Gulf Commitment The Australian Defence Forces First War:

The Gulf Commitment David Murray Horner, 1992-01-01 Australia played a minor role in the Gulf War of 1990-91 but that involvement was an important episode in the history of the Australian Defence Force. Created in the 1970s the Australian Defence Force is intended to reflect new defence priorities. In the Gulf War it faced its first test. Joint Force Quarterly, 1993. Military History Supremo Joan Beaumont, Garth Pratten, 2025-06-12 Professor Emeritus David Horner AM FASSA is one of Australia's greatest military historians and its fifth official historian of war and military operations. Few who undertake research in the field can do so without consulting his prodigious authoritative and definitive publications. Serving for 25 years in the Australian Army before joining The Australian National University, Horner is the epitome of the soldier scholar and has played a key role in establishing military history as an academic discipline in Australia. This volume honours Horner's long career of service to history and the nation. Authors pay tribute to Horner's legacy by engaging with his scholarship, applying his conclusions to new case studies and contexts, reflecting and expanding on the subjects he addressed and the methodologies he employed, and pushing the boundaries of the discipline he was instrumental in founding. The breadth of Horner's research is demonstrated by the subjects and themes they address, including strategic planning and policy, command, multinational operations, intelligence, and defence policy. Military History Supremo both underscores Horner's contribution to Australia's military and intelligence history and highlights the vibrancy and relevance of the field today.

Australia's Strategic Involvement in the Middle East David Horner, 2004-09-13 It perhaps not realized that Australia has a very long history of strategic interest and engagement in the Middle East. It is a record of sustained involvement and considerable commitment. Australia comes as a friend and peacemaker and with no local ambitions. Australia has much to offer the Gulf states in the field of military cooperation. Coupled with Australia's growing trade with the region, it seems likely that Australia's strategic interest and engagement with the region will expand over the following years. Australian Defence Force Journal, 2000. The Encyclopedia of Middle East Wars Spencer C. Tucker, 2010-10-08 This in-depth study of U.S. involvement in the modern Middle East carefully weighs the interplay of domestic, cultural, religious, diplomatic, international, and military events in one of the world's most troubled regions. The monumental five-volume The Encyclopedia of Middle East Wars: The United States in the Persian Gulf, Afghanistan, and Iraq Conflicts is a must-have resource for anyone seeking to comprehend U.S. actions in this volatile region. Under the expert editorship of Spencer C. Tucker, the encyclopedia traces 20th and 21st century U.S. involvement in the Middle East and south central Asia, concentrating on the last three decades. Beginning with the 1980-1988 Iran-Iraq War, it covers the 1979-1989 Soviet occupation of Afghanistan, the 1991 Persian Gulf War, allied punitive actions against Iraq during the 1990s, the Afghanistan War, the Iraq War, and the Global War on Terror. Many smaller military actions against Iran, Iraq, Libya, Afghanistan, and other regimes that have been involved in international terrorism are also included. Diplomacy, religion, as it pertains to Middle East conflict, and social/cultural developments are other key subjects of analysis as is the interplay of politics with military policy in the United States and other nations involved in the region

Strategy and Command David Horner, 2021-10-15 In Strategy and Command David Horner provides an important insight into the strategic decisions and military commanders who shaped Australia's army history from the Boer War to the evolution of the command structure for the Australian Defence Force in the 2000s. He examines strategic decisions such as whether to go to war, the nature of the forces to be committed to the war, where the forces should be deployed and when to reduce the Australian commitment. The book also recounts decisions made by commanders at the highest level which are passed on to those at the operational level who are then required to produce their own plans to achieve the government's aims through military operations. Strategy and Command is a compilation of research and writing on military history by one of Australia's pre-eminent military historians. It is a crucial read for anyone interested in Australia's involvement in 20th century wars.

A National Asset Desmond Ball, Andrew Carr, 2016-08-26 This volume commemorates the 50th anniversary of the Strategic and Defence Studies Centre (SDSC). The Centre is Australia's largest body of scholars dedicated to the analysis of the use of armed force in its political context and one of the earliest generation of post World War II research institutions on strategic affairs. The book features chapters replete with stories of university politics, internal SDSC activities, cooperation among people with different social and political values and conflicts between others as well as the Centre's public achievements. It also details the evolution of strategic studies in Australia and the contribution of academia and defence intellectuals to national defence policy.

