Ethnicity And Aboriginality Case Studies In Ethnonationalism:

Ethnicity and Aboriginality Michael D. Levin, 1993-12-15 Ethnonationalism is a phenomenon of great importance in many parts of the world today In this collection of papers nine distinguished anthropologists focus on Canadian and international case studies to show how ethnonational claims of cultural groups have been expressed and developed in specific historical and political situations from observations of Quebec to the former Soviet Union through problems of the Australian aborigines Malay identity the Avaglogoli in Western Kenya and ethnic cultures in Nigeria the essays reflect the complexity of the claims and aspirations of different groups Some deal with intractable demand for sovereignty others with solutions that attempt to achieve a level of autonomy and recognition short of sovereignty The intellectual history of the right of self determination is little more than 200 years old It is only since that time that the ideal of popular sovereignty by any group that views itself as a people became an accepted view These writers have used a paper by Walker Connor The Politics of Ethnonationalism as a foil against which to develop their own theses Connor argues that claims to self determination based on ethnic identity present problems to all but a few states and since these claims are unlikely to be satisfied ethnonationalism is disruptive of political order The papers in this volume do not accept his negative conclusions although they share a sense of secession and division are less worthy outcomes than pluralist structures Nevertheless in Valery Tishkov s discussion of the former Soviet Union secession appears to be the only solution Since ethnonationalism will continue to be a political issue for some time these papers form a significant base for future political debate

Ethnic Realignments Matthew Hoddie, 2006-01-01 Ethnic Realignments offers a fresh look at the phenomenon of rapidly changing ethnic identity claims By focusing on the countries of Australia China Malaysia and India Matthew Hoddie provides a comparative study arguing that government policies designed to favor one ethnic group over another can influence individuals among the disfavored group to change their identities and recast themselves as members of the favored group Hoddie employs a statistical methodology to lay out the conditions and factors that lead to these ethnic identity changes thereby contributing to the ongoing debate concerning the malleability of ethnic identity Ethnic Realignments is a significant work for scholars interested in the politics of ethnicity and the effectiveness of affirmative action policies

The Self-determination of Peoples Wolfgang F. Danspeckgruber, 2002 Focusing especially on the era since the Cold War political scientists other scholars and government officials examine both empirically and conceptually the causes and impacts of people striving for self determination and autonomy They consider the legal political administrative ethnic cultural economic and strategic dimensions and try to consider examples from all major regions Annotation c Book News Inc Portland OR booknews com

From Time Immemorial Richard J. Perry, 2010-01-01 An examination of the similar patterns inherent in state conquest and incorporation of indigenous peoples in North America Australia Asia and Africa Around the globe people who have lived in a place from time immemorial have found themselves confronted by and ultimately incorporated within larger state systems During more than three decades of anthropological study of groups ranging from the Apache to the indigenous peoples of Kenya Richard J Perry has sought to understand this incorporation process and more importantly to identify the factors that drive it This broadly synthetic and highly readable book chronicles his findings Perry delves into the relations between state systems and indigenous peoples in Canada the United States Mexico and Australia His explorations show how despite differing historical circumstances encounters between these state systems and native peoples generally followed a similar pattern invasion genocide displacement assimilation and finally some measure of apparent self determination for the indigenous people which may however have its own pitfalls After establishing this common pattern Perry tackles the harder question why does it happen this way Defining the state as a nexus of competing interest groups Perry offers persuasive evidence that competition for resources is the crucial factor in conflicts between indigenous peoples and the powerful constituencies that drive state policies These findings shed new light on a historical phenomenon that is too often studied in isolated instances This book will thus be important reading for everyone seeking to understand the new contours of our postcolonial world

Ethnographic Feminisms Lynne Patricia Phillips,1995 This significant new study contains the work of anthropologists engaged in doing research on gender The editors argue for the creation of an ethnography based feminism that at the same time pays heed to what women in specific circumstances identify as their concerns and also recognizes contradictions inherent in the goals of a feminist anthropology These essays grapple with a range of awkward issues including feminism in international contexts the invisibility of women s working lives and the problems of voice and ethnographic representation Referring to a variety of ethnographic contexts and working from diverse perspectives the contributors examine the multiple dilemmas and conflicts of gender and power A volume which will not only constitute a significant contribution to the social sciences literature both theoretically and substantively but will also place Canadian feminist anthropology on the cutting edge of global feminist anthropology I strongly recommend it Valda Blundell Carleton University Ethnographic

