countries of particular concern is a difficult challenge to undertake. Indeed, what do we understand by freedom of religion or belief? What are the criteria for evaluation and how to view them in a balanced fashion? Can we distinguish the worse violators in black and white or a colour map from those respecting them more or less? How does one evaluate and rank a country like North Korea which in the aftermath of the 1950-1953 War carried out a mass religious cleansing to such an extent that there is virtually no independent religious life in the country today? How does one evaluate and rank a country like Nigeria where Christian communities in some regions are repeatedly attacked by Muslim groups on religious but also other grounds? Should a high number of incidents in India, Iran or China propel these countries to the top of a list of worst violators of freedom of religion or belief? This report has endeavoured to take these questions into consideration.

Under freedom of religion or belief, HRWF Int'l affirms Article 18 of the ICCPR which says Art 18 1 Everyone shall have the right to freedom of thought, conscience and religion. This right shall include freedom either individually or in community with others and in public or private to manifest his religion or belief in worship, observance, practice and teaching. 2 No one shall be subject to coercion which would impair his freedom to have or to adopt a religion or belief of his choice. 3 Freedom to manifest one's religion or beliefs may be subject only to such limitations as are prescribed by law and are necessary to protect public safety, order, health or morals or the fundamental rights and freedoms of others.

This report aims to facilitate advocacy and is divided into several parts. The first three parts identify and analyse a number of constitutional and legislative provisions which restrict freedom of religion or belief in some problematic countries in particular:

1. freedom to change one's religion or belief: Afghanistan, Egypt, Jordan, Iran, Malaysia, Mauritania, Saudi Arabia, Somalia, Sudan, Yemen.
2. freedom of expression within the framework of freedom of religion or belief: Azerbaijan, China, Eritrea, Kazakhstan, Laos, North Korea, Russia, Tajikistan, Uzbekistan, Vietnam.
3. freedom of association, worship and assembly: Afghanistan, Algeria, Brunei, Egypt, Indonesia, Iran, Maldives, North Korea, Pakistan, Qatar, Saudi Arabia, Somalia, Sudan.

However, challenges to freedom of religion or belief issues can have other roots such as social hostility leading to repeated and systematic acts of violence or conflicts between religious communities despite adequate legal protections and the goodwill of the government. The fourth part addresses the issue of freedom of religion or belief from another angle. It lists ten countries: Azerbaijan, Egypt, India, Indonesia, Iran, Kazakhstan, Nigeria, Pakistan, Russia, Uzbekistan, which distinguished themselves in 2012 by a very high number of incidents related to freedom of religion or belief on various grounds such as repressive governmental policies, social hostility and inter-ethnic or inter-communal tensions. These countries were selected on the basis of data collected by HRWF Int'l from numerous public and private sources. Many concrete examples support this ranking and illustrate the different facets of the violations that have been identified. They are also contextualized and analysed. If countries punish the exercise of freedom of religion or belief by death or heavy prison terms or by exorbitant fines, sometimes of up to 100 times the minimum monthly salary, such countries must be named publicly, held accountable and urged to revise their constitution, their laws and their practices.

Religion, Human Rights and International Law Javaid Rehman, Susan Breau, 2007-07-30 Freedom of religion is a subject which has throughout human history been a source of profound disagreements and conflict In the modern era religious based intolerance continues to provide lacerative and tormenting concern to the possibility of congenial human relationships As the present study examines religions have been relied upon to perpetuate discrimination and inequalities and to victimise minorities to the point of forcible assimilation and genocide The study provides an overview of the complexities inherent in the freedom of religion within international law and an analysis of the cultural religious relativist debate in contemporary human rights law As many of the chapters examine Islamic State practices have been a major source of concern In the backdrop of the events of 11 September 2001 a considerable focus of this volume is upon the Muslim world either through the emergent State practices and existing constitutional structures within Muslim majority States or through Islamic diasporic communities resident in Europe and North America

Sourcebook of the World's Religions Joel Beversluis, 2011-02-08 Now in its third edition this is the most comprehensive work available on the rich variety of paths available to today's spiritual seekers More than an academic reference it explores how religions can collaborate to help the world Essays exploring the realm of building an interfaith community add to the book's detailed portraits of the major religious traditions The Sourcebook also contains essays on spiritual practices as diverse as theosophy wicca and indigenous religions This revised edition of the Sourcebook offers an unparalleled look at where spirituality is headed in the coming millennium

Peace Watch, 1997 Routledge Handbook of Law and Religion Silvio Ferrari, 2015-03-05 The field of law and religion studies has undergone a profound transformation over the last thirty years looking beyond traditional relationships between State and religious communities to include rights of religious liberty and the role of religion in the public space This handbook features new specially commissioned papers by a range of eminent scholars that offer a comprehensive overview of the field of law and religion The book takes on an interdisciplinary approach drawing from anthropology sociology theology and political science in order to explore how laws and court decisions concerning religion contribute to the shape of the public space Key themes within the book include Religions symbols in the public space Religion and security Freedom of religion and cultural rights Defamation and hate speech Gender religion and law This advanced level reference work is essential reading for students researchers and scholars of law and religion as well as policy makers in the field

Sacred and Secular Pippa Norris, Ronald Inglehart, 2011-10-17 This book develops a theory of existential security It demonstrates that the publics of virtually all advanced industrial societies have been moving toward more secular orientations during the past half century but also that the world as a whole now has more people with traditional religious views than ever before This second edition expands the theory and provides new and updated evidence from a broad perspective and in a wide range of countries This confirms that religiosity persists most strongly among vulnerable populations especially in poorer nations and in failed states Conversely a systematic erosion of religious practices values and beliefs has occurred among the more prosperous strata in rich nations

Religious Human Rights in Global Perspective John Witte, Johan D. van der Vyver, 2023-07-24 In this Dickensian century of human rights the world has cultivated the best of religious rights protections but witnessed the worst of religious rights abuses In this volume Jimmy Carter John T Noonan Jr and a score of leading jurists assess critically and comparatively the religious rights laws and practices of the international community and of selected states in the Atlantic continents This volume and its companion Religious Human Rights in Global Perspective Religious Perspectives are products of an ongoing project on religion human rights and democracy undertaken by the Law and Religion Program at Emory University
