Freer Trade Protected Environment Balancing Trade Liberalization And Environmental Interests:

Freer Trade, Protected Environment Carlisle Ford Runge, François Ortalo-Magné, Philip Vande Kamp, 1994 C Ford Runge a leading expert on trade reform and environmental policy explores the linkages between trade and environment and compares trade rules and environmental standards How can environmental harm be reduced and international trade be expanded with minimal detriment to the other Runge examines actual cases and concludes with specific policy recommendations for the United States and the international community

Freer Trade, Sustainability, and the Primary Production Sector in the Southern EU: Unraveling the Evidence from Greece J. Lekakis, 2013-03-09 Freer Trade Sustainability and the Primary Production Sector in the Southern European Union is the first full scale academic work to capture the primary production sector policy aspects of trade liberalization and sustainability with a detailed focus on a typical southern EU country Greece Many efforts were pooled together in making this book In May 1996 the Department of Economics of the University of Crete organized an international conference on European Agriculture in the light of the recent WTO agreement and the need for sustainable development The conference was sponsored by the European Commission DG XII contract no ENV4 CT 96 6514 the Economic and Social Research Council ESRC contract no L320263049 the Hellenic Ministries for Agriculture and for the Environment and the University of Crete While summarizing the conclusions of the conference several speakers felt that the issues relating to the Southern EU would deserve separate coverage The conference directors judged that coverage of the issues for a single Southern EU country might have an advantage regarding detail over a cross country analysis which would certainly be welcome at a later stage Responding to this call the University of Crete generously reallocated all of its infrastructural costs covered by DG XII ESRC and the other sponsors above in the form of a new grant to host a follow up conference aiming to explore the issues for Greece

Trade and the Environment Damien Geradin, 1997-11-28 A penetrating analysis of the relation between trade and environmental protection policies in the EC and the US

Environmental Assessment of Trade Agreements and Policy Ole Kristian Fauchald, Mads Greaker, 1998 This work provides strategies for integrating environmental concerns into the negotiating process when multilateral trade and investment agreements are being negotiated It also addresses unresolved questions about establishing a procedure for introducing these concerns into negotiations