Feminisms Sally Cole,1995-05-15 This book is written by anthropologists who are currently engaged in research on gender The editors argue for the development of an ethnography based feminism that both pays heed to what women in specific circumstances identify as their concerns and recognizes the contradictions inherent in the goals of feminist anthropology The essays consider a range of awkward issues including feminism in international contexts the invisibility of women s working lives and the problems of voice and ethnographic representation Referring to a variety of ethnographic contexts and working from diverse perspectives the contributors examine the multiple dilemmas and conflicts of gender and power Human Rights and the Environment Lyuba Zarsky,2012-06-25 The impact of environmental damage on human rights civil political or welfare and labour rights is becoming ever more widely appreciated and has direct bearing on the behaviour of companies and their norms of conduct In this volume contributors draw on the tools and insights of a range of disciplines including law anthropology economics geography and social science to analyze the issues and show how new standards that protect rights and liberties can be established Aboriginal Autonomy and Development in Northern Quebec and Labrador Colin Scott, 2011-11-01 The Canadian North is witness to some of the most innovative efforts by Aboriginal peoples to reshape their relations with mainstream political and economic structures Northern Quebec and Labrador are particularly dynamic examples of these efforts composed of First Nations territories that until the 1970s had never been subject to treaty but are subject to escalating industrial demands for natural resources The essays in this volume illuminate key conditions for autonomy and development the definition and redefinition of national territories as cultural orders clash and mix control of resource bases upon which northern economies depend and renewal and reworking of cultural identity Margins of Insecurity Sam C. Nolutshungu, 1996 A number of crises since the end of the Cold War have demonstrated the insecurity of ordinary people in circumstances where states are either unable to provide protection or are themselves the principle sources of violence Public opinion has provoked international politicians to recognise a problem in which they should intervene but it is rare for effective policies to be implemented Emerging from a series of workshops on the International Security of Marginal Populations the essays seek solutions which go beyond the traditional emphasis on the interests of the state and give due weight to the needs of minority populations SAM C NOLUTSHUNGU was Professor of Political Science in the Frederick Douglass Institute of African and African American studies at the University of Rochester Contributors DAVID LAITIN KIM HOPPER ZOLTAN BARANY JONATHAN BOYARIN REMY LEVEAU ALFRED DARNELL CHARLES R HALE ANTHONY ASIWAJU SAM NOLUTSHUNGU Anthropologica ,1999 Escaping the Self-Determination Trap Marc Weller, 2009-05-31 There is new movement in the discussion about self determination and statehood The contested declaration of independence by Kosovo and Russia s recognition of the purported independence of Abkhazia and South Ossetia have caused significant controversy These developments may well put an end to the attempt by governments to keep in place the highly restricted doctrine of self determination that has previously only been made available in the colonial context This monograph argues that classical self determination narrowly conceived in the colonial context cannot contribute to the resolution of the presently ongoing self determination conflicts around the world However this study finds that over the past few years a new practice of addressing self determination conflicts has emerged This practice significantly extends our understanding of the legal right to self determination and of the means that can be brought to bear in terminating secessionist conflicts The Routledge Companion to the Anthropology of Performance Lauren Miller, David Syring, 2023-11-30 The Routledge Companion to the Anthropology of Performance provides a cutting edge comprehensive overview of the foundations epistemologies methodologies key topics and current debates and future directions in the field It brings together work from the disciplines of anthropology and performance studies as well as adjacent fields Across 31 chapters a diverse range of international scholars cover topics including Ritual Theater Storytelling Music Dance Textiles Land Acknowledgments Indigenous Identity Visual Arts Embodiment Cognition Healing Festivals Politics Activism The Law

Race and Ethnicity Gender and Sexuality Class Religion Spirituality and Faith Disability Leisure Gaming and Sport In addition the included Appendix offers tools exercises and activities designed by contributors as useful suggestions to readers both within and beyond academic contexts to take the insights of performance anthropology into their work This is a valuable reference for scholars and upper level students in anthropology performance studies and related disciplines including religious studies art philosophy history political science gender studies and education

North American Indians Alice Beck Kehoe, 2017-10-03 Written in an easy to read narrative format this volume provides the most comprehensive coverage of North American Indians from earliest evidence through 1990 It shows Indians as a people with history and not as primitives covering current ideological issues and political situations including treaty rights sovereignty and repatriation A must read for anyone interested in North American Indian history This is a comprehensive and thought provoking approach to the history of the native peoples of North America including Mexico and Canada and their civilizations For Native American courses taught in anthropology history and Native American Studies

Outstanding Academic Title Choice Magazine Defying Maliseet Language Death Bernard C. Perley, 2011-11-01 Published through the Recovering Languages and Literacies of the Americas initiative supported by the Andrew W Mellon Foundation Today indigenous communities throughout North America are grappling with the dual issues of language loss and revitalization While many communities are making efforts to bring their traditional languages back through educational programs for some communities these efforts are not enough or have come too late to stem the tide of language death which occurs when there are no remaining fluent speakers and the language is no longer used in regular communication The Maliseet language as spoken in the Tobique First Nation of New Brunswick Canada is one such endangered language that will either be revitalized and survive or will die off Defying Maliseet Language Death is an ethnographic study by Bernard C Perley a member of this First Nation that examines the role of the Maliseet language and its survival in Maliseet identity processes Perley examines what is being done to keep the Maliseet language alive who is actively involved in these processes and how these two factors combine to promote Maliseet language survival He also explores questions of identity asking the important question If Maliseet is no longer spoken are we still Maliseet This timely volume joins the dual issues of language survival and indigenous identity to present a unique perspective on the place of language within culture Unfinished Dreams Wayne Warry, 1998-01-01 Anthropologist Wayne Warry argues that self government can be realized only when individuals are secure in their cultural identity and can contribute to the transformation of their communities Warry s notion of community healing involves efforts to rebuild the human foundations for self governing Aboriginal societies He uses case studies to illustrate the processes that are essential to self government American Empire and the Fourth World Anthony J. Hall, 2003-11-10 In The American Empire and the Fourth World Anthony Hall presents a sweeping analysis of encounters between indigenous people and the European empires national governments and global corporations on the moving frontiers of globalization since Columbus discovered America How should we respond to the emergence of the United States as the military commercial and cultural centre of a global empire How can we elaborate a global rule of law based on equality and democracy when the world s most powerful polity acknowledges no higher authority in the international arena than its own domestic priorities For Hall the answer lies in the concept of the Fourth World an inclusive intellectual tent covering a wide range of movements whose leaders seek to implement alternative views of globalization Larger than any earlier political movement the Fourth World embraces basic principles that include the inherent rights of self determination and a more just approach to the crafting and enforcement of international law The American Empire and the Fourth World Anthony J. Hall, Tony Hall, 2005 In a book that Naomi Klein says could change the world Anthony Hall shows that the globalization debate actually began in 1492
