Language of Faith ,1988 Language of Faith Nahum Norbert Glatzer,1967 Franz Rosenzweig and Jehuda Halevi Barbara Ellen Galli,1995-05-01 Galli s primary aim is to explore Rosenzweig s statement that his notes to Halevi s poems exemplify a practical application of the philosophic system he set out in The Star of Redemption Through an extended multifaceted investigation of Rosenzweig s thought Galli uncovers his philosophy of translation out of which she determines and unravels his philosophic conclusion and his belief that there is only one language In the final chapters she concentrates on the notes to the poems and in doing so attempts to philosophize according to Rosenzweig s own mandate full speech is word and response The Message and the Book John Bowker,Atlantic Books, an imprint of Grove Atlantic Ltd.,2012-03-27 Grand in its sweep this survey of the sacred writings of the major religions of the world offers a thoughtful introduction to the ideas and beliefs upon which great faiths are built Under the expert guidance of John Bowker a religious scholar and author of international stature readers explore the key texts of Jewish Christian Muslim Hindu Jain Sikh Buddhist Parsi Confucian Daoist and Shinto traditions The author discusses some 400 books among them such well known sacred texts as the Bible and the Quran but also spiritual writings by theologians philosophers poets and others Bowker provides clear and illuminating commentary on each text describing the content and core tenets of the work and quoting pertinent passages He also sets the writings in religious and historical contexts showing how they have influenced and in many cases continue to influence artistic musical literary and political traditions The Message and the Book is essential reading for anyone who wishes to understand the meaning and the deep significance of primary religious texts of civilizations around the globe

Department of Pedagogic Services,1983 Unified Jewish Religious Education Curriculum: Adolescent & adult groups ,1983 Unified Jewish religious education curriculum ,1983 Thought for the Week: Random Thoughts on Pastoral Care Rabbi Harry D. Rothstein DMin BCC,2024-04-20 Random thoughts on pastoral care Every person derives the meaning of their lives from relationships with specific people faith work leisure family an unfinished task or a discipline such as science politics drama or the visual arts to name only a few These are spiritual resources that give meaning to the patient's life. Meaning usually refers to how the patient made a large or small difference in the life of others or in the world at large. When a person falls ill or is dying, these meaning-making relationships or activities are lost or have become distant or strained, creating a crisis in the meaning of the life of the patient. It is the task of a chaplain or a pastoral care giver to encourage the ill or dying patient to discover or rediscover those sources of meaning that have been lost or from which the patient feels distant. These sources may be family relationships, life events, unfinished tasks, spiritual practices, real or unfinished work-related tasks or real objects in the patient's life from which the patient derives meaning. When a pastoral care giver or chaplain enters a patient's room after following infection control protocols, the chaplain carefully listens to what the patient says about why the patient is in the hospital, what resources of meaning are available or not available, and how the patient can reestablish those relationships while in hospital. The chaplain may derive spiritual interventions such as prayer, meditation, ritual objects, encouraging visits by important people in the patient's life, engaging in life review with the patient, or simply encouraging hospital staff to be in contact with the patient who may feel left alone. This is the task of pastoral or spiritual care givers.

Were Our Mouths Filled With Song Eric L. Friedland, 1997-11-01. Since the period in which the Jewish liturgy was standardized, there has hardly been a time when it was not somehow in a state of flux. Eric L. Friedland explores the countless ways that the Siddur Mahzor and Haggadah have been adjusted, amplified, or transformed so as to faithfully mirror modern Jews' understanding of themselves, their place in society, and their sancta. In the tradition of liturgologists such as Elbogen, Idelsohn, and Petuchowski, Friedland focuses on latter-day adaptations of the prayerbook, giving proper recognition to the recent concern for intellectual integrity, cultural congruity, group and individual self-redefinition, and honest speech in Jewish prayer. The prayerbooks themselves are witnesses to innovation in the Jewish liturgy. From David Einhorn's Olath Tamid (Baltimore, 1855) to Isaac Mayer Wise's Minhag Amerika (Cincinnati, 1857) and Marcus Jastrow's 1873 revision of Benjamin Szold's Abodath Israel (Baltimore, 1864), Friedland analyzes evidence of creativity in British and American Reform Jewish liturgy. Various rites for the Days of Awe provide a particularly accurate glimpse of how Jewish communities here and abroad experience the sacred, consider eternal mysteries, and communicate with God. Friedland also sets the Reform Gates of Prayer in historical and denominational perspective by considering it alongside the Reconstructionist Kol Haneshamah and the Israeli Progressive HaAvodah shebaLev. The state and direction of liturgical change emerges from a survey of commonalities and divergences in nineteenth and twentieth-century prayerbooks in terms of Sephardic and mystical influences, attitudes toward the messianic hope, and collective sentiments of forgiveness or vengeance toward Israel's enemies. Liturgical approaches to the commemoration of the Ninth of Av suggest that even an ancient fast day can recover relevance, credibility, and authenticity for Liberal Jews in the postmodern era.