Reconciling Environment and Trade Edith Brown Weiss, John Howard Jackson, Nathalie Bernasconi-Osterwalder, 2008 The volume focuses on five cases all of which remain cornerstone trade environment cases of the WTO The subject matter of these cases reflects five basic issues in the clash between trade and the environment public health air pollution ozone depletion food safety destruction of endangered species and biosafety These five issues surface dramatically in international disputes over tobacco reformulated gasoline beef growth hormones commercial fishing methods and genetically modified organisms In the second edition of this book Nathalie Bernasconi Osterwalder joins the original editors to update and contextualize the five case studies in new introductions to each section These introductions provide an overview of developments since the first edition including subsequent related cases The second edition also includes updated bibliographic materials In their penetrating analyses of these cases and their vast implications the authors take into account the entire disciplines of both trade law and environmental law noting especially the points of friction between the multilateral instruments in each field and the developing jurisprudence of the WTO Dispute Settlement with regard to the exceptions specified in Article XX of the GATT The articulated standpoints of all parties governments and NGOs on both sides of the controversy are probed for agendas whether stated or unstated No one involved in international trade or environmental activism can afford to ignore this vital publication The information it provides on WTO jurisprudence on current and pending environmental initiatives on the science behind the disputes no less than the fresh and convincing analysis it holds forth make it an essential tool for understanding some of the most crucial issues in international law today Trade and Environment in the EC and the WTO Jochem Wiers, 2003 This study describes and compares the rules of the European Community and the World Trade Organization on the liberalization of trade in goods and measures taken by members of these organizations for the protection of the environment back cover The Economics of Water Quality Naomi Zeitouni, 2019-10-22 This volume brings together a number of prominent economic studies all of which deal with key water quality issues The studies focus on the economic aspects of water quality including identifying the polluters actions and incentives designing and comparing control mechanisms analyzing the costs and benefits of water quality programmes and finally managing transboundary water quality They all make recommendations for improving water quality through changing incentives programmes and or policies Environmental and Natural Resource Economics Jonathan M. Harris, Brian Roach, 2013-07-05 Climate Change, Trade, and Competitiveness: Is a Collision Inevitable? Lael Brainard, Isaac Sorkin, 2010-10-01 Brookings Trade Forum provides comprehensive analysis on current and emerging issues of international trade and macroeconomics Practitioners and academics contribute to each volume with papers that provide an in depth look at a particular topic The 2008 2009 edition focuses on climate policy and its impact on trade Contents include Five Gs Lessons for Governing Global Climate from World Trade William Antholis Brookings International Trade Law and the Economics of Climate Policy Evaluating the Legality and Effectiveness of Proposals to Address Competitiveness and Leakage Concerns Jason E Bordoff Brookings Technology Transfers and Climate Change International Flows Barriers and Frameworks Thomas L Brewer Georgetown University Addressing the Leakage Competitiveness Issue in Climate Change Policy Proposals Jeffrey A Frankel Harvard University The Economic and Environmental Effects of Border Tax Adjustments for Climate Policy Warwick J McKibbin and Peter J Wilcoxen Brookings The Climate Commons and a Global Environment Organization GEO C Ford Runge University of Minnesota Our Common Journey National Research Council, Policy and Global Affairs, Policy Division, Board on Sustainable Development, 1999-12-09 World human population is expected to reach upwards of 9 billion by 2050 and then level off over the next half century How can the transition to a stabilizing population also be a transition to sustainability How can science and technology help to ensure that human needs are met while the planet s environment is nurtured and restored Our Common Journey examines these momentous questions to draw strategic connections between scientific research technological development and societies efforts to achieve environmentally sustainable improvements in human well being The book argues that societies should approach sustainable development not as a destination but as an ongoing adaptive learning process Speaking to the next two generations it proposes a strategy for using scientific and technical knowledge to better inform future action in the areas of fertility reduction urban systems agricultural production energy and materials use ecosystem restoration and biodiversity conservation and suggests an approach for building a new research agenda for sustainability science Our Common Journey documents large scale historical currents of social and environmental change and reviews methods for what if analysis of possible future development pathways and their implications for sustainability The book also identifies the greatest threats to sustainability in areas such as human settlements agriculture industry and energy and explores the most promising opportunities for circumventing or mitigating these threats It goes on to discuss what indicators of change from children s birth weights to atmosphere chemistry will be most useful in monitoring a transition to sustainability

Environmental Contracts:Comparative Approaches to Regulatory Innovation in the United States and Europe Eric W. Orts,Kurt Deketelaere,2001-03-20 Environmental regulation has come of age in recent decades as the blunt methods of command and control have been subjected to trenchant criticism from both economists and lawyers in the United States and Europe As a result of this intellectual development as well as continuing and increasing severity of environmental problems there is a need for fresh thinking about regulatory methods that are rational from both economic and legal points of view This book focuses on the viability of one particular regulatory innovation the use of agreements or contracts for environmental regulation as it has been practised in the United States and Europe The various contributions explore the general idea that certain kinds of environmental problems may best be addressed through contracts among interested parties including representatives of various levels of government business local community and employment representatives and public interest groups The parties get together to discuss a particular problem and then agree to an agreement or contract designed to address key issues and interests At least in some situations this approach may yield greater flexibility stronger commitment and more creative outcomes than traditional command and control regulation Experiments in the use of environmental contracts have begun on both sides of the Atlantic a fact which makes the comparative study offered here especially timely and valuable The Caspian Sea William Ascher,Natalia

Mirovitskaya,2012-12-06 This volume is based on the presentations and deliberations of an Advanced Research Workshop ARW Caspian Sea A Quest for Environmental Security that was held on March 15 19 1999 in Venice Italy The Workshop was sponsored by the NATO s Division for Scientific and Environmental Affairs with additional support provided by the Trust for

Mutual Understanding USA It was organized by Duke University's Center for International Development Research with the guidance of the International Committee of scientists from Russia United States Georgia and Italy and organizational assistance rendered by Venice International University The Caspian Sea region is of profound importance from the perspective of global and regional environmental security New geopolitical and economic circumstances have created a mixture of competition reluctant collaboration and legal political economic and ideological wrangling There is an intense debate over how the Caspian and its resources should be divided among littoral states and how these resources are to be developed While most littoral states and the international companies strive to develop the area's immense hydrocarbon potential it is clear that the Caspian's unique and fragile ecosystem is at risk

