tries to convince him they were inspired by Aurora the goddess of dawn rather than his wife and assures him he has no interest in the woman Teddy married which the cuckolded man finds so insulting he demands Henry admit how desirable Aurora is Henry finally confesses his love for Aurora which pleases Teddy so much he proposes he have the poems published on the finest paper sumptuous binding everything first class as a tribute to his wife What shall we call the volume Teddy asks To Aurora or something like that eh to which Henry replies I should call it How He Lied to Her Husband Like many other works of mine this playlet is a piece d occasion In 1905 it happened that Mr Arnold Daly who was then playing the part of Napoleon in The Man of Destiny in New York found that whilst the play was too long to take a secondary place in the evening s performance it was too short to suffice by itself I therefore took advantage of four days continuous rain during a holiday in the north of Scotland to write How He Lied To Her Husband for Mr Daly In his hands it served its turn very effectively I print it here as a sample of what can be done with even the most hackneyed stage framework by filling it in with an observed touch of actual humanity instead of with doctrinaire romanticism Nothing in the theatre is staler than the situation of husband wife and lover or the fun of knockabout farce I have taken both and got an original play out of them as anybody else can if only he will look about him for his material instead of plagiarizing Othello and the thousand plays that have proceeded on Othello s romantic assumptions and false point of honor
