FRANCE

01 FRIENDSHIP

Friendship is a relationship between two people who are friendly to each other. It is a bond of affection and trust that connects people from different cultures and backgrounds. In France, friendship is highly valued and often expressed through physical gestures like hugging or kissing on the cheek.

02 TABLE MANNERS

Table manners are the rules and customs that govern how people behave at a meal. In France, table manners are considered an important part of the dining experience. It is common to see people sitting at long tables, talking and laughing while they eat. It is also common to see people using their hands to eat, rather than using utensils.

03 FETTER

A fetter is a device used to restrain or restrict movement. It is often used in the context of law enforcement or military discipline. In France, the word 'fetter' is also used to describe a traditional type of shoe or sandal. These shoes are made of leather and have a distinctive shape, often with a high heel and a pointed toe.

04 LA BISE

La bise is a traditional French greeting that involves kissing each other on the cheek. It is a common way to greet friends and family, and is also used in formal settings. The number of kisses varies by region, with two being the most common. In some areas, three or four kisses are used. La bise is a sign of affection and is an important part of French culture.
