pro German and pro Czech activists who feared that the children born to their nation could literally be lost or kidnapped from the national community through such experiences and more generally by parents who were either flexible about national belonging or altogether indifferent to it Highlighting this indifference to nationalism and concerns about such apathy among nationalists Kidnapped Souls offers a surprising new perspective on Central European politics and society in the first half of the twentieth century Drawing on Austrian Czech and German archives Tara Zahra shows how nationalists in the Bohemian Lands worked to forge political cultures in which children belonged more rightfully to the national collective than to their parents Through their educational and social activism to fix the boundaries of nation and family Zahra finds Czech and German nationalists reveal the set of beliefs they shared about children family democracy minority rights and the relationship between the individual and the collective Zahra shows that by 1939 a vigorous tradition of Czech German nationalist competition over children had created cultures that would shape the policies of the Nazi occupation and the Czech response to it The book's concluding chapter weighs the prehistory and consequences of the postwar expulsion of German families from the Bohemian Lands Kidnapped Souls is a significant contribution to our understanding of the genealogy of modern nationalism in Central Europe and a groundbreaking exploration of the ways in which children have been the objects of political contestation when national communities have sought to shape or to reshape their futures

The Cambridge World History of Sexualities: Volume 4, Modern Sexualities Merry E. Wiesner-Hanks, Mathew Kuefler, 2024-04-30 Volume IV examines the intersections of modernity and human sexuality through the forces ideas and events that have shaped the modern world Through eighteen chapters this volume examines connections between sexuality and the defining forces of modern global history including capitalism colonialism migration consumerism and war sexuality in modern literature and print media sexuality in dictatorships and democracies and cultural changes such as sex education and the sexual revolution The volume ends with discussions of the difficult issues we in the modern world continue to face such as restrictions on reproductive rights sex tourism STDs and AIDS sex trafficking domestic violence and illiberal attacks on sexuality

A Global History of Medicine Mark Jackson, 2018-01-05 In recent decades there has been considerable interest in writing histories of medicine that capture local regional and global dimensions of health and health care in the same frame Exploring changing patterns of disease and different systems of medicine across continents and countries A Global History of Medicine provides a rich introduction to this emergent field The introductory chapter addresses the challenges of writing the history of medicine across space and time and suggests ways in which tracing the entangled histories of the patchworks of practice that have constituted medicine allow us to understand how healing traditions are always plural permeable and shaped by power and privilege Written by scholars from around the world and accompanied by suggestions for further reading individual chapters explore historical developments in health medicine and disease in China the Islamic World North and Latin America Africa South east Asia Western and Eastern Europe and Australia and New Zealand The final chapter focuses on smallpox eradication and reflects on the sources and methods necessary to integrate local and global dimensions of medicine more effectively Collectively the contributions to A Global History of Medicine will not only be invaluable to undergraduate and postgraduate students seeking to expand their knowledge of health and medicine across time but will also provide a constructive theoretical and empirical platform for future scholarship

Socialist Heritage Emanuela Grama, 2019-12-01 This prize winning study of post WWII Romania examines the fraught relationship between national heritage and Socialist statecraft In Socialist Heritage ethnographer and historian Emanuela Grama explores the socialist state s attempt to create its own heritage as well as the ongoing legacy of that project While many argue that the socialist regimes of Central and Eastern Europe aimed to erase the pre war history of the socialist cities Grama shows that the communist state in Romania sought to exploit the past for its own benefit The book traces the transformation of Bucharest s Old Town district from the early twentieth century into the twenty first Under socialism politicians and professionals used the district s historic buildings especially the ruins of a medieval palace to emphasize the city s Romanian past and erase its ethnically diverse history Since the collapse of socialism the cultural and economic value of the Old Town has become highly contested Its poor residents decry their semi decrepit homes while entrepreneurs see it as a source of easy money Such arguments point to recent negotiations about the meanings of class political participation and ethnic and economic belonging in today s Romania Grama s rich historical and ethnographic research reveals the fundamentally dual nature of heritage every search for an idealized past relies on strategies of differentiation that can lead to further marginalization and exclusion Winner of the 2020 Ed A Hewitt Book Prize Colonial Fantasies, Imperial Realities Lenny A. Ureña Valerio,2019-08-28 In Colonial Fantasies Imperial Realities Lenny Ure a Valerio offers a transnational approach to Polish German relations and nineteenth century colonial subjectivities She investigates key cultural dynamics in the history of medicine colonialism and migration that bring Germany and Prussian Poland closer to the colonial and postcolonial worlds in Africa and Latin America She also analyzes how Poles in the German Empire positioned themselves in relation to Germans and native populations in overseas colonies She thus recasts Polish perspectives and experiences allowing new insights into identity formation and nationalist movements within the German Empire Crucially Ure a Valerio also studies the medical projects and scientific ideas that traveled from colonies to the German metropole and vice versa which were influential not only in the racialization of Slavic populations but also in bringing scientific conceptions of race to the everydayness of the German Empire As a whole Colonial Fantasies Imperial Realities illuminates nested imperial and colonial relations using sources that range from medical texts and state documents to travel literature and fiction By studying these scientific and political debates Ure a Valerio uncovers novel ways to connect medicine migration and colonialism and provides an invigorating model for the analysis of Polish history from a global perspective Racializing the Soldier Gavin Schaffer,2016-05-23 Racializing the Soldier explores the impact of racial beliefs on the formation and development of modern armed forces and the ways in which these forces have been presented and historicized from a global perspective With a wide geographical and temporal spread the collection looks at the disparate ways that race has influenced military development In particular it explores the extent to which ideas of racial hierarchy and type have conditioned thinking about what kinds of soldiers should be used and in what roles This volume offers a highly original military social and cultural history questioning the borders both of racialization and of the military itself It considers the extent to which discourses of gender nationality and religion have informed racialization and probes the influence of expert studies of soldiers as indicators of national population types By focusing mostly but not exclusively on colonial and post colonial states the book considers how racialized militaries both shaped and reflected conflict in the modern world ultimately explaining how the history of this idea has often underpinned modern military planning and thinking This book is based on a special issue of Patterns of Prejudice Death of the Father John Borneman,2004 Death of the Father is a comparative examination of the crises in symbolic identification and national traumas that have resulted from the defeat and or implosion of regimes in Fascist Italy Nazi Germany Imperial Japan and Communist Eastern Europe

Women, Gender, and Fascism in Europe, 1919-45 Kevin Passmore,2003 Investigates the role of women and gender in fascist and non fascist movements of the extreme right The text re examines the nature of the extreme right in the light of research in the field of women s and gender studies offering an accessible overview of developments in Europe Romania, 1916-1941 Dennis Deletant, 2022-08-19 This study challenges the rose tinted view of the interwar period in Romanian history which is often judged against the darkness of almost five decades of Communist rule Romania like several of the states of Eastern Europe emerged from the First World War as it had entered it as a predominantly agricultural country and one of its major problems was the condition of the peasantry This volume s focus is the drive to improve that condition on the collapse of democracy and the search by Romania s leaders for strategies to secure the state to assert the country s independence and to maintain its territorial integrity in the face of the threat to the European order posed by two totalitarian systems represented by Nazi Germany and the Soviet Union By examining recent scholarship this volume provides the most up to date account of Romania s predicament in the interwar years Romania 1916 1941 is a useful resource for upper level undergraduates postgraduates and scholars interested in foreign policy politics society internationalization and late development in interwar Central and Eastern Europe
