

A scenic view of the Eiffel Tower in Paris, France, during the 'golden hour' of sunset. The tower's intricate iron lattice is silhouetted against a sky of soft oranges, pinks, and blues. The sun is low on the horizon to the left, casting a warm glow. In the foreground, the calm waters of the Seine River reflect the sky's colors. A multi-arched bridge spans the river to the right of the tower's base, with a few boats visible underneath. The overall atmosphere is peaceful and picturesque.

How to Learn French in Canada Victor E Graham, 1965-12-15 It is well known that even after several years exposure to high school French most English Canadians remain unable to speak the language It is equally well known that many French Canadians are bilingual One of the more obvious explanations for this relative deficiency on the part of the English Canadian is his lack of opportunities to use the French language in day to day situations and conversely the French Canadian's need to know the second language too often perhaps for economic reasons Professor Graham's book gives useful and practical suggestions on how to go about becoming fluent in French It offers not a course of instruction but a listing of practical ways of applying oneself to a study of the language There is specific up to date information and advice regarding services provided by the governments of Quebec and France courses offered in various Canadian communities clubs and societies correspondence courses universities and summer schools and language laboratories A feature which will be especially helpful for those in remote areas is the listing of publications books newspapers and periodicals music and songs records films and radio and television programmes which provide instruction in French The reader will quickly see that the available means are much more varied than he realizes and it is in providing this concise convenient enumeration of them that Professor Graham performs a great service Any adult who is reasonably proficient in French but wishes to improve will find this a practical and useful guide to ways of making a personal contribution to bilingualism in Canada This study has been prepared under the sponsorship of the Canadian Association for Adult Education French Romantic Travel Writing

Christopher W. Thompson, 2012 A pioneering overview of the travel books produced by fourteen French Romantic writers including Chateaubriand Stendhal Hugo Nerval Sand M rime Dumas and Tristan whose journeys ranged from Peru to Russia and from North America to North Africa and the Near East French Political Travel Writing in the Interwar Years Martyn Cornick, Martin Hurcombe, Angela Kershaw, 2017-02-10 This book studies travel writing produced by French authors between the two World Wars following visits to authoritarian regimes in Europe and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics USSR It sheds new light on the phenomenon of French political travel in this period by considering the well documented appeal of Soviet communism for French intellectuals alongside their interest in other radical regimes which have been much less studied fascist Italy the Iberian dictatorships and Nazi Germany Through analyses of the travel writing produced as a result of such visits the book gauges the appeal of these forms of authoritarianism for inter war French intellectuals from a broad political spectrum It examines not only those whose political sympathies with the extreme right or extreme left were already publicly known but also non aligned intellectuals who were interested in political models that offered an apparently radical alternative to the French Third Republic This study shows how travel writing provided a space for reflection on the lessons France might learn from the radical political experiments of the inter war years It argues that such writing can usefully be read as a form of utopian thinking distinguishing this from colloquial understandings of utopia as an ideal location Utopianism is understood neither as a fantasy ungrounded in the real nor as a dangerously totalitarian ideal but in line with Karl Mannheim Paul Ric ur and Ruth Levitas as a form of non congruence with the real that it seeks to transcend The utopianism of French political travel writing is seen to lie not in the attempt to portray the destination visited as utopia but rather in the pursuit of a dialogue with radical political alterity

New Approaches to Twentieth-century Travel

Literature in French Charles Forsdick, Feroza Basu, Siobhán Shilton, 2006 From the postcolonial perspective of the early twenty first century the importance of travel literature for considerations of national and international cultures and identities has become increasingly apparent Travel literature in French has however received little critical scrutiny This book contributes to contemporary reassessments of the form in a number of disciplines focusing specifically on the discourses and contexts of travel in twentieth century texts written in French Its scope is interdisciplinary involving theoretical and generic considerations as well as a historical overview of colonial and postcolonial texts The book provides essential reading for all students of travel literature in French and of travel literature in general