The Oxford Handbook of International Organizations Jacob Katz Cogan, Ian Hurd, Ian Johnstone, 2016 This text provides an authoritative account of the law and politics of international organisations Looking at the role function and history of organisations it offers a wide ranging and thorough analysis of the area

The Politics of International Economic Relations Jeffrey A. Hart, Joan Edelman Spero, 2013-06-17 The first and definitive book of its kind Joan Spero's The Politics of International Economic Relations has been fully updated to reflect the sweeping changes in the international arena With the expertise of co author Jeffrey Hart the fifth edition strengthens the coverage of political and economic relations since the end of the Cold War economic polarization in developing nations and the roots of economic decline in centrally planned economies A new chapter on industrial policy and competitiveness debates further illustrates the changing dynamics of International Political Economy Ideal as a supplement to the International Relations course or as the core text in International Political Economy Spero and Hart's The Politics of International Economic Relations continues to give students the breadth and depth of scholarship needed to understand the politics of world economy

Environmentally Significant Consumption National Research Council, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Board on Environmental Change and Society, Committee on the Human Dimensions of Global Change, 1997-07-09 There has been much polemic about affluence consumption and the global environment For some observers consumption is at the root of global environmental threats wealthy individuals and societies use far too much of the earth's resource base and should scale back their appetites to preserve the environment for future generations and allow a decent life for the rest of the world Other observers see affluence as the way to escape environmental threats economic development increases public pressure for environmental protection and makes capital available for environmentally benign technologies The arguments are fed by conflicting beliefs values hopes and fears but surprisingly little scientific analysis This book demonstrates that the relationship of consumption to the environment needs careful analysis by environmental and social scientists and conveys some of the excitement of treating the issue scientifically It poses the key empirical questions Which kinds of consumption are environmentally significant Which actors are responsible for that consumption What forces cause or explain environmentally significant consumption How can it be changed The book presents studies that open up important issues for empirical study Are there any signs of saturation in the demand for travel in wealthy countries What is the relationship between environmental consumption and human well being To what extent do people in developing countries emulate American consumption styles The book also suggests broad strategies that scientists and research sponsors can use to better inform future debates about the environment development and consumption

Linking Trade and Security Vinod K. Aggarwal, Kristi Govella, 2012-10-10 The connections between trade and security are hardly new Analysts and practitioners have clearly recognized this interrelationship since the mercantilist arguments of the 16th and 17th centuries Despite wishful economic liberal thinking that might prefer to separate the political from the economic it is widely recognized that trade and security are fundamentally interconnected in the foreign policy of states Over time as new forms of trade policy have come into being and the international security environment has evolved the nexus of these two spheres has grown more complex and scholars have struggled to understand their interconnection This edited volume addresses linkages between trade and security by examining the influence of security factors in driving trade policy measures and the corresponding implications of different types of trade arrangements for international security Ultimately the project shows that several elements traditional economic factors traditional security factors and human security factors can affect the development of trade agreements and unilateral policies and that trade policies may have both a direct and an indirect effect on traditional and human security The project focuses on Asia a region where economics is increasingly important but many security issues still linger unresolved as a primary setting to test trade linkage theories It also provides a comparative perspective through examination of how the EU and US have used their trade policies to achieve non economic goals and how these policies have influenced their security environment Case studies in this project cover key trade institutions and agreements including the World Trade Organization the Association of Southeast Asian Nations ASEAN Plus Three the East Asia Summit the Asia Pacific Economic Cooperation forum the Shanghai Cooperation Organization and bilateral preferential trade agreements

World in Transition 2 German Advisory Council On Global Change Wgbu, 2010-09-23 International institutions and structures are crucial to the management of the global environment The present arrangements are failing to cope adequately with the scale of the task and the demands placed on them and alternatives are urgently needed In this second volume of World in Transition experts in the German Advisory Council on Global Change WGBU analyze the problems and set out comprehensive and persuasive policies for a successful future regime Central to the future it argues will be a strengthened and more effective UN Environment Programme within an alliance organized around three main objectives of assessment organization and funding
