How It Works Discovering Prehistory:

Discovery of Prehistory Ancient India Dr. Jagat K. Motwani, 2018-02-22 Nationalist and Revolutionary While a high school student I actively participated in the Mahatma Gandhis 1942 movement Quit India I felt disappointed because only a few prominent leaders like Gandhi and Nehru were imprisoned On Sept 9 1945 under the patronage of the Dadu District British Collector the town dignitaries including my grand father and Mr Tuljaram Nagrani the principal of the town High school along with the matriculate students had assembled at the Hindu temple to celebrate the victory of the Allies at the WW II Sweets were distributed I threw the sweets on the floor The reason I did this was not because I sided with the Axis powers But because Indian soldiers were fighting for Britain as India was not a free country Next morning the Principal got me in his office and whipped me several times on my palms and ordered me to leave the school and come back with my parent The principal told my father that Jagat to pay a fine of Rs 5 and threatened that in case of denial I will be rusticketed expelled from school as a bad character student and no school would admit me I am proud of my father that he said that only Jagat to decide I said that paying fine means admission of the guilt In my opinion it was not a guilt I with recommendation of my class teacher Mr Chandnani got admission in the P H High School Dadu only about 50 miles away from my home town In 1947 on the eve of partition there was an accidently bomb explosion in Karachi suspected of an RSS activity Several RSS leaders were arrested A Khalsa police officer secretly alerted my grand father to hide me to avoid arrest I along with a few RSS pracharaks secretly reached Karachi to take a ship for Okha Gujarat then train to Baroda In 1948 Mahatma Gandhi was assassinated by Nathuram Godse Because Godse was an RSS member the whole RSS all over India was banned I participated in the collective protest against the injustice of punishing the whole RSS organization because of the crime by its only one RSS member Whole family can not be punished because of the crime of its one member I was imprisoned in Baroda jail for four months Thousands of RSS members all over India were imprisoned Dr Jagat K Motwani Uncovering the Past William H. Stiebing, 1994 This study focuses on the development of archaeology as a discipline tracing the milestones in the evolution of systematic excavation It covers the entire history of archaeology from the heroic age 1450 1925 to the advanced stages of archaeology beg The Prehistory of the Concept of Attention Ciarán Mc Mahon, This thesis describes the origins and development of the concept of attention An introductory chapter reviews the relevant extant literature including an overview of modern theoretical framework provided Richards 1989 1992 and Danziger 1997 and the research most comparable to the current project by Smith 1992 Kaufmann 2000 and Goldstein 2000 from which a set of foundational protocols is derived It is argued that attention as a reified concept of reflexive discourse does not emerge in Western literature until the 17th century and only after three distinct discursive traditions have waned in influence Moreover it is argued that attention in any discursive form is fundamentally an artefact of the physiomorphic assimilation of the practice of reading The second chapter deals with the earliest characterisations of attention from an intersubjective perspective as a practice conducive to the living of a philosophically sound life From these beginnings two separate traditions emerge concurrently On one hand from a projective perspective attention is characterised as an aspect of another person s subjectivity to be influenced by certain means This perspective heavily associated with oratory is dealt with in chapters four and six On the other hand from a subjective perspective attention is characterised as universal to all people and part of one s subjective relationship with God and the world in general This perspective heavily associated with religion is dealt with in chapters three five and seven Both of these perspectives are seen to decline in influence in the early sixteenth century with the rise of humanistic and natural philosophical influences These developments the establishment of a conceptual approach to reflexive discourse and attention are treated in chapters eight and nine where a concept qua object of attention is seen to emerge The final chapter summarises and concludes with a rebuttal of possible objections to this thesis some general and specific derivations and implications of the current research for future scholarship Throughout the thesis an attempt is made to appreciate each occurrence of the object term in its discursive context and the author s social political philosophical religious and economic circumstances Fundamental to the development of the concept of attention is however the author s specific literary practices

The book shows how in discovery work where scientists do not initially know what to make of graphs there is a great deal of uncertainty and scientists struggle in trying to make sense of what to make of graphs Contrary to the belief that scientists have no problem interpreting graphs the chapters in this book make clear that uncertainty about their research object is tied to uncertainty of the graphs It may take scientists several years of struggle in their workplace before they find out just what their graphs are evidence of Graphs turn out to stand to the entire research in a part whole relation where scientists not only need to be highly familiar with the context from which their data are extracted but also with the entire process by means of which the natural world comes to be transformed and represented in the graph This has considerable implications for science technology engineering and mathematics education at the secondary and tertiary level as well as in vocational training This book discusses and elaborates these implications Exploring Megalithic Europe Julian Heath, 2019-11-07 From the Mediterranean to the colder climes of Scandinavia this book takes readers on a journey through Europe examining its diverse range of megalithic monuments also looking at what insights these remarkable structures may provide into the ancient
