Problem of Meaning Behavioural and Cognitive Perspectives C. Mandell, A.

McCabe, 1997-09-26 Problem of Meaning Behavioural and Cognitive Perspectives Language, Meaning, and Culture

Charles Egerton Osgood, Oliver C. S. Tzeng, 1990-01-19 One of the most frequently cited scholars in the social and behavioral sciences Charles E Osgood has assembled his most important writings in this volume for the Centennial Psychology series

Osgood's prolific contributions cover four decades of research and center on the human cognitive processes and their functional characteristics at three levels of human ecology in individual humans across human cultures and for survival of the human species. Oliver Tzeng's introduction presenting Osgood's life as well as the evolution of his three major themes is followed by eleven selections. A comprehensive bibliography of Osgood's writings completes this volume. Social and Behavioral Psychologists will find Language Meaning and Culture an extremely rich encounter. The three major themes of Osgood's entire professional life were set in motion during his undergraduate years. This volume divides Osgood's most important papers among these themes: Psycholinguistic Research and Theory; Cross Cultural Universals of Affective Meaning; Psycho Social Dynamics and the Prospects for Mankind. Culture, Self, and, Motivation Avi Kaplan, Stuart A. Karabenick, Elisabeth De Groot, 2009-07-01. The authors of the chapters in this volume past and present collaborators of Marty Maehr and a few of his former graduate students along the years are motivational researchers who conduct research using diverse methods and perspectives and in different parts of the world. All however see their intellectual roots in Marty's theoretical and empirical work. The chapters in this book are divided into two sections: Motivation and Self and Culture and Motivation. Clearly the distinctions between these two sections are very blurry as they are in Marty's work. And yet when the authors were asked to contribute their chapters the research questions they addressed seemed to have formed two foci with personal motivation and socio cultural processes alternating as the core versus the background in the two sections.

Research on Emotion and Learning: Contributions from Latin America Camilo Hurtado-Parrado, Carlos Gantiva, Leonardo A. Ortega, Alexander Gómez-A, Lucas Cuenya, Javier Leonardo Rico, 2020-05-11. Latin America has increased its share of world scientific publications by nearly twofold during the last two decades approximately from 2 to 4%. Despite this positive trend the scholarly impact of scientific research produced in the region measured in terms of citation rate remains low. Two interrelated factors that contribute to this situation is that most research groups tend to work in isolation or in local sporadic collaboration and results are often published in journals that are not indexed in major citation databases e.g. SCOPUS or Web of Science. Ultimately part of Latin American high quality research seems to remain hidden from the rest of the world. Over the last decades an important number of Latin American scientists have developed fruitful research agendas on questions on learning and emotion focusing on basic and or translational research with humans and other animal models and implementing diverse methodologies. Notwithstanding the important contributions of these research programs Latin American research on emotion and learning has followed the overall trend of other research fields throughout the region namely remaining partially hidden from the large scientific community of the world. This Research Topic aimed to engage researchers from Latin America to share their empirical and conceptual work on learning and emotion. Ultimately this effort was expected to strengthen and integrate our regional community of experts enhance global networking and establish new challenges and developments for future investigation.
