INT. AN OFFICE - DAY

We're inside the Board's office. JAMES, KAREN, LUKE, MARCO and TOM are seated around the conference table.

TOM (S.O.)

Being summoned to the conference room never ends well. What's all Jeff's got to say this time?

JAMES

Thanks for joining me here, team. As you know, there's been a huge update in ours' recently, and it's all down to you. Luke I always say...

KAREN/LUKE/MARCO/TOM

(enthusiastically)

Jefferson makes the dream come!

JAMES

Yes, quite. So I wanted to demonstrate my gratitude with a small gift...

KAREN

There's really no need for gifts, James. You're always for us... generous.

Karen, Luke and Marco become aware of a rustling in the corner. The noise is coming from a large cardboard box. They look at each other, confused. Tom looks stoic.

JAMES

Marco, I insist, You've all more than earned this small token of my appreciation.

Karen, Luke and Marco start to look concerned. Tom remains stoic.

KAREN

Are you sure, James? I did say that your last gift was... well, a little O.T.T.

JAMES

Oh, Karen. Live a little! Everyone loves a team life's drawing class.

LUKE

Oh, not when we're the subjects.

JAMES

Such a pride, Luke, I've always said that. Anyway, as I was trying to say, I've got you all a small gift. Marco, if you'd be so kind as to do the honors.

A long beat, then Marco walks towards the cardboard box with a look of fear and resignation on his face. He lifts open a flap and peers inside.

JAMES

Careful, Marco! They might be a little peckish.

KAREN

Peckish? What on earth is in there?

JAMES

Only alligators! I got you all a baby alligator!

Fade out.

How Scripts Are Made

Inga Karetnikova

How Scripts Are Made:

How Scripts are Made Inga Karetnikova, 1990-08-01 Inga Karetnikova's method is that of the art teacher she asks students to study great works in detail to analyze them and then to create their own. She stresses that her examination is interested only in how the scripts are written and what makes them work, not in a cultural or scholarly examination of them. Karetnikova analyzes eight screenplays: The Godfather, Rashomon, La Strada, Bicycle Thief, Nosferatu, The Servant, Viridiana, Notorious, and a novel written in screenplay form, Kiss of the Spider Woman. Each serves as an example of a particular aspect of screenplay writing: composing scripts, developing characters, constructing suspense, adapting literature to cinematic space and time, and weaving details and motifs within a script. Karetnikova urges film students to work on their own screenplays while studying her book, reading the suggested scripts and viewing the films based on them to get the most from her method. She provides a series of exercises for each chapter to help students master the skills of composing and writing film treatments, developing screen stories and their characters, organizing scenes, and writing dialogue. Each of the exercises has worked successfully in her own screenplay writing classes.

How to Make Movies Kevin J. Lindenmuth, 2013-03-08 The success of low budget independent films like The Blair Witch Project and Paranormal Activity have clearly demonstrated that successful movies can be made with very small budgets. Still, working on a tight budget requires both skill and ingenuity and is an inevitable and continuous learning experience for the filmmaker. Join two dozen truly independent filmmakers, those used to working and delivering within extreme limitations as they bluntly chronicle their experiences creating features from the trenches. They cover the major stages of the filmmaking process: from financing, technical decisions, and handling actors and crew to music production and distribution. With loads of practical advice, actual case studies, and many behind-the-scenes photographs, this collection of war stories from the micro budget front lines will benefit aspiring and experienced independent filmmakers alike.
