Environmental Policy and Practice in Eastern and Western Europe István Fodor, Gordon P. Walker, 1994-01-01

Environmental Problems in East-Central Europe Frank Carter, David Turnock, 2002-09-26 In this new edition the progress made in the last decade to solve the environmental problems described in the first edition is assessed The attempts to bring environmental legislation into line with West European norms is also described Environmental Problems of East Central Europe looks at air and water pollution modern farming water supplies waste management and landscape protection These topics are placed within economic social and political profiles as spending on a clean environment must be reconciled with welfare spending and the safeguarding of jobs European Union assistance civil society and the work of environmental NGOs are also discussed All of these matters are considered within the context of the wider geographical area and then by each individual country including the previously communist states lying to the west of the Soviet Union now with the former federal states of Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia broken up into seven different entities and a review of the former Soviet Union with particular reference to the Baltic States Environmental Problems in East Central Europe provides a wealth of up to date reference material with a vast amount of supporting literature on environmental conditions and the functioning of civil society and a map of each country The environment is being taken seriously by them all such is the influence of the Rio sustainability agenda in general and the EU environmental acquis in particular The book reveals that Eastern Europe is not a blighted area but in some respects has a higher biodiversity than Western Europe Although there is enormous waste and inefficiency in energy use people actually consume relatively little and the East therefore has some lessons for the West in terms of managing on the bases of fair share of the earth's resources

Geographies of Agriculture Guy Robinson, 2014-01-14 Agricultural Geography has changed dramatically in recent decades reflecting the transformation of the farming industry itself Geographies of Agriculture embraces these changes applying ideas and methods from contemporary social science as it moves beyond farm based production to address current issues affecting the production and consumption of food and fibre throughout the world. The book places special emphasis on topics that reflect globalisation processes integration of agriculture into the wider agri food system concern with attaining sustainable production systems and the importance of both government and supra government policies. Examples are drawn from North America Western Europe and the developing world. Geographies of Agriculture will appeal especially to Geography students but should also be of interest to a broader range of students in Sociology Economics and Development Studies and anyone interested in agriculture food production and consumption and rural development.

Forum for Applied Research and Public Policy, 1991

The Environmental Policy Paradox Zachary A. Smith, Peter Jacques, 2022-11-29. Now in its eighth edition, The Environmental Policy Paradox continues the book's tradition of offering an accessible introduction to the social economic legal and political matters pertaining to environmental policy while also developing the student's own unique views. The text explains why some environmental ideas shape policy while others do not and illustrates that even when the best short and long term solutions to environmental problems are identified, the task of implementing these solutions is often left undone or is completed too late. New to the eighth edition: New topics including environmental social movements and the anti environmental countermovements; environmental justice; corporate influence in regulatory affairs. Analyzes the growing policy divide between the two parties and the efforts of both Republicans and Democratic presidents to undo the policies of their predecessor. Updated discussions of environmental justice issues. Includes a range of visual aids in figures and tables to demonstrate trends in the topics covered. A new co author Peter Jacques, recognized for his teaching and scholarship in global environmental politics and sustainability. A must buy for courses in Environmental Policy, Environmental Studies and Public Policy and as a supplement for courses in American Government and Public Administration.

Responding to Environmental Conflicts: Implications for Theory and Practice Eileen Petzold-Bradley, Alexander Carius, Árpád Vincze, 2012-12-06. A comprehensive tour d horizon of the debate on the environment and security focusing on the various policy options for building peace and preventing environmental conflict. Experts from the areas survey the key environmental challenges in Eastern and Central European states and those of the former Soviet Union, extending the debate to such regions as the Balkans, the Black Sea and Central Europe. This is the first time such extensive case study research has been reported for these regions. Both practical and theoretical approaches to the debate are presented within a multi disciplinary framework, the contributors ranging from academic experts involved with peace and conflict research to actual policy makers active in the fields of environmental and security policy. Readership: Experts already working in the relevant disciplines, both academic and governmental, as well as those seeking an introduction to the various policy fields. A graduate level study text, excellent survey for policy makers and an academic contribution to ongoing studies.

Environment, Energy and Natural Resource Management in the Baltic Region Jes Fenger, Kirsten Halsnæs, Hans Larsen, Henning Schroll, Victor Vidal, 1991

Governance for Sustainable Development William M. Lafferty, 2006-01-01

This book is an original study of the challenge of implementing sustainable development in Western democracies. It highlights the obstacles which sustainable development presents for strategic governance and critically examines how these problems can best be overcome in a variety of different political contexts. Global Environmental Assessments Ronald Bruce Mitchell, 2006. A comparative analysis of global environmental assessments shows the importance of policy salience, scientific credibility and social and political legitimacy in determining the influence of scientific assessments on global environmental policy.

Climate Policy in Denmark, Germany, Estonia and Poland Franziska Ehnert, 2019. By opening a new dialogue between scholars of public policy and those of public administration, Climate Policy in Denmark, Germany, Estonia and Poland offers a timely contribution to climate policy analysis. This innovative book explores how and why policies are changed or continued by employing in-depth studies from a diverse range of EU countries. Analytical and accessible, this explorative book will be of value to scholars and students of climate policy, public policy and public administration as well as practitioners and policy makers.

Irresolute Clay Richard Macrory, Hon KC, 2020-04-30. At a time of profound change and rethinking, this book provides insights into how environmental law in the UK has developed into its current form and considers challenges it will face in the future. Irresolute Clay is not a legal history or textbook nor a conventional set of legal memoirs. Instead, it offers a personal account of the inside stories as experienced by one of the key architects of contemporary environmental law. Taking a thematic approach, it charts fundamental tenets of the subject such as environmental sanctions, the European dimension, developing the academic discipline of environmental law and environmental courts and tribunals from the beginnings of the modern environmental law era in the 1970s to the present day.
