Frege's Theory of Judgement David V. J. Bell, 1979 Frege's Theory of Judgement David Bell, 1979 Examines Frege's theory of judgement according to which a judgement is paradigmatically the assertion that a particular object falls under a given concept Throughout the book the aim is to both state Frege's views clearly and concisely and to defend modify or reject these where appropriate Frege's Theory of Sense and Reference Wolfgang Carl, 1994-11-25 This book provides a

Frege on Thinking and Its Epistemic Significance Pieranna Garavaso, Nicla Vassallo, 2014-11-12 Pieranna Garavaso and Nicla Vassallo investigate Gottlob Frege's notion of thinking das Denken to provide a new analysis of a largely unexplored area of the philosopher's work Confronting Frege's deeply seated and widely emphasized anti psychologism Frege on Thinking and Its Epistemic Significance claims that the objective human science that Frege proposed can only be possible through a nuanced notion of thinking as neither merely psychological nor merely logical Focusing on what Frege says about thinking in many passages from his works Garavaso and Vassallo argue that Frege was engaged with issues that are still alive in contemporary debates such as the definition of knowledge and the necessary role of language in conceptual thinking and in the expression of thoughts Frege on Thinking and Its Epistemic Significance is essential not only for those interested in a new and original reading of Frege's philosophy but also for anyone engaged in epistemology logic psychology philosophy of language and the history of analytic philosophy The Husserlian Mind Hanne Jacobs, 2021-07-20 Edmund Husserl 1859-1938 is widely regarded as the principal founder of phenomenology one of the most important movements in twentieth century philosophy His work inspired subsequent figures such as Martin Heidegger his most renowned pupil as well as Jean Paul Sartre and Maurice Merleau-Ponty all of whom engaged with and developed his insights in significant ways His work on fundamental problems such as intentionality consciousness and subjectivity continues to animate philosophical research and argument The Husserlian Mind is an outstanding reference source to the full range of Husserl's philosophy Forty chapters by a team of international contributors are divided into seven clear parts covering the following areas major works phenomenological method phenomenology of consciousness epistemology ethics and social and political philosophy philosophy of science metaphysics Contained in these sections are chapters on many of the key aspects of Husserl's thought including intentionality transcendental philosophy reduction perception time self and subjectivity personhood logic psychology ontology and idealism Offering an unparalleled guide to the enormous range of his thought The Husserlian Mind

Theory and Pragmatics John Searle,F. Kiefer,M. Bierwisch,2012-12-06 In the study of language as in any other systematic study there is no neutral terminology Every technical term is an expression of the assumptions and theoretical presuppositions of its users and in this introduction we want to clarify some of the issues that have surrounded the assumptions behind the use of the two terms speech acts and pragmatics The notion of a speech act is fairly well understood The theory of speech acts starts with the assumption that the minimal unit of human communication is not a sentence or other expression but rather the performance of certain kinds of acts such as making statements asking questions giving orders describing explaining apologizing thanking congratulating etc Characteristically a speaker performs one or more of these acts by uttering a sentence or sentences but the act itself is not to be confused with a sentence or other expression uttered in its performance Such types of acts as those exemplified above are called following Austin illocutionary acts and they are standardly contrasted in the literature with certain other types of acts such as perlocutionary acts and propositional acts Perlocutionary acts have to do with those effects which our utterances have on hearers which go beyond the hearer's understanding of the utterance Such acts as convincing persuading annoying amusing and frightening are all cases of perlocutionary acts