The Oxford Companion to Australian Military History Peter Dennis, 1995 This is a comprehensive guide to Australian military history broadly conceived within a critical and analytical framework. It contains 800 entries. The editors have sought a balance between various types of entries. Their interpretation of military history is inclusive, extending beyond standard categories such as battles, campaigns, biographies and weapons, and encompassing entries on the structures of various parts of the defence force, organization and their evolution, military language and customs, literature dealing with military themes and treaties, alliances and acts of parliament that have had a significant impact on the military. Biographical entries vary from long analytical essays on figures such as Thomas Blamey and C. E. W. Bean to much shorter entries on figures of less importance. Not every Chief of General Staff or RAN and RAAF equivalent has an entry as the editors say some were undistinguished. All office holders of significant rank within the three services are listed in an appendix. No attempt is made to duplicate the Australian Dictionary of Biography, nor except in two instances have the editors commissioned articles on specific individuals from the historians who wrote those particular entries for ADB. The editors' focus is different, combining essential biographical facts with more commentary and analysis. Battles are grouped into overall campaigns, thus providing a more integrated approach, enabling greater analysis of broader issues. The Companion offers essential technical details on every significant weapons system employed in the three services since their inception, together with comments that help place those systems in an operational and sometimes political context In addition there are several longer articles on key aspects of military history and culture The entry on conscription while not neglecting past controversies explains the mechanics of the various methods There is an absorbing entry on the ways in which animals have been used by the military Aboriginal resistance to white invasion is covered in a long entry as is Aboriginal service in the armed forces There are also several articles on military influences in Australian culture war films literature art popular culture Complete with 100 photographs and 32 maps the result is a comprehensive work of reference analysis and interest that will come to be regarded as the authoritative work in the field

Muslims In Australia Nahid Kabir, 2013-01-11 Muslims in Australia investigates the basis of Australian society's fear of Muslims by tracing their history since the Afghan settlement in 1860 The author investigates how events such as September 11 and Bali terrorist attacks reinforce suspicion and fear giving an insight into what it means to be a Muslim in contemporary Australia and how the actions of militant Islamic groups have impacted upon Muslims in general in Western society

Australia, Canada, and Iraq Ramesh Thakur, Jack Cunningham, 2015-10-03 A collection of essays on the war in Iraq including pieces by Jean Chrétien and John Howard the prime ministers during the war When it was declared in 2003 the US led invasion of Iraq was intensely controversial While a few of America's partners like Australia joined in the war many including Canada refused to take part However the war in Iraq was viewed at the time though it is clear that that war and the war in Afghanistan have had a profound and lasting impact on international relations Australia Canada and Iraq collect essays by fifteen esteemed academics officials and politicians including the prime ministers of Australia and Canada at the time of the war John Howard and Jean Chrétien respectively This volume takes advantage of the perspective offered by the decade since the war to provide a clearer understanding of the Australian and Canadian decisions regarding Iraq and indeed of the invasion itself

Palgrave Advances in Modern Military History Matthew Hughes, 2006-09-25 This book provides a concise and accessible introduction to modern military history The collection is a clear and up to date survey of the significant debates interpretations and historiographical shifts for a series of key themes in military history Each chapter is supported by notes and a brief bibliography outlining further reading

Struggling for Self Reliance Bob Breen, 2008-10-01 Military force projection is the self reliant capacity to strike from mainland ports bases and airfields to protect Australia's sovereignty as well as more distant national interests Force projection is not just a flex of military muscle in times of emergency or the act of dispatching forces It is a cycle of force preparation command deployment protection employment sustainment rotation redeployment and reconstitution If the Australian Defence Force consistently gets this cycle wrong then there is something wrong with Australia's defence This monograph is a force projection audit of four Australian regional force projections in the late 1980s and the 1990s valid measures of competence It concludes that Australia is running out of luck and time The Rudd Government has commissioned a new Defence White paper This monograph is Exhibit A for change

Strategic Cousins John C. Blaxland, 2006-07-04 Blaxland traces the shift from ties with the British Empire which led

Canadian and Australian forces to fight in the Boer War the two World Wars and Korea to their contribution alongside the United States in Afghanistan Using late twentieth century concepts of policy military strategy operations and tactics he reveals that Canada and Australia have had remarkably comparable experiences while supporting their key allies Although the two nations have at times chosen divergent courses their paths since the end of the Cold War have largely converged and closer collaboration could increase their influence and effectiveness and benefit their allies Australian National

March of Patriots Paul Kelly,2011-04-01 Unveiling the inside story of how Paul Keating and John Howard changed Australia this record presents these two personalities as conviction politicians tribal warriors and national interest patriots Divided by belief temperament and party they were united by generation city and the challenge to make Australia into a successful nation for the globalized age The making of policy and the uses of power are explored capturing the authentic nature of Australian politics as distinct from the polemics advanced by both sides Focusing on how these prime ministers altered the nation s direction this study also depicts how they redefined their parties and struggled over Australia s new economic social cultural and foreign policy agendas A sequel to the author s bestselling The End of Certainty this survey is based on more than 100 interviews with the two key players as well as other politicians advisers and public servants When Soldiers Say No Andrea Ellner,Paul Robinson,David Whetham,2016-02-11 Traditionally few people challenged the distinction between absolute and selective conscientious objection by those being asked to carry out military duties The former is an objection to fighting all wars a position generally respected and accommodated by democratic states while the latter is an objection to a specific war or conflict theoretically and practically a much harder idea to accept and embrace for military institutions However a decade of conflict not clearly aligned to vital national interests combined with recent acts of selective conscientious objection by members of the military have led some to reappraise the situation and argue that selective conscientious objection ought to be legally recognised and permitted Political social and philosophical factors lie behind this new interest which together mean that the time is ripe for a fresh and thorough evaluation of the topic This book brings together arguments for and against selective conscientious objection as well as case studies examining how different countries deal with those who claim the status of selective conscientious objectors As such it sheds new light on a topic of increasing importance to those concerned with military ethics and public policy within military institutions government and academia
